SENATE VOTES MITCHELL FULL DRY AUTHORITY

Keeps U. S. Poison in Alcohol.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Washington, D. C., May 13.—[Special.]—The first of President Hoover's law enforcement measures moved forward today when the senate without a record vote passed the house bill transferring the prohibition bureau from the treasury to the department of justice. The bill went back to the house for concurring on a few minor changes and is due to reach the President for signature within a few days.

Before passing the bill the senate, by a vote of 19 to 53, rejected an amendment by Senator M. E. Tydings [Dem., Md.] to permit the use of only certain nonpoisonous denaturants in industrial alcohol. Senator Tydings asserted that senators voting against his amendment were going on record as favoring the death penalty for violation of the prohibition law. Senator Morris Shephard [Dem., Tex.], one of the authors of the eighteenth amendment, replied that the small amounts used are not sufficient to cause fatalities.

Other Amendments Beaten.

Other amendments desired by industrial alcohol interests, which were offered by Senator Tydings, also were rejected. One amendment, giving the secretary of the treasury exclusive jurisdiction over industrial alcohol regulations instead of joint control by the secretary of the treasury and attorney general, as provided in the bill, was beaten, 11 to 51. Another amendment to eliminate joint control by the two departments over the granting of permits was voted down without a roll call.

Senator Tydings was the only one who undertook to offer any amendments. A few others, including Senators James Couzens [Rep., Mich.], Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.], and David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.] offered criticisms of the dual control of industrial alcohol by the two departments.

What Tydings Wanted.

The Tydings poison alcohol amendment provided that the terms "denaturing materials" as used in the law should mean only pyridine, malachite green or diethylpthalate and that the words "ethyl alcohol or other" shall be stricken from the present language. Senator Tydings said that the denaturants specified in his amendment would be nauseous, but, beyond causing a temporary illness, would not be injurious to persons drinking the alcohol.

"The question is, Does the senate wish the death penalty to be imposed on persons who drink denatured alcohol?" said Senator Tydings. "This is not a question of prohibition, but of giving the death penalty to a man who commits no greater crime than violation of the prohibition law."

Senator Sheppard interrupted to assert that "poisonous matter put in industrial alcohol is not used in sufficient proportions to kill."

"It has never killed and it never will," he added.

Tydings Sticks to His Guns.

Senator Tydings reiterated that "the government of the United States, driven by fanatics who have no regard for human life, gives the death penalty for doing nothing worse than drinking liquor."

"People who are in favor of national prohibition are drunk with power," continued Senator Tydings. "That is going to be your undoing. So great has been your desire to put over this proposition that you have put aside every humanitarian consideration."

Senator Couzens, in criticizing dual control of industrial alcohol, said that there will be "an orgy of buck passing if this bill becomes law." He said that thousands of legitimate permit holders "will be drawn through bureaucratic red tape." Senator Felix Hebert [Rep., R. I.], in charge of the bill, defended giving the attorney general supervision over the treasury department in the latter's administration of the industrial alcohol provisions of the prohibition law. He said that the purpose was to center enforcement responsibility in the department of justice.

Glass Attacks Commission.

Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.], who was secretary of the treasury at the time of the passage of the Volstead act, said that the transfer of the prohibition bureau should have been made years ago. He criticized the Wickersham commission and said that the present transfer is not the

FIGHT TO SAVE BIG OIL TANKS FROM FLAMES

Goose Island Grain Building Burns.

Fire caused by spontaneous combustion of grain dust last night destroyed property valued at $750,000 on Goose island, including a grain elevator and 200,000 bushels of rye. Sixty-five engines and trucks and the two fire boats, the Graeme Stewart and the Illinois, were called out.

For more than five hours firemen battled a series of smaller fires while trying to get the main blaze under control. They were in jeopardy from falling walls and flying timbers. Twenty thousand spectators, held back by police reserves, watched the fire fighters.

Explosion in Elevator.

The fire started with an explosion at 5:30 o'clock in a seven story structure known as the Minnesota elevator and owned by the Rosenbaum Grain corporation. It is situated at 1325 Hooker street, just south of North avenue, alongside the river. Its interior is of plank construction, with walls of brick veneer.

The elevator was one of a group built in 1898 by Philip D. Armour Sr. when Joseph Leiter was engineering his famous wheat deal which collapsed after he had cornered 40,000,000 bushels in an operation that cost the family $10,000,000. Armour had sold Leiter 9,000,000 bushels. As the date approached for delivery Armour found he had no place to store the incoming grain. He hired carpenters and built three elevators on Goose island in record time—30 days—and for years afterward these were known as the "Armour Thirty Day" elevators.

Engineer Hears Blast.

Michael Morase, an engineer, was the first to hear the explosion yesterday afternoon. Within ten minutes smoke was pouring from the frame roof, and within twenty minutes the fire fighting apparatus had arrived. A 5-11 alarm and four special alarms were sounded.

A west wind carried huge billows of smoke and embers over as far east as the Gold Coast and Lake Shore drive. For blocks around Goose island the sky was hidden from view. Spurting pillars of flame lit up the scene at intervals. Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan said it was the most spectacular fire he had fought in three years. His men were hampered by the intense heat.

Fire Perils Big Oil Tanks.

The flying embers quickly endangered the plant of the Archer-Daniels Midland Oil company at 927 Blackhawk street. An 80,000 gallon raw linseed oil tank on the roof of the building was within 100 yards of the fire. Streams of water were played on it. This seeped into underground tanks, and E. R. Drake, the manager, estimated that $400,000 worth of linseed oil was rendered worthless.

The roof of the Adam Schillo Lumber company at 1560 Kingsbury street caught fire and Adam Zuber, the manager, estimated the damage at $20,000. At the North Branch shipyards, 1560 Kingsbury street, where scows, machinery and small boats were destroyed, Torris Berget, one of the owners, put his loss at $15,000.

Grain Concern's Loss $300,000.

Louis T. Sayre, manager of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation, said the 200,000 bushels of rye was worth $100,000 and the elevator $200,000, making the loss to the grain concern $500,000. The Rosenbaum corporation acquired the elevator from Armour & Co. several years ago. Adjoining the wrecked structure was the St. Paul elevator, in which is stored 1,000,000 bushels of grain and which was saved.

The fire was under control at 11 o'clock last night, but water was still being poured into the ruins and Marshall Corrigan ordered apparatus stationed at the scene until morning.

NEW BRIDEWELL PAY IN EFFECT; FREE 84 TODAY

Arrangements were made yesterday by Supt. Curran of the Bridewell to release eighty-four prisoners this morning. The terms of most of these have been reduced by the new city ordinance which permits them to work out fines at the rate of $2 instead of 50 cents a day. The ordinance was signed by Mayor Thompson yesterday and went into effect immediately. Under the old rate many of the prisoners would still have from one to three days more to serve.

The average number of prisoners released in one day under the old ordinance was said to be approximately 35. For the next 90 days, according to Curran, the prisoners will be freed at the rate of approximately 50 a day. After that, he said, the judges will increase the fines. Lawyer members of the council stated that, as the maximum of fines is set by law, the judges will not be able to keep prisoners in the Bridewell as long as formerly.

Lupe in Grand Crossing court.

Bishop Cannon Wins O. K. on Political Acts

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Dallas, Tex., May 14.—[Special.]—Bishop James Cannon Jr. late tonight was cleared of all charges bearing on his political activities in recent elections. A statement to this effect was issued by the episcopacy committee of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The only charges of this nature filed with the committee against Bishop Cannon came from the Rev. Rembert Smith of Washington, Ga. The Smith charges included four other alleged politically minded bishops. The committee's statement clears the decks for committee action on the bucket shop transactions of the bishop.

Bishop Cannon spent three hours today speaking in his own defense on the alleged stock market gambling before the committee. Tonight the bishop spent two hours more before the committee. The brief for the bucket shop charges were filed last night by Judge G. T. Fitzhugh of Memphis.

Written by Anti-Smith Aid.

The statement, which definitely rejects the charges of political activity of Bishop Cannon, was written by Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of Southern Methodist university, north Texas leader of the anti-Smith Democratic forces in 1928.

The reason given for publication of the statement was "the widespread publicity that has been given to the charges against five of our bishops for their recent interests in the political campaign." It then declares that after long and patient consideration "we do not find that the charges are such as to call for action by this committee."

Chairman Frank P. Culver of the committee stated that it will not meet again until Friday. He further intimated that great effort is being made to consider the bucket shop charges behind closed doors.

Fear Bucket Shop Fight.

"It may be that we will not be able to settle the bucket shop matter in the committee," said one member after the meeting. This afternoon one leading member praised Bishop Cannon's ability "to take care of himself." Late tonight the same committeeman simply shook his head.

It is stated that if the committee, acting in a capacity of a civil grand jury, calls for an ecclesiastical trial, Bishop Cannon will be suspended from jurisdiction until the verdict is found by the court. Some doubt was expressed that the court could be held before the close of the general conference.

In the event a trial court is ordered by the episcopacy committee, the court will be composed of 25 traveling elders of the church. The members of the court would be appointed by the bishop presiding over the conference the day the trial is called. Should there be objections to the presiding bishop appointing the members of the court, a two-thirds majority of the conference could command that some other means of appointment be followed.

Women will be admitted to ordination on the same basis as men in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, if the conference ratifies the report of the committee on itinerary that will be presented tomorrow morning. The committee passed the report favoring women ministers by a two-thirds majority this afternoon.

Mr. Glover subsided sadly and helplessly and beneath his breath he muttered words.

New Wesley Hospital Will Cost 5 Million

Plans for a $5,000,000 hospital at Chicago avenue and Fairbanks court were announced last night by the board of trustees of Wesley Memorial hospital, through its president, George W. Dixon. The structure will be 30 stories in height and with the adjacent Northwestern university medical school will form on the McKinlock campus a complete medical center. It will have 600 beds.

Complete plans for the building and its extended services will be announced in the fall preparatory to a campaign to raise the $5,000,000 building fund, Mr. Dixon said. The site, costing $2,000,000, already has been obtained.

The hospital plans are the culmination of more than eight years of negotiation for the complete re-affiliation of Wesley hospital and Northwestern university, Mr. Dixon said.

Will Have Convalescent Apartments.

Hospital rates to patients will range from nothing, for charity cases, to $100 a day for those who desire a complete apartment, including three rooms, a kitchenette and bath, during convalescence, a heretofore unknown feature in hospital equipment.

With its diverse clinics, the new institution and the existing facilities which the university has in Passavant hospital, will form a unit capable of caring for almost 1,000 patients at once.

The new building will soar several stories above its fellows in the group with which otherwise it will be designed to harmonize. The main building will be 18 stories high and its buttressed tower will extend upwards an additional 12 stories. The main entrance will face Chicago avenue, where the site has a 250 foot frontage; it will have a 266 foot frontage on the east, on Fairbanks court, and a 250 foot frontage to the south on Superior street. Adjacent to it, directly east of Fairbanks court, will be the university medical school. To the south of the main building will be a nurses' residence and school for nursing education which will accommodate 325 student nurses, supervisors and instructors.

Reasonable Fees Planned.

"With all this architectural beauty and completeness of equipment for both treatment and research and several departments which should be the most complete in the world," Mr. Dixon said, "the new hospital will nevertheless be largely devoted to patients from salaried and wage earning families. More than two-thirds of the patients will be cared for at less than average cost, and many will be cared for free of any charge.

"I believe that the new Wesley Memorial hospital will be the finest in the world. And for this reason I am eager to see it opened early in the fall of 1932, in time for the World Fair. Nothing, to my mind, would be more indicative of the modernity of Chicago."

Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of Northwestern university medical school, called the proposed building "one of the greatest moves in the hospital history of the country."

Will Sell Present Buildings.

The present Wesley Memorial hospital buildings at Dearborn and 25th streets, the most recent of which is 20 years old, long have been overtaxed, and will be offered for sale on the occupancy of the new building, the proceeds to go toward a fund for increased charity.

Other officers of the board of trustees: Nathaniel M. Jones, vice president; Edwin L. Wagner, secretary; M. Haddon MacLean, treasurer; W. W. Dixon, counsel; E. S. Gilmore, superintendent, and the Rev. J. L. Anderson, corresponding secretary and chaplain.

COAST GUARDS CAPTURE SHIP IN LAKE CHASE

Green Bay, Wis., May 14.—[Special.]—The rum running ship Ansterberg No. 18, for which search had been made along a 200 mile front from Sturgeon Bay to South Chicago for more than twenty-four hours, was captured this afternoon by coast guardsmen of the Plum Island station at the tip of the Door county peninsula.

Its crew was attempting to sneak it past in the straits, to enter Green Bay and presumably unload its cargo on the western shore, and then reload it on trucks and run it into Chicago. It consisted of 5,000 cases of choice Canadian liquor, which at current bootleg prices of $120 a case, would bring the total value to $600,000.

Crew of Five Seized.

Notified the day before to keep a vigilant lookout, Capt. M. A. Jacobson, in command of the Plumb Island station, sighted the ship at 4:30 o'clock through his binoculars. It had been painted black. It was traveling at top speed. Capt. Jacobson immediately had the coast guard boat manned and soon overhauled it.

The crew of five men, armed with rifles, offered no resistance when he and his men boarded it. The ship was taken to Washington Island, near Plum Island, where it is being held, pending orders from Washington, D. C.

Full details of the capture were lacking, but coast guard officers said they regarded it as one of the most important made on the great lakes since prohibition became effective. According to Chicago reports the owners of the ship are either associated or cooperating with the Capone liquor syndicate.

Cleared from Ontario.

The Ansterberg cleared from the port of Goderich, Ont., last Friday. Information of its departure reached coast guard commanders through special customs service agents.

They said the Ansterberg had been repainted and renamed the A-18, that after being loaded at Goderich it had sailed through the locks at Sault Ste. Marie and could be expected to arrive off the Wisconsin coast by Wednesday or Thursday. Inquiry was at once started among Canadian officials. Andrew Porter, senior officer for the dominion government at Goderich, said he recalled the ship, but couldn't remember its destination.

Unremitting watch was then maintained by all coast guard stations with their boats doing extra patrol duty. As the hours passed with no results, there was much speculation as to what had happened to the ship. Some officials became frankly skeptical.

Captured Once Before.

The Ansterberg had been caught in the rum traffic once before and confiscated by American customs agents and libeled in a Canadian port. Last summer, it was said, the ship was secretly put under steam and slipped away from the government anchorage.

From that date until Tuesday, so far as federal authorities were concerned, the ship's whereabouts remained an unsolved mystery.

CHICAGO GETS REPORT.

First reports of the Aramingo's voyage were received in Chicago on Tuesday night when Capt. John Anderson of the central coast guard station was informed that the vessel was headed for this city with a cargo of Canadian liquors for Chicago bootleggers. Anderson immediately notified coast guard stations from South Chicago to Green Bay to be on the lookout for the craft.

Yesterday federal prohibition authorities here denied that they knew of the boat's departure from Goderich, Ont., or that they had any information concerning its voyage. They took this position, it was learned early this morning, because they feared that any announcement that a search for the rum runner was in progress would eventually reach the crew of the ship and cause them to turn back.

In reality, it was learned, special agents of the department of justice had been watching the progress of the vessel throughout its voyage and had been waiting for a favorable opportunity to seize the ship.

CAPONE FREE, AFTER A DAY

Alphonse Capone and three of his associates went free on writs of habeas corpus last evening after spending almost 24 hours in jail at Miami, Fla. The arrest was the second time the police of Miami had taken Capone into custody within ten days, fulfilling their announced intention of harassing the Chicago gangster by arresting him on sight.

Capone and three companions, Albert Prignano, Sylvester Agoolia, and Nick Circella, were freed on writs signed by Circuit Judge Thompson, who ruled the police could not hold the prisoners when no warrants had been issued. The state of Florida is manifesting its hostility to Capone by attempting to padlock his palatial estate at Palm Island as a nuisance, where gangsters are harbored and the dry laws outraged.

Local Night Clubs Enjoined.

Capone's brother, Ralph, had his troubles yesterday when notices of temporary injunctions for dry law violations were posted on his Cicero night clubs, the Cotton club and the Montmarte, formerly Greyhound inn. Federal Judge Wilkerson granted the temporary decrees pending a hearing on petitions for permanent injunctions. The resorts may keep open for the time being, but any violations of the dry laws will subject them to peremptory padlocking. Deputy Marshal Joseph Spizzirri also served temporary notices yesterday on the Cinderella café at Cottage Grove avenue and East 64th street, and the Cocoanut Grove at 913 East 63d street. The latter resort, operated by the Toys, a Chinese family, is alleged to have catered to high school boys and girls bent on merriment.

Bottle Store Owner Arrested.

Other booze developments yesterday included the issuance of a warrant for H. L. Sanger, whose bottle store at 1237 South State street was raided by federal dry agents as the alleged supply house where the Capone liquor syndicate obtained its fake labels, fancy bottles, and counterfeit stamps. Sanger is expected to surrender to the warrant today for arraignment, and arrangements were being made to have him post a bond, thus obviating the necessity of removing some twelve carloads of his stock to a government warehouse.

BOMB WRECKS FRONT OF CAFE ON NORTH SIDE

A bomb explosion at 2:30 a. m., today wrecked the front of a restaurant at 162 West Kinsie street operated by Peter Moroni and Joe Landa. The East Chicago avenue police, who investigated, believe a quarrel among beed peddlers caused the bombing. The damage was estimated at $300. A watchman at the new Merchandise mart nearby told the police that he saw two men in a large sedan drive by the cafe and one hurl the bomb on the doorstep.

"Poison Pen" Case Girl Accepts $13,000 Damages

Hackensack, N. J., May 14.—[Special.]—Miss Sarah Mowell has agreed to accept $13,000 damages in settlement of her suit against Mr. and Mrs. Frank Von Mosczіker of Ridgewood, resulting from her arrest two years ago on charges of writing "poison pen" letters to Mrs. Von Mosczіker. Miss Mowell brought a charge of malicious persecution following her acquittal on "poison pen" charges. She was awarded $25,000 damages by a jury on April 1 but the court reduced the award to $13,000 last Thursday, saying that if it were not accepted Miss Mowell could seek a new trial.

"Coat Pocket Bottle" Held No Violation of Dry Law

Syracuse, N. Y., May 14.—(AP)—A bulge in the coat of a pedestrian which proves upon search to be a bottle of liquor is not sufficient grounds for prosecution under the Volstead act, George M. Haight, United States commissioner, ruled tonight in a decision discharging Carl Kendrick of this city.

direct result of its recommendation. The commission, he said, has wasted $250,000 appropriated by congress on investigations far removed from prohibition.

"I do not want the country to get the impression that this legislation resulted from the Hoover law enforcement commission," said Senator Glass. "The commission has spent nearly $250,000 and is asking for that much more. As far as is known, it has diverted the money to an investigation of topics absolutely foreign to the purpose of the appropriation and the action of congress."

Wants to Know Where Money Went.

Senator Glass, who introduced the original appropriation for the commission, said that he would propose a resolution calling for a statement of the commission's expenditures before any additional money is appropriated. He asserted that the commission had been spending its time "inquiring into delinquents, the depth of automobiles, and such things."

Under the terms of the bill Dr. James M. Doran, present commissioner of prohibition, will remain in the treasury department, with the title of commissioner of industrial alcohol. Attorney General William D. Mitchell will have the appointment of a new commissioner of prohibition in the department of justice.

CLUBWOMEN PLAN FIGHT TO UPHOLD PROHIBITION LAW

A group of women organized much like the women's organization for national prohibition reform, but having as their purpose the upholding of the prohibition law, is planned by the prohibition law enforcement committee of the Chicago Woman's club.

"The formation of such a group was discussed informally by a large, enthusiastic group of members who felt that the true facts favoring prohibition should be brought before the people," said Mrs. Katharine Knowles Robbins, a member of the committee, which held its last meeting of the year yesterday at the club. "We feel that prohibition education is especially needed on the wet-dry issue before the coming election."

The discussion followed an address by Mrs. Clayton Eulette, a member of the woman's national law enforcement committee, who appeared recently in the congressional prohibition inquiry. Mrs. Eulette said that the reports of drinking by college students had been greatly exaggerated. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Catharine Waugh McCulloch, chairman of the prohibition law enforcement committee.

BOY RUNNING RACE DASHES INTO AN AUTO

Running a foot race with another boy yesterday in Forrest avenue, Wilmette, 11 year old Roger E. Williams Jr. dashed into Sheridan road and into a passing automobile driven by Frank Alanda of 2729 South Spalding avenue, Chicago. Roger suffered head and body injuries and was taken to the Evanston General hospital. His condition is critical. Alanda, driver of a detective bureau squad car, was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

Miss Mary Kelley, 70 years old, 6835 Addison street, died yesterday in the West Suburban hospital from injuries received last Saturday when struck by an automobile while crossing Addison street at Newcastle avenue. Dominick Fatura, 1356 West Grand avenue, driver of the machine, was not held.

SEIZE CROCKS IN WAR ON LIQUOR RING IN KANSAS

Wichita, Kas., May 14.—(AP)—Raiding two business houses today federal prohibition agents seized crocks, bottles, corks, and sugar alleged to have been intended for the manufacture of liquor.

The action followed a drive yesterday against an alleged ring, which resulted in about thirty arrests here and in other cities of this district.

John H. Cox, proprietor of the Wichita Stoneware company, was arrested. Among bottles and crocks found at his place of business were numerous square containers with "Gordon Gin" blown in the glass. Cox said the gin bottles were left there two years ago by a Wichita bootlegger.

E. C. Minner of Dodge City, county attorney for Ford county, arrested yesterday on a charge of conspiracy in connection with allegations that he had attempted to bribe John Madden, assistant district prohibition administrator, refused to resign from office today and was informed by State Attorney General William A. Smith that ouster proceedings would be instituted.

HOUSE WET BLOC ASKS SHOWDOWN ON 2 MEASURES

Referendum and 2.75 Pct. Plans Pushed.

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—Plans to force a showdown vote on pending proposals to authorize a national referendum on repeal of the 18th amendment or legalize the manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer were agreed upon today by members of the house wet bloc.

In accordance with the program adopted, letters will be addressed to every member of the house appealing for signatures to the petitions now before Speaker Longworth asking for submission of motions to discharge the judiciary committee from further consideration of measures sponsored by Representatives F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.] and Mary Norton [Dem., N. J.].

Repeal by Majority Vote Provided.

The Norton resolution provides for a referendum on repeal of the 18th amendment within three months after the passage of the measure and proposes that "if a majority of all the people voting thereon vote for the repeal, the 18th amendment shall thereupon cease to be a part of this constitution; but the congress shall retain power to prohibit the interstate transportation of intoxicating liquors in violation of state laws, and no state shall permit or authorize the conduct of a saloon."

To Raise Alcoholic Content.

The La Guardia measure is one of many introduced in every session of congress by members of the so-called unofficial committee for modification of the Volstead act and would increase the legal alcoholic content of beverages from ½ of 1 per cent to 2.75 per cent.

The rarely invoked procedure decided upon by the wets to force the issue to the floor requires the signatures of a majority of the house membership to the petitions to discharge the committee.

CARTER HARRISON HOME; MAY TAKE STUMP FOR LEWIS

Carter H. Harrison, five times mayor of Chicago, may take the stump for James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic senatorial nominee, next fall. With Mrs. Harrison, he returned to Chicago yetserday from four months' travel in Europe.

"I expect that in the fall, probably in September," he said, "I'll participate in the campaign and help as much as I can to elect Lewis senator."

He declined to discuss tthe frequently heard suggestion that he may be a candidate for mayor next year. Some of his old supporters have started an organization, which, it is said, intends to urge him to run again.

DIDN'T SAY HOME BREW IS LEGAL, McBRIDE INSISTS

He Refers to Record; Here It Is.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, denied today that in his testimony before the senate lobby committee yesterday he asserted that home brewing is legal under the Volstead act. In the course of his testimony the dry leader declared that a speech by Representative F. W. Fort [Rep., N. J.] in the house recently, advising wets to be satisfied with the right to "make their own" at home, was a "very good speech, on the whole," and added, "I think probably he is right."

Many of this morning's newspaper headlines and news articles conveyed the impression, said McBride today, "that I said that home brewing or the making of beer in the home was lawful under the Volstead act. I made no such statement and the record shows that I did not."

What Record Shows.

Reference to the official record of McBride's testimony yesterday before the committee shows the following colloquy between the dry leader and Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] actually occurred:

Caraway—Congressman Fort made a speech in the house in which he rather wanted to upset the dry program, didn't he?

McBride—I think not.

Caraway—Well, I was under the impression that he was for modification.

McBride—No, he said that the law permitted the making of liquor in the home. It was his interpretation of the law as it is.

Caraway—You don't agree with his interpretation?

McBride—Well, now, we think that was a very good speech that he made, as a whole. That is his interpretation. I think probably he is right.

Caraway—That you can make all the liquor——"

McBride—I am not a lawyer.

Caraway — Does the Anti-Saloon league agree with him that you can make your liquor in your own home?

McBride—There is a difference of opinion as to his interpretation.

Caraway—That is not what I asked you . . . would you be satisfied with an interpretation of the act that would allow every one to make liquor in his own home?

McBride Stammers.

McBride—No—that is—I think there are certain phases to the law—I think under certain conditions liquor can be made in the home without being a violation.

Caraway—And you think that ought to be the law?

McBride—Well—I—we haven't gotten—that law is not one hundred per cent good yet. We are on the way.

THEY TALK MEAN TO CUTMORE, BUT GIVE HIM MONEY

Reassessment Must Go On, Cost What It May.

Amidst a shower of caustic comments Harry S. Cutmore, director of the reassessment, yesterday wrested from the county board an additional appropriation of $100,543 to retain 125 employés for the 1929 and 1930 assessments. The commissioners placed Cutmore under a barrage of ironic comment, but yielded ground when J. Jacobs, county efficiency expert, gave assurance that no further appropriations would be demanded this year. The money is to be transferred from the November election fund.

In defense of his demand Cutmore declared that fully 300,000 taxpayers inquired about their valuations under the reassessment and that 90 per cent of them were satisfied. He declared that the public feels that the system is a great improvement.

Pay Long Overdue.

Cutmore explained that if the values under the reassessment are to remain equal he must have expert help. The expert employés have been working since March without pay, he added.

"Do you mean to say that you kept these men on the roll without knowing whether you would get money to pay them?" Commissioner Schmidt asked. "That's system for you. Why don't you get a horse?"

"I had to keep them or shut the office," Cutmore replied.

"Jus' the old army game," President Cermak offered. "We're in the same position of a man who has a gun at his head with a palsied finger holding a hair trigger. We've got to come through or they'll shut down and we don't collect taxes. We started out to appropriate $800,000 for this reassessment and before it's through we are going to be taken for [illegible],000,000. And we're going to have to like it."

The commissioners nodded in agreement.

That Reminds Him——

"That reminds me of my son," Commissioner Busse put in. "He came to me the other day with a plan for saving money in our auto business. After I looked it over I found he would have spent a dollar to save [illegible] cents. And, Cutmore, it looks to me as though you were doing the same thing."

Michael O'Connor, clerk of the county board, took opportunity of a lull to remind the commissioners that they had a request for $100,543 before them.

"Can't they make it even money?" Commissioner Whealan put in.

"O, they have an expert system over there," Schmidt explained. "It's [illegible]tic."

"What authority have you to create those positions?" Whealan demanded of Cutmore. "You say these men have been working since March without pay?"

"If they were not working, the [illegible] would stop," Cutmore said.

So He Got It.

"The system is all right but the idea of cutting valuations by $400,-[illegible]000 is rotten," Busse declared.

"The assessors did that, and they haven't got the guts to stand up for it," Cermak stated. "They have two staffs down there; the assessor's staff and Cutmore's. His staff knows what it is all about and the others don't. And we've got nothing to do with it but give them money."

The appropriation was voted.

"Their bark is worse than their [illegible]," Cutmore said after the meeting.

17 American Women, 3 from Chicago, Curtsy to King and Queen at British Court

BY ANN WHITTINGHAM.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 14.—Encouraged by fine weather, great crowds tonight swarmed in the historic Mall leading to Buckingham palace to watch nearly a thousand carriages and autos carrying about 800 beautifully gowned women and brilliantly uniformed men to the opening of the court season. The second court will be held tomorrow night, and there will be two other courts on May 27 and May 28.

The queue began to form at 6:30 p. m.. The palace gates did not open until 9 o'clock and it was a long wait for the general guests. Diplomats, however, and their guests, were able to avoid this through using the private entrance to the palace.

American Ambassador and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes brought their three house guests from Chicago, Mrs. Tiffany Blake, Mrs. John T. McCutcheon, and Mrs. Melvin Ericson. Other cars contained fourteen other American women, who were duly presented by Mrs. Dawes to the king and queen in the throne room of the palace.

A Display of Splendor.

The first of the courts, which is always the most brilliant of the four, brings out in all its glory the members of the diplomatic corps stationed in London. Army, naval and diplomatic uniforms, with cocked hats, swords and jeweled insignia, outshone everything, even the livery of the palace attendants and the scarlet uniforms of the yeomen of the king's bodyguard.

As for the dresses worn, they were neary all of white or pastel shades, and were universally long. All the women wore in their hair three little white plumes from the prince of Wales.

Mrs. McCutcheon wore a gold brocade gown with a gold and green train, and slippers of gold. She carried a large green feather fan.

Mrs. Murray Wears Pink.

Mrs. Murray, wife of Lieut. Comdr. George B. Murray, wore a georgette model of pink, with a silver lame train bordered in velvet of the same color as her gown. She carried a pink fan. Her slippers were of silver brocade, and a bandeau of brilliants held the feathers and tulle of her headdress.

Mrs. Key, wife of D. M. Key, third secretary of the American embassy, wore a soft grey ensemble with a blue velvet evening cloak, trimmed with fox fur. Her dress had a tight bodice and full skirt to the floor. From the knees was a series of flaring lace flounces. The train was of grey lace. She carried a white feather fan. Mrs. Key's mother, Mrs. William M. Wright, accompanied her and was also presented.

Mrs. Evans Wears Bouquet.

Mrs. Evans, wife of Maj. Paul W. Evans, achieved distinction by trimming her frock, of a tender shade of green, with a real lilies of the valley bouquet. These flowers were fastened to her waist, and little sprays of lilies of the valley adorned her train, which was of the same shade of green as her dress and which was lined with cloth of silver.

Mrs. Fox, wife of Homer F. Fox, commercial attaché, wore an ivory net picture gown, with a fitted bodice, a long, full skirt falling from a normal waistline, and an even hem embroidered all over with silver marguerites. These also appeared on her ivory net train, with a silver lamé lining. Her evening cloak was of white velvet trimmed with white fur. She carried a Victorian bouquet made of crystal flowers.

Interest Focused on Debutantes.

Interest is always focused on the debutantes, who are not only making curtsies to their majesties but are presumably entering their social careers. Miss Griselda Forbes, the eldest of the twelve children of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Forbes of Boston, wore a Lanvin gown of white muslin de soie embroidered with diamente and crystal bugles. The train was of the same material and hung from the shoulders, falling to the ground somewhat like a coat. The Greek idea was further carried out in a beautiful Greek fan of silver shaped like a leaf and embroidered in diamente. Her evening coat was of silver stitched lamé with a wide collar.

Miss Charlotte Dorrance of New Jersey, who is tall and slender, wore a distinguished white and silver lame gown, plain, with a tight bodice, long tight sleeves, and a long full skirt. Her feathers were held by a silver wreath forming a bandeau and she carried a large white feather fan. Her slippers were of lame. Completing this ensemble was a short coat of lame trimmed in ermine.

Miss Katherine Tod of New York was a symphony in pink. Her gown was of pink satin and quite plain. Her train was of pink and silver brocade. She wore pink satin slippers and carried a large fan of pink feathers.

Miss Eunice Bennett of New York wore a gown of white tulle and lace, with a wavering suggestion of color attained by the embroidery of thousands of pastel beads in lace. The skirt was long with an embroidered lace front, which continued to the back, forming an uneven dip in back of the skirt. Her train was of white tulle, edged with the same lace, and was embroidered with beads of pastel shades. Miss Bennett's headdress was of crystal beads, with sprays of seed pearls worn quite far back on her head like a halo. She wore a crystal necklace and carried a Victorian nosegay.

Miss Frances Hutchinson of Philadelpiha wore a blush parchment lace gown of a delicate semi-empire design, being outlined in hand embroidery of deep ivory toned pearls. The bodice was tight fitting, the skirt was full and scalloped at the hem. The waist was held by a girdle of graduated pearls. She wore a diamond tiara and a chain of emeralds. The note of green appeared again in her emerald green fan and slippers.

Miss Elizabeth Kent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Atwater Kent of Philadelphia, wore a gown of oyster colored satin. On her corsage and the narrow panel effect of her soft flowing skirt were trails of deep ivory and pearl hand embrodiery. Her evening cloak was of blush oyster satin, the hem being scalloped with emeralds and pearls, and lined with woven lame. She carried a pink feather fan with a mother of pearl handle. Her headdress was of diamonds and pearls.

Queen Wears Famous Diamond.

London, May 14.—(AP)—The first court of the season in Buckingham palace—the first in two years where the king has stood beside the queen—was a great success. The powdered and befeathered American debutantes, who waited in parked motorcars along the Mall for the royal summons, obligingly poked their heads out of the windows to pose for photographers, and smiled graciously to acknowledge the acclaim of the spectators.

The regal splendor of the Buckingham palace throneroom made an admirable background for the girls in frothy white and pastel hued gowns. The queen, who smiled encouragingly at each nervous presentee, wore an imposing gown of blue silver brocade, the famous Kohinoor diamond gleaming from her breast.

Dawes Wears Long Pants.

With the prince of Wales, who wore the uniform of the Welsh guards, was Princess Mary, wearing a gown of pale blue trimmed in diamante.

Most of the 800 guests, who were principally from the diplomatic corps, were resplendent in their uniforms but the American and Russian ambassadors were conspicuous for their sombre garb.

Ambassador Dawes remained faithful to the usual American evening dress, while M. Sokolnikov, the Russian, wore an evening coat with black knee breeches.

Scott Lights Candle in World Wide N. U. Rite

At 9:01 p. m., last night, President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university stood in the Candle room of the tower of Old College in Evanston and lighted a gigantic five foot candle while alumni in all parts of the world lighted other tapers. Symbolizing the fraternity of graduates, the candle lighting ceremony was enhanced in foreign lands because the alumni were able to play phonograph records of Dr. Scott's speech. The huge candle was donated by Forest Gooderick, believed to have been the first freshman to matriculate in the university.

SHOOTS SELF, LEAVES 4 NOTES.

Apparently despondent because he could not find work, Harry Nichols, 24 years old, 6032 Eberhart avenue, committed suicide yesterday morning by shooting himself. His landlady, Mrs. Nellie Nelson, gave the police four notes found near the body. The notes will be opened at the inquest this morning.

U. S. ARMY PLANE FORCED DOWN AT SEA; FEAR FOR 4

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

HONOLULU, May 14.—Four army airmen, the crew of a bombing plane from Luke field, were forced down in a rough sea, 10 miles southeast of the Island of Maui, shortly before noon today. Due to lack of communications their fates are still in doubt.

The four men are Lieut. T. L. Boyd, air corps reserve, of Washington, D. C., pilot; Staff Sergt. H. Alexander Kennedy, Alabama; Staff Sergt. J. Becker, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Priv. H. L. Cowan, Syracuse, N. Y.

Three Use Parachutes.

The ship which they were flying was one of a fleet, which undertook an inter-island flight this morning.

Motor trouble developed shortly after leaving Maui en route to the island of Hawaii. At least three of the members of the crew took to parachutes and landed in the sea. One man, presumably the pilot, stayed by his plane and brought it down in the midst of tumultuous waves. A naval patrol plane and two army amphibians, part of the fleet, landed to rescue those in the sea.

Ships, Planes Called Out.

Whether they were successful is not known, since there is no way to communicate between the surface of the water and the planes, which are circling above the scene of the mishap. The ocean is too rough to permit the patrol plane and the amphibians to take off again.

Two commercial vessels and two mine sweepers from Pearl Harbor are en route to aid in the rescue, and two more patrol planes have been dispatched to the scene.

The U. S. S. Pelican, which left Pearl Harbor this afternoon, is due at the scene of the crash at 11 p. m. [3 a. m. Chicago time]. It will then have to scour the sea over a twenty-five mile radius and pick up three airplanes which are down.

BRITISH MASS TO HALT SALT RAID, LED BY POETESS

Revolt in Northwestern India Grows.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

CALCUTTA, May 14.—With Sholapur under strict martial law, attention is turning to Karachi, where there are possible developments of grave concern to the entire Sind province on the Baluchistan frontier.

Mrs. Saironji Naidu, Hindu poetess and new generalissimo of the Gandhi civil disobedience campaign, has reached the vicinity of Dharsana, and expects to lead an attack against the government salt works there at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The salt plant has been heavily surrounded with barbed wire and ample forces. It is indicated that if she makes the attempt, she and all of her followers will be arrested and jailed.

Revolt News Guarded.

News from Sind province is sketchy, but the guarded messages indicate that the government is ready to take stern action. The Karachi troubles started yesterday when, in connection with a hartal, great parades were formed. These parades included separate processions of Moslems, merchants, and women, including great numbers of school girls, who abandoned their studies. From all over Sind comes the word of concentrated attacks on the salt law, with many arrests being follower by swift prison sentences.

Royal Ulsters with Indian troops and special European volunteers, have a strong hold on Sholapur where every Nationalist flag has been torn down. The president and secretary of the India national congress there have been imprisoned. In many of the other regions of India the prisons are filling fast, according to reports. Numerous professors, editors and physicians are among those who have been arrested, especially in Sind.

General indications point to the necessity of heavy troop movements in various regions, especially at the frontiers. Five natives were injured here tonight in a clash with police. They had tried to call a strike and had stopped buses and taxicabs.

Lahore Situation Worse.

The situation at Lahore and other important cities is becoming worse. Lahore journalists sent recommendations to the press conference, now assembling at Bombay, urging nation-wide suspension for two weeks of the entire Indian press, refusal to make deposits of security, and a general boycott of all Anglo-Indian anti-nationalist newspapers. These recommendations also request the working committee of the national congress to furnish information in regard to the attitude to be taken.

The "war council" is still in session at Allahabad where severe restrictions have been imposed on newspapermen. But certain leading Indians from all sections are assembling to fight against the stifling of the press or to compel nation-wide martial law.

The picketing of liquor, cloth, and other shops is extending into every province. In some regions entire district boards have resigned, while even children are parading in the streets crying for swaraj—independence.

Surrender British Medals.

Several noted Indians have surrendered their British decorations. Hunger strikes have begun among the prisoners in many jials, one group having gone nine days without food. A new hunger strike was reported from the Sabarmati jail. One of the strikers included Vallabhai Patel, brother of the resigned speaker of the national assembly.

Volunteers are forming from all regions about Dharsana for the march on the salt works. Mrs. Gandhi and other women are directing the organization. Calcutta, Bombay, and Madras mill sections are under heavy police guard, but in other towns the forces are insufficient to maintain order if the movement continues to spread, as indicated tonight.

First Woman Arrested.

BOMBAY, May 14.—(AP)—The first woman arrested since the civil disobedience campaign began was taken into custody today and sentenced to one year's simple imprisonment. She is Mrs. Lakshmipathi, a widely known social worker of Madras, who went to Vedaranyam to lead a demonstration against the salt laws.

Afghan Border Warfare.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 14.—If Great Britain wishes to keep border tribes in order by aerial bombing, Afghanistan has no objection. This statement was made today by a member of the Afghan legation at London, who explained that the territory just over the northwest border of India is really "no man's land," inhabitated by wild tribes owing allegiance to no ruler, and causing very much the same kind of trouble for the peaceful Afghans as they do for India.

If, however, the British planes go too far across and bomb tribes which the Afghan government considers to be under its protection, then protests will be made. This statement is taken as a reply to the British demand that the Afghan government disarm tribes, which have been threatening Peshawar and other points along the frontier.

Wedgwood Benn, secretary for India, in the house of commons this afternoon, gave an account of the action taken against the Afghanistan border tribes. In the Peshawar district, he said, on the border of the Mahmad country, the villages were disarmed by the constabulary after aerial raids had been taken against the haji—tribal leader. Several of the leaders of the agitation were arrested at the same time.

According to dispatches today, frontier constabulary surrounded a tribal village on the frontier and disarmed all tribesmen, besides arresting several. During the day, a British plane crashed in Khyber pass and two pilots were killed.

GENERAL FOREMAN IS HOME WITH FILMS HE TOOK IN JUNGLE LAND

Bearing tales of the jungles of French Indo-China, Formosa and Siam, Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman came back to town yesterday after almost five months' travel in the Orient. Accompanied by Drs. Robert B. Preble and George Paull Marquis, he left New York in January and returned by way of San Francisco.

No animal lives were lost at the hands of his expedition, the general said, all shooting being done by camera. "I have 10,000 feet of undeveloped movie film in my baggage," he said, "but I'm the world's worst photographer and I don't know what we'll find when it is finished."

Gen. Foreman found that in India, Uncle Sam is being charged with the trade depression which has brought about a slump in the silk industry and a lowering of Indian silver, but is unable to say how this conclusion was reached.

His most interesting explorations took him into the jungles of Indo-China to Angkor where he investigated the ruins of a lost civilization, replete with a temple architecture strange to ethnologists.

ARREST HOUSE MEMBERS TO GET NIGHT QUORUM

Congressmen Rounded Up During Filibuster.

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—Sergeants at arms of the house of representatives tonight searched the highways and by-ways of the capital, armed with warrants to bring truant members of the body back to the job. They arrested them as fast as they could find them and haled them back to the house chamber. But it was a six hour job.

This was the first time in eight years that arrests were needed to transact the business of the government.

The whole affair began with a filibuster of the administration forces to prevent passage of a minor bill which was opposed by Mr. Hoover.

Motions and counter motions had brought the house into a parliamentary tangle which made it impossible for the members to take any action on the bill and equally impossible to entertain a motion to adjourn the session.

Order Members' Arrest.

Then the house adopted a resolution, put by Representative Percy Quin [Dem., Miss.], to obtain a quorum by the arrest of all members who were absent without permission of the speaker.

Rep. T. Q. Tilson, speaker pro-tem in the absence of Speaker Nicholas Longworth, signed the warrants as quickly as they could be laid before him by Chief Sergeant at Arms J. G. Rodgers, and Rodgers and his assistants began a search of the city.

They went to the homes of members, the homes of persons who were known to be hosts to members; they broke up bridge foursomes, they broke up dances, and, it is reported, they broke up some poker games in various hotels and clubs. They even invaded some night clubs.

The chief sergeant soon came in with the first catch of the evening, and it turned out to be the speaker of the house in person. He was greeted with cheers. Other members were brought in in dinner and evening clothes.

Mrs. Owen Not Arrested.

Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, and a representative from Florida, was spared the trouble of being brought in by a sergeant at arms. She obeyed a telephone call to appear.

Other members streamed in, accompanied by the "police" of the house or as the result of phone summons. A roll call was begun, but soon abandoned as hopeless.

While the sergeants at arms were rounding up the absentees, the members who had stayed supperless—sixty of them—had slipped out to the house restaurant. So the sergeants at arms had the duty of rounding them up.

Another roll call. But the sergeants at arms found they had a sheep herder's job. While they were chasing in the eaters, those they had served with warrants had broken out again.

They rounded up enough from the cloakrooms and the corridors to make a quorum and after the third roll call debate was begun.

No Exemption by Rule.

Representative Pearl P. Oldfield [Dem., Ark.] and Representative Ruth Pratt [Rep., N. Y.] sat throughout the long tumultuous session which was lightened only once when Representative J. W. Summers [Rep., Wash.] sought to amend Quin's motion for arrest of the absentees so as to exempt women members from arrest. The unanimous consent request was blocked, however, by the objection of Representative Edgar B. Howard [Dem., Neb.], one time secretary to the late William Jennings Bryan.

Finally, the administration forces, tiring of the long grind, consented to postpone action and take a final vote on Friday.

Caused by Farm Bill.

The bill which caused all the trouble was fathered by Representative J. C. Ketcham [Rep., Mich.] and supported, it was claimed, by "every recognized farm organization in America." It provided that representatives of the agriculture department be stationed at American embassies, legations and important consulates in foreign countries.

DORAN BLAMES CREOSOTE FOR JAKE PARALYSIS

Insists Tests Exonerate U. S. Denaturant.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—Creosote, rather than iso-propyl, the industrial alcohol denaturant prescribed by federal regulations, is probably responsible for the epidemic of "jake paralysis" in southwestern states, in spite of the theories advanced by medical authorities, including Dr. W. A. Evans, health editor of THE TRIBUNE, according to Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran.

Exhaustive analysis of more than 200 samples of the fake Jamaica ginger, to which the strange malady is attributed, has failed to disclose a trace of the admittedly poisonous iso-propyl, Dr. Doran said, while creosote in varying but always dangerous quantities has been found in every sample.

Samples Gathered for Tests.

In an attempt to solve the mystery chemists of the public health service and the food and drug administration of the department of agriculture, as well as of the dry bureau, gathered samples, tested samples, of the spurious ginger secured in Tennessee, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Arizona, Mississippi and Kentucky.

Monkeys given some of the ginger, known to be absolutely free from iso-propyl but containing creosote, by Dr. G. W. McCoy, director of the hygienic laboratory of the public health service, have displayed the same symptoms exhibited by human victims of "jake paralysis."

Prescribed for Perfumes.

"Originally I, too, suspected iso-propyl," declared Dr. Doran, "but after our chemists examined more than 200 samples of Jamaica ginger without finding a trace of the denaturant, and after monkeys fed ginger containing creosote were stricken with this strange joint paralysis, it was apparent that iso-propyl is not the cause of the epidemic."

Iso-propyl, the commissioner said, is a denaturant prescribed in one of the formulas for denaturing industrial alcohol used in the manufacture of perfumes.

Shawls Have Their Day Again

Rare Garments Shown

Owning a shawl, and an old one in particular, was a mark of distinction yesterday at the annual breakfast of the Colonial Coverlet Guild of America. Mannekins, some of them descendants of original owners of rare and lovely cloth, paraded in the evolution of the shawl pageant in the Wedgewood room of Marshall Field & Co.

Among the rarest was the Persian shawl whose history says it was given by the Persian government to Edward FitzGerald, English translator of Omar Khayyam's "Rubaiyat," as a token of appreciation.

HOOVER SEEKS TO GIVE CHICAGO A FEDERAL JAIL

Asks $1,300,000 for New Customs Building.

The contention of government officials here that Chicago needs a federal jail to relieve county institutions congested with prohibition law violators was believed to have been recognized yesterday by President Hoover. According to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington, the President recommended to congress that the old custom appraisers' stores building at 158 West Harrison street be reconditioned and used as a jail for federal prisoners.

President Hoover also recommended that $1,300,000 be appropriated for the construction of a new building to house the United States customs court and to serve as store rooms and offices for the customs appraisers, the dispatch said.

Since the passage of the Volstead act the placing of federal prisoners has been one of the most serious problems confronting the officials of this judicial district. Its gravity has been equaled only by the congestion in the federal courts, according to officials.

Sees Plan as Solution.

United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson asserted last evening that the President's plan would solve the difficulty.

"We have from 300 to 400 federal prisoners at all times, including those awaiting trial and unable to make bond, and those under sentence," said Mr. Johnson, "and we are compelled to juggle them from one county jail to another, all over northeastern Illinois.

"We have Chicago prisoners in county jails as far west as Rockford. The great majority of federal prisoners serving terms are prohibition law offenders. There are more than 1,200 criminal cases on the calendar of the federal District court here and more than 800 of these are prohibition law cases."

The district attorney said the old appraisers' stores building, reconditioned and fitted with cells, would be adequate to house all the federal prisoners in this district. It is a four story stone structure.

Czarnecki Praises Proposal.

United States Collector of Customs Anthony Czarnecki praised the presidential recommendation from the standpoint of providing more facilities for the customs appraisers.

"This need has long been felt by the Association of Commerce and by manufacturing and civic associations," he said, "and numerous delegations from Chicago have visited the commissioner of customs, F. X. A. Eble, who has urged the erection of a new customs building here.

"The old building on Harrison street is hopelessly unsatisfactory, both in size and with respect to its location. Some importers are now required to provide their own warehouses for goods awaiting inspection."

Mr. Czarnecki also cited the need of a customs courtroom. The customs court now has to borrow one of the District courtrooms or else occupy the inadequate quarters of the civil service department in the federal building.

DARTMOUTH BOYS START HOT STYLES, THOUGH DAY CHILLS

Hanover, N. H., May 14.—(AP)—Although their shins were nearly blue from the cold, approximately 500 Dartmouth students today attired themselves in shorts in protest to the conventional and allegedly uncomfortable male summer garb. There were red shorts, blue, yellow, and green shorts. Some were striped, some checkered, and some of dainty flowered material.

The local haberdasheries early exhausted their stock and sent rush orders for an additional supply to meet the expected demands of tomorrow, old timers' day. There were indications that instead of attiring themselves in the styles of bygone years, the students tomorrow would sport the abbreviated trousers.

A reactionary wing of the collegiate body attempted to counteract the short movement today with a bid for conservative apparel. Although they wore warm coats, long trousers, and overshoes, the anti-shorts appeared to gain few adherents, and with expected rising temperature their ranks were expected to melt away.

SENATORS VOICE NEW OPPOSITION TO NAVY TREATY

Concessions Granted to Japan One Snag.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—New opposition to the London naval treaty flared up in two senate committee rooms today as the congressional investigation of the advisability of senate ratification of the pact swung into full stride.

Concessions made by the American delegation to Japan in the form of increased cruiser and submarine ratios over those established for capital ships at the Washington conference in 1922 were cited by the opposition as major stumbling blocks to treaty approval. The limitations placed on American construction of the 8 inch gun cruiser by the treaty as well as the emergency building clause also were singled out for attack.

Delegates Questioned.

Two of the American delegates and one of the naval advisers were subjected to a constant cross-fire of questions regarding the provisions of the treaty, the manner in which it was negotiated and its effect on American national security during hearings before the foreign relations and naval affairs committees of the senate. Secretary of State Stimson and Admiral William V. Pratt, commander in chief of the United States fleet, appeared before the foreign relations committee while Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams testified before the naval affairs group of senators.

Among disclosures of the day were statements by Secretary Adams and Admiral Pratt that the cost of building the American navy up to the tonnage levels set by the treaty or "tonnage parity with Great Britain" would run from 800 million to one billion dollars, depending on the number of years the building program was spread over and whether battleship replacements were begun in 1937.

Building Opinions Differ.

It was also revealed that a difference of opinion exists in administration circles as to whether the United States should build up to parity by 1936. Secretary Adams testified that he believed it probably would not be good policy to build all the tonnage allotted the United States under the treaty during the next few years as controversy still exists as to the types of cruisers this country should build. Admiral Pratt urged expenditure of money as soon as possible to build up the fleet in the kind of ships allowed by the treaty.

Other points brought out during the hearings were the admission by Secretary Adams that the treaty provision holding down this country's 8 inch gun cruiser tonnage to 160,000 tons during the life of the treaty was inserted at the insistence of Japan, and a statement by Secretary of State Stimson that while the American delegation had proposed construction of a new American battleship to attain capital ship parity with Great Britain the proposition had only been put forward as a "trading point."

Lead Attack on Treaty.

Senators Hiram Johnson [Rep., Chi.], Arthur R. Robinson [Rep., Ind.], of the foreign relations committee, together with Samuel M. Shortridge [Rep., Cal.] and Senator Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.] of the naval affairs committee, led the attack on the terms of the treaty. Both Secretary Stimson and Adams praised the treaty as advantageous to the United States. Admiral Pratt said the treaty was satisfactory to him and that if the necessary ships were built to give us a treaty navy he would not "swap" fleets with Great Britain.

Following the hearing, Senator Johnson said that he was far from satisfied with the treaty and the explanations made in its behalf. He expressed the opinion that the American delegation had given away at London the 5-3 ratio with Japan which the United States had won at Washington for capital ships after agreeing to maintain its Pacific ocean naval bases on a status quo condition.

Senator Johnson Dissatisfied.

"I hope," Senator Johnson said, "that the treaty can be shown to provide the reductions, savings and limitations its advocates promise without endangering American national defense. Thus far I am not satisfied with the explanations given by Secretary Stimson and Admiral Pratt as to why we gave up the 5-3 ratio on cruisers, submarines and destroyers in favor of a larger ratio for Japan. I am not satisfied that it would be wise to place the limitations on 8 inch gun cruisers which is provided by the treaty.

"From all I can gather the United States gave up the right to fortify its naval bases in the Pacific in order to obtain the 5-3 ratio of naval strength with Japan agreed to for capital ships at the Washington conference in 1922. Our delegates left that conference satisfied that the 5-3 principle of parity had been established with Japan for the future. Now we find the 5-3 ratio established at Washington was given away to get a treaty at London. I am against giving up that ratio because I believe the Pacific will be the scene of the great world activities of the future."

Hale Hits Emergency Clause.

Aside from its regular limitations the treaty carries an emergency building clause which permits any power if menaced by competitive naval building from a power outside the three power agreement to lay down additional ships above the treaty tonnage limits. Other powers in the treaty may lay down similar ships.

It was the emergency clause, the cruiser clause, and the increased ratio to Japan that was attacked by Chairman Hale of the naval affairs committee when Secretary Adams appeared as a witness.

"Whatever ships the United States built under the emergency clause would be based on British needs and not on our own," Chairman Hale asserted in questioning Secretary Adams. "We would be placed in a disadvantageous position for we could only build the types of ships wanted by Great Britain. In such a case we would probably not build at all."

In response to questions, Secretary Adams said that Japan had insisted upon this country's coming down from its proposal for twenty-one 8 inch gun cruisers and that the American delegation pushed its demand as far as possible without breaking off negotiations with Great Britain and Japan. The naval secretary added that he considered the delegation made a fair compromise with Japan.

Tells of "Trading Point."

Senator Johnson drew an admission from Secretary Stimson that the American delegation had only proposed that the United States be permitted to build a battleship to attain capital ship parity as a "trading point." The secretary declined, however, to divulge the reasons back of this country's acceptance of a treaty provision which limited our completed 8 inch gun cruiser tonnage to sixteen ships during the life of the treaty.

The California senator, together with Senator Robinson of Indiana, argued that as the United States was permitted to build only sixteen 8 inch gun ships during the life of the treaty, while Great Britain and Japan were allowed to build their full quotas, this country was in a disadvantageous position. Senator Johnson took the position that as we were limited to sixteen 8 inch gun ships by the treaty up to 1936, the United States should have been allotted 35,000 additional tons of 6 inch gun cruisers as the ratio of the 8 to the 6 inch gun ship had been set as 1 to 1½.

"Is it your view," Senator Johnson asked, "that under this treaty our country should build up its navy as permitted by the treaty?"

When Secretary Stimson said such a question should be addressed to the budget office, Senator Johnson interrupted to state that he assumed Secretary Stimson had not been indulging in a paper navy during the negotiations.

"I was not indulging in a paper navy," Secretary Stimson answered.

JAPANESE MILITARY COUNCIL TO REVIEW LONDON NAVAL PACT

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, May 14.—The emperor will convene the supreme military council to review the London naval treaty from the viewpoint of national defense upon the return of Admiral Takarabe to Tokio. The council is composed of the ministers of war and the navy, chiefs of staff of the army and navy and the highest officers in both branches of the military service.

It is expected the meeting of the council will bring to a head the controversy between two groups represented on one hand by Admiral Kanji Kato, chief of the naval staff and standing for the big navy element, who has clearly made known his opposition to the London treaty, and the group backing Admiral Takarabe, who has definitely aligned himself with the government by signing the London pact. Admiral Takarabe is expected to outline to the council the circumstances which developed at London and led to his acceptance of the London treaty.

ASSEMBLY URGED FIRST TO REMEDY TAX TANGLE HERE

Invasion of Assessments by State Opposed.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Demands that legislative action on Gov. Emmerson's plan to amend the state constitution to give the general assembly a free hand in making new tax laws be deferred until the state remedies troubles caused by the Cook county reassessment order issued by the state tax commission were heard yesterday from a new source.

Two members of the board of review who labored with the reassessment task for sixteen months insisted that the first duty of the special session of the assembly, which reconvenes next Tuesday, is to aid the financially broken down local governments of Cook county before a new crisis arrives on July 1. Edward R. Litsinger talked at length in this vein and Charles V. Barrett issued a statement.

Both threw new light on the situation before the special session by attacking as a most vicious violation of the principle of home rule one of the bills prepared by the Strawn committee and introduced at Springfield last Monday. This is a measure authorizing the state tax commission to step into any county and take complete control of its tax levying without regard to the local officials elected for that work by the voters of the county.

Overthrows Local Assessors.

Without comparison of notes the two reviewers, who belong to different factions of the Republican party, were equally emphatic in branding this "invasion" of the accepted functions of the county as even worse than the effort of Len Small in his first year as governor to give the state tax commission power to review individual assessments in any county.

The opening paragraph of this bill reads as follows:

"Whenever it determines that any local assessment officer or officers are not properly conducting or are unduly delaying an assessment or a reassessment, or the revision of an assessment or a reassesment, the tax commission may . . . assume complete charge of such assessment, reassessment, or revision in the place of such local assessment officer or officers and shall proceed with such assessment, reassessment, or revision with all the powers of such local assessment officer or officers and subject to all restrictions and duties imposed by law upon such officer or officers."

Urges Public to Take Hand.

"It is time for the people to wake up," said Litsinger. "Only a handful of them seem to realize what has been going on and what is going on now. If they don't stir themselves and get busy with their legislators right now they will wake up too late.

"Who started all this? It was the state. Is there anybody that can cure the situation? That rests with the state alone. It was the executive department that threw our local governments on the rocks and since the legislative branch is the only one that can do the rescue work this special assembly should give its undivided attention first of all to that task.

"The proposal for a revenue amendment is not a sudden emergency. It has been thrashed around for twenty years. It is involved with the question of reapportionment and should be taken up in connection with it at the regular session next year after the census is finished. But if there is insistence upon its being considered and acted upon now it should not be permitted to block the relief legislation we need and our needs should not be used as a club to force legislators into line. It should be considered on its merits when the decks have been cleared of the undeniably emergency matters."

Increases Commission's Powers.

Taking a similar position on the general subject, Barrett's statement dealt more in detail with the Strawn bill to increase the powers of the state tax commission.

"This bill," he said, "would give the state tax commission autocratic power. Its provisions are vicious, and are intended to permit organized interests to operate and control all taxing bodies in the state and to oust them at will. It is even more vicious than the bill introduced in the first term of Gov. Small and overwhelmingly defeated in the legislature.

"The board of assessors and the board of review of Cook county are elected by the people and responsible to them. The same is true of tax officials of all counties. The tax commission is appointed by the governor. No appointive body should be given authority by law to take such drastic action as the present bill contemplates.

Step Backward for Home Rule.

"The county of Cook and the city of Chicago have been endeavoring for years to obtain equal representation in the legislature. This bill is antagonistic to the doctrine of equal representation and a step backward for home rule in perhaps its most vital phase.

"The bill is objectionable not only from the standpoint of Cook county but from the standpoint of every downstate county. If the theory of this legislation is good, then the theory of equality of representation in government and especially in taxation matters, which has been accepted throughout the history of this country, has been all wrong.

"Each county should have home rule in all matters of local taxation."

Litsinger spoke of the power that would be placed in the hands of a governor by the bill.

"Without criticizing Gov. Emmerson, let me point out that the Small state tax commission is still in office. We don't know when we'll get a new one or who will be on it. And we don't know who'll be governor next."

ASK ELEVEN MILLION FOR CHICAGO'S NEEDS UNDER REASSESSMENT

The county board yesterday set its financial needs for presentation to the secial session of the legislature at $11,000,000. The estimate was given to the Strawn citizens' committee by Michael O'Connor, clerk of the board, and J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency expert. Of this sum $7,842,876 is attributed directly and indirectly to the reassessment and the balance is to make up for revenue delayed under the reassessment.

Of the latter $1,470,000 is a balance of uncollected revenue for 1928 and $2,500,000 for loss of tax fees for the same year. A set up of the method of financing the county for this sum is to be given in detail to representatives of the committee by next week for presentation to the legislature. If the county is to reimburse employés for the two months' pay which will be lost under its ten months' budget, an additional $1,000,000 will be needed, county officials said.

Schol board trustees appointed John A. English, chairman of a special committee on legislation and revenue, and Frank Righeimer, special attorney, to represent the board at Springfield. Trustee English explained that his committee had no report to make because the board is not concerned with the method of collecting the money the board needs, but solely with securing legislation to enable it to discharge its obligations. In the city Assistant Corporation Counsel Leon Hornstein is drafting amendments to the Strawn committee's relief bills.

WOMAN COACH OF CRIME RING FOUND GUILTY

Hopes Children Will Save Her from Prison.

Mrs. Nellie Smith, 2643 West Superior street, who was called a "Fagin" yesterday by Judge Harry B. Miller in the Criminal court, is hoping that her three month old daughter will be able to set aside a guilty verdict returned against her by a jury yesterday.

Edward Smith, 36 years old, her husband, and John Pociak, 20 years old, were found guilty by the same jury. The judge immediately overruled a motion for a new trial for the men and sentenced them to the penitentiary. The husband was given a 1 to 10 year sentence for receiving stolen property, while Pociak was sentenced to 1 year to life for burglary. Mrs. Smith faces the same sentence as that received by Pociak, for the jury found her to be one of the actual burglars.

Judge Scores Woman.

"The jury was absolutely right in bringing in a guilty verdict against you," Judge Miller said to Mrs. Smith when Attorney Thaddeus C. Toudor asked for leniency in her behalf.

"Your home was a breeding place for crime. I have no sympathy for a woman who will sell moonshine to boys and encourage them to commit crime. You are a Fagin—your home was a hellhouse.

"The only thing I am concerned with is what about that little baby."

"She has three babies your honor, the other two children are nothing more," said Attorney Toudor. "Besides the infant she has a child 3 and another 5 years old."

"She is the kind of a woman who should have no children," replied the judge. "However, I will continue a motion for a new trial in her case until Monday to think over what I should do."

"Please give me a break. It was my husband who bought the goods, your honor," said Mrs. Smith as she was taken back to her county jail cell.

Four of Gang Plead Guilty.

Four other members of the gang pleaded guilty, and motions for probation in their cases are under consideration. They are Rudolph Dylak, James Batakas, Joseph Hermanowski, and Stanley Brelak. It is charged that Mrs. Smith allowed the youths to congregate at her home, sold them moonshine, and then encouraged them to commit crime.

In the particular case tried, that of the burglary of the home of Mrs. Lucille Olenec, 2452 Cortez street, it is charged that Mrs. Smith actually drove the automobile used by the burglars.

Dog Leads Search of River for Body of His Master

A police dog yesterday directed coast guardsmen in their search for his master, believed to have been drowned in the Chicago river, near 22d street and Archer avenue. James Dwyer, a bridge tender at Halsted street, was attracted by the animal's peculiar actions. He was swimming about one spot, and diving repeatedly. When Dwyer tried to get him into a boat, he howled and struggled loose. It was then that Dwyer notified the coast guard, who spent the afternoon dragging the river.

U. C. STUDENTS SCORE VICTORY OVER SNOOPERS

Campus Police Agree to Lessen Spying.

Undergraduates at the University of Chicago who on Tuesday night set off a bonfire and staged a riotous demonstration in protest at the snooping of campus police emerged victorious yesterday following a special meeting of the administration board.

They won a series of concessions, the chief ones being that the police will not be backstage at the Black Friars' show at Mandel hall on Friday and Saturday, and that hereafter they won't shine their spotlights in the faces of couples sitting on the campus benches in the moonlight.

Cops Will Ride Bicycles.

Further, it was announced that uniforms ordered for the police, who number four and are graduate students, will arrive this week and be worn by them while on duty. It was also said they would ride bicycles.

Participating in the "peace" parley were Lester Reis, manager of buildings and grounds, in charge of the police; Dean C. S. Boucher of the college of arts, literature, and sciences, and John Moulds, business manager of the university for the campus. These represented the administration board. For the students there were Abbott Joe Odell of the Black Friars and Louis Engel, president of the undergraduate student council.

Resent Attitude of Police.

Odell and Engel are understood to have asserted that what they resented was the attitude of Snooper Chief J. L. Dorocke's men. They cited an instance that occurred two weeks ago, when the police broke up a serenading party. They said they regarded the snoopers' presence in Mandel hall as an infringement of their personal liberties.

Reis in turn said he was unaware of the feeling among the students and promised that in the future there would be no recurrence of the tactics that led up to the protest demonstration. The university officials denied that the campus police had been instructed to search for evidences of drinking.

Other students, as they gathered on the campus during the day, expressed resentment against the tactics employed by the city police in dispersing the demonstration Tuesday night. They pointed out that the students had only started a bonfire and were not harming any one when the police arrived and started wielding clubs.

FLOWING OIL CAUSES FLURRY NEAR GENEVA

Oil seeping through the floor of a filling station owned by Emmett Phillips, two miles west of Geneva on the Lincoln highway, caused considerable excitement in that vicinity last night. Scores of persons flocked there when reports spread that an oil well had been discovered.

Interest was increased by the fact that the oil was reported to be naphtha with a paraffin base, so clear that it might almost be used in a crankcase without refining. But oil experts pointed out that this cast doubt on the existence of a natural oil source, as they said that even the finest parafine base oil now known comes from the ground as a thick, brown liquid which requires refining.

Samples were sent to oil companies at Joliet and Lawrenceville, Ind. L. A. Higley, geologist of Wheaton, who has examined land in the vicinity for oil within the last year, was skeptical, but reserved decision until more facts were available. There are some oil bearing formations in the vicinity, he said, but of doubtful value.

Phillips said he had been obtaining 120 gallons a day. He declared that his gasoline pumps were not leaking.

TRY POLICEMAN FIFTH TIME FOR BREACH OF RULES

Charge of Brandishing Gun Dismissed.

Policeman Henry Miles, colored, of the Warren avenue station was tried before the police trial board yesterday on charges that he drew a gun on another policeman in an argument over an arrest. According to the records of the civil service commission it was the fifth time that Miles has been before the board for violations of the police regulations. The charge yesterday was dismissed.

The case grew out of an altercation over wages between James Elicks, 1909 Maypole avenue, and one of his employés. The employé had appealed to Policeman Edward Wilkens and Wilkens was questioning both men when Miles rushed up, witnesses said. Miles, according to the testimony, placed a gun against Wilkens' ribs and asked Wilkens why he was interfering.

In his denial of the charges Miles said that the employé had appealed to him first and he had advised the swearing out of a warrant for Elicks. He said he had drawn his gun because a crowd had collected around Wilkens, but had not threatened the other policeman.

Miles' previous record, according to the civil service commission, is as follows:

June 5, 1914, given 30 days reserve duty for willful maltreatment of a prisoner.

Nov. 13, 1917, reprimanded for using coarse, profane, or insolent language to a citizen.

Dec. 8, 1923, suspended one day for inattention to duty.

Sept. 18, 1925, fined five days' pay for willful maltreatment of any person.

Miles aided in the investigation, which allegedly implicated Lieut. Phil Carroll in the slaying of Octavius Granady, colored opponent of Morris Eller for committeeman of the 20th ward in 1928. The case against Carroll was thrown out of court by Judge Joseph David.

ISRAEL BALABAN, VOTER 40 YEARS, IS NOT A CITIZEN

Israel Balaban, 68 years old, father of A. J. Balaban, one of the founders of the theater concern of Balaban & Katz, learned yesterday that he is not a citizen of the United States, although he has voted for eight Presidents. He made the discovery when denied a passport for a trip to Europe.

Balaban, a retired Chicago wholesale grocer, explained that a few years after his arrival in the United States from Russia in 1880 he filed his declaration of intention to become a citizen. Then finding himself able to vote he came to the conclusion that his citizenship had been established. He has voted for 40 years.

He sailed yesterday on the Berengaria for Europe without a passport. It was doubtful whether he would be allowed to land in England, as his son had attempted in vain to obtain a British visa. The French consul has also refused him permission to land in France. Cunard line officials will make further efforts in his behalf during the crossing.

TWO INDIANIANS CONVICTED OF ROLE OF "FIXERS"

Indianapolis, Ind., May 14.—[Special.]—Two prominent Indiana politicians who ran for office on good government tickets under sponsorship of the Ku Klux Klan and Anti-Saloon league were found guilty by a jury in federal court here today of operating a protective association for bootleggers and other liquor law violators.

Olib R. Holt, Kokomo attorney, was the klan favored candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1924, but failed to get the nomination. That was the year when the Republicans carried the primary and elected Ed Jackson as governor. In 1928 Holt ran for the United States senate and again was beaten, although he had the indorsement of E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league and of the D. C. Stephenson klan supported influence.

Convicted with Holt today was Ora C. Butler of Kokomo, who recently completed a term as sheriff of Howard county, a klan stronghold.

Sentence on the two men is to be passed May 24. The maximum penalty is two years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

As alleged operators of the Hoosier protective association, Holt and Butler charged bootleggers a $3 a week membership fees, it was alleged.

Chicago Girl's Query

"How Can I Attract?"

JOYCE R.—writes: "I am quite good looking, really, but Miss Fairfax, men don't know I'm alive! Other girls no better looking than I am, seem to attract men so easily. It must be their clothes—yet I buy the same styles they do and pay just as much. Miss Fairfax, what can I do—I do so want to be popular."

ANSWER: I am sure you are right, Joyce, in thinking it is their clothes—but don't worry—I'm going to let you in on a little secret that will help you.

Psychologists, my dear, know that color has a wonderful power to arouse the emotions. Especially colors worn by women.

That's why the clever people who design color effects devote years to studying the emotional reactions of men to colors. Every color in fabrics was actually worked out to be magnetic and alluring. All you have to do is:

FIRST: Choose the colors most becoming to you—then you will have the emotional power of color add a fascinating glamour.

SECOND: Remember that any noticeable fading lessens the emotional effect colors achieve.

But there is one sure way to preserve the original appeal of color to masculine emotions.

There is a famous product that is especially made to take out dirt without disturbing colors. If a color is safe in plain water alone, Lux will preserve all of its original magnetism. When you are always wearing colors that look like new, romance seeks you out. Beatrice Fairfax.

URGES PROJECT TO DOUBLE SPEED ON MICHIGAN AVE.

Park Board Hears Plan for New Traffic System

Traffic speeds on Michigan avenue between 22d street and North avenue may be increased by more than 100 per cent if a single control light system now being worked out is made effective, according to Leslie J. Sorenson, Chicago traffic engineer, who spoke before the Lincoln park board yesterday.

Mr. Sorenson appeared before the board yesterday to request the coöperation of that body with the city and the south parks board in a project to place all traffic lights between 22d street and North avenue under single control instead of under three separate controls as at present. The board indicated a desire to assist in the plan and referred the proposal to the boulevard committee.

The total cost of modernizing the present light control system between the two points would be about $50,000, Mr. Sorenson said. The board tentatively agreed to bear one-third of the cost.

Speed Up Fight on Tracks.

The present average auto speed along the boulevard between 22d street and North avenue is now not more than 11 miles an hour, but a central traffic light control would permit average speeds of 21 to 25 miles an hour, Mr. Sorenson asserted.

Word that the city council may vote on the proposed new transit ordinance on Monday accelerated the fight of the park board to force the Chicago Surface lines to remove its tracks on Lake Shore drive between Chicago avenue and Ohio street. The stretch of track was built under a temporary permit in 1920.

The park board, under the leadership of Commissioner Sheldon Clark launched a move to force removal of the tracks as a necessary step to the completion of the new boulevard link bridge and because street cars detract from the beauty of the drive.

"We're determined to bring this fight to a climax at once," Mr. Clark said yesterday. "Should the proposed new traffic ordinance, which includes this extension, pass as it now stands, such action would in effect legalize this stretch of track."

Seeks Alderman's Aid.

Mr. Clark will seek the aid of Ald. Dorsey Crowe [42d], he said. Col. William H. Beckman, counsel for the board, said he will confer with Ald. Crowe today. Beckman pointed out that a complaint of the board relative to the tracks is set for a hearing before the Illinois commerce commission on May 27.

Three Chicago banks, the First Trust and Savings, the Harris Trust, and the Continental Illinois, made the highest bid, 95.47, for a $1,800,000 bond issue authorized in connection with the construction of the outer link bridge, and this bid will be accepted, it was announced at the board meeting.

Miss Amelia Earhart, first woman to hop the Atlantic and holder of the flying speed record for women, made a forced landing at the condemned Cook County airport, Irving Park boulevard and Cumberland road, at dusk yesterday after playing hide and seek with low lying thunder clouds trying to find her way to Curtiss airport at Glenview.

Miss Earhart flew here yesterday from Indianapolis in her scarlet Lockheed Vega cabin plane. She will speak today before the advertising council of the Chicago Association of Commerce at a meeting in the La Salle hotel for the purpose of encouraging the use of air mail in Chicago.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LUBECK, Germany, May 14.—Terror has gripped parents in this city following the deaths of eight of 246 children who were given the Calmette anti-tuberculosis treatment. Twenty-six infants and young children are critically ill in hospitals. Further employment of the treatment has been prohibited pending investigations. The affected children all developed severe tubercular symptoms.

The Calmette treatment is named after the famous French bacteriologist, Prof. Calmette, who was assisted in his researches by Dr. Guerin of Paris. It has been widely and officially used in England, various parts of continental Europe, Japan, and other countries. It is estimated that 400,000 children in all have been treated. This was the first time it ever was tried in Germany.

The Lubeck supply came directly from Paris. Prof. Deyck, director of the Lubeck hospital, says there is no question of error in the administration of the Calmette treatment. The purity of the supply also is unquestioned, he said, since it was successfully tested on animals before being given the infants.

OTTO, HUNGARY'S SCHOOLBOY KING, BIDS FOR CROWN

17 Year Old Heir Sends Message to Royalists.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 14.—Seventeen year old Otto, heir to the throne of the Hapsburgs, but at present just a school boy studying in Brussels, lives in daily hope that somebody and preferably the Hungarians, will make him their king, according to the word brought back here by a delegation of Hungarian legitimists, who paid him a visit of encouragement at his "castle" in Stenockerzeel, Holland.

The Hungarian delegation, consisting of Count Josef Szechenyi, Anton von Gerenday, and Attila von Pallaghy, presented the young aspirant for a kingdom with a memorial book containing signatures of thousands of Hungarian royalists, who would welcome him back as king, if they and he got the chance.

Gives First Public Address.

The delegates reported young Otto not downhearted at all at his present predicament. He gave them, they said, his first public address.

Here it is, the first official pronouncement of the heir, whose proud family presided over the destinies of central Europe for six centuries:

"Please receive my most hearty thanks for the present you brought me from my home country," said Otto. "This proof of the loyalty of Hungarian youth causes in my heart an echo because I, too, belong to your youth.

"Crown Still Lives."

"In my mind the belief in God, the holy crown of St. Stephan and the fatherland still lives. If I live far away from my Hungarian fatherland, I am with it and will work for a better future for my country."

(Following the revolution of 1918 King Charles abdicated and Hungary was proclaimed an independent republic, of which Count Michael Karolyi was named provisional president. His régime lasted until March 21, 1919, when a dictatorship was set up. Later in the same year an opposition government, assisted by the Rumanian army, came into power. The period of revolutions was considered a blank space of time. It was resolved that the monarchical constitution should be continued and Hungary again became a monarchy with a vacant throne and the functions of a monarch being exercised by a regent, Admiral Count Horthy.)

DR. O. F. SCOTT EXONERATED IN INJURY SWINDLE

Dr. Orlando F. Scott, well known surgeon and psychiatrist, and Attorney Drake Berg, were exonerated yesterday of any blame in connection with a plot to swindle the Yellow Cab company by means of fake accidents. Attorney Benjamin Samuels, representing the cab company, told Judge Harry B. Miller before whom the cases were nolle prossed that at the time of indictment he advised the state's attorney's office against including Dr. Scott in the true bills.

Four Plead Guilty.

Four minor figures in the so-called conspiracy pleaded guilty and were sentenced to jail.

Milton Stone, who posed as the victim of the fake accident, and Charles Berman, so-called ambulance chaser, who, it is charged, concocted the idea of the swindle, were sentenced to 30 days each in the Bridewell. Miss Dorothy Van Hise, supposed passenger in the cab at the time of the accident and witness, was sentenced to one day in jail as was John Sullivan, driver of the cab, who was employed at the job only four days before. He, however, will get another sentence, it is expected, on another charge.

Stone Injured Previously.

Stone, who had been injured previously, was elected to be the victim in the fake accident when the cab was supposed to strike an elevated post at 43d street on Oct. 20.

Dr. Scott was the physician in the case. At the time he said that he had no knowledge of the plot and asked the state's attorney's office to investigate his conduct, before indicting. He showed his X-ray photographs, taken in an independent laboratory to prove that Stone had suffered a spinal injury, how he did not know, except as he was told by his patient.

ATLANTIC FLYER HOPS SOUTH TO SEE SWEETHEART

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, May 14.—(AP)—Jean Mermoz, French pilot, who with two companions yesterday conquered the south Atlantic by flying the first mail between Africa and Brazil, arrived here today by airplane from Natal, greeted his fiancée, and was hailed by a tumultuous multitude. The intrepid Frenchman was accompanied by his radio operator, M. Guimie, who flew a land plane from Natal to this city.

Officials of Campo Ibura flying field and governmental dignitaries greeted Mermoz. They delivered addresses of welcome and enthusiastically hailed his performance. Mermoz modestly replied. Mermoz said that when he and his companions saw Natal a feeling of great relief came to them.

Mermoz, who is 28, has been flying commercial planes several years. He said he would return to Natal tomorrow to prepare for a start for Dakar or St. Louis, Senegal, Africa, on Sunday.

His fiancée arrived today from Buenos Aires on the steamship Mendoza, which stopped at this port for two hours on the way to France.

ORDER BOOKS OF BROKER CONCERN IN BANK INQUIRY

Books and records of Charles Strauss & Co., brokers at 134 North La Salle street, were ordered produced before the grand jury this morning by Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle of the Criminal court when he issued a subpoena duces tecum yesterday at the request of Assistant State's Attorneys Henry Ayres and Leonard M. Rice. The records are material to the investigation into the affairs of the defunct City State bank of Chicago, the petition for the subpoena said.

The prosecutors allege that the records of the brokerage concern are necessary "with reference to the improper and unlawful conduct of the business of the bank, including the sale of the capital stock of the bank." The bank failed last November.

Charles L. Strauss, David Strauss, Ruth Strauss, Leonard I. Sutterman, Joseph R. Mendelsohn and Robert Belmont, are the officials of the Strauss company asked to appear with the records desired.

BYRD IN PANAMA AFTER 16 MONTHS IN THE ANTARCTIC

Canal Zone Welcomes Explorer with Zest.

BALBOA, Canal Zone, May 14.—(AP)—For the first time in a year and a half Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, the first man to fly over both the north and south poles, set foot on American territory today, returning from the southernmost regions of the world in the steamer Rangitki.

With him were five members of the expedition which made history in the antarctic—Lloyd Berkner, Charles E. Lofgren, William C. Haines, Richard Konter, and Russell Owen. They had remained at Dunedin, New Zealand, after leaving the polar regions, while most of the other members had gone either to the United States or the Canal Zone previously, or are traveling on the other Byrd ship, the City of New York.

Will Stay Two Weeks.

After about two weeks here, the time to be spent in assembling as many of the expedition members as possible, the party will steam to New York for a triumphal return to the homeland.

For the Canal Zone the arrival of the explorer probably was the biggest day since the Panama canal was opened. The party was welcomed with zest by the population in general, while for reporters and photographers it was a field day.

As one of his first acts, Admiral Byrd called upon Maj. Gen. Malin Craig, commandant of the Zone, while thirteen United States army fighting airplanes circled overhead in honor of the explorer.

Pays Tribute to Nansen.

The antarctic conqueror tonight paid tribute to Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, famed Norwegian explorer of the arctic, who died in Oslo yesterday.

"Although I never met Dr. Nansen," he said, "I, like all explorers, have always admired him and looked up to him. I was very sorry to hear of his death."

Besides his call on Gen. Craig today, Admiral Byrd reviewed a detachment of Boy Scouts, called on Col. Harry Burgess, governor of the Zone; on Roy T. Davis, the American minister, and on Admiral J. R. V. Blakeley, commandant of the Fifteenth Naval district.

Visits Republic of Panama.

This afternoon Admiral Byrd crossed into the Republic of Panama on an official visit. He first called on Foreign Minister J. D. Arosemena, and then talked to President Arosemena.

The explorer told the president he planned to take a rest at Boquete, in the mountains. The president said he would have the governor of Boquete meet the admiral's plane Monday with a car for the trip to the mountain sanctuary.

The visit to the president concluded Admiral Byrd's official functions for the day and then he turned to thoughts of lighter clothing. He purchased several tropic suits and doffed the garments that had served in the antarctic and later.

The Byrd expedition reached its climax on Nov. 29, when the commander wirelessed from the south pole at 7:55 a. m., Chicago time. He returned to his base in Little America at 4:10 p. m. that day, having flown with three companions to the goal of his ambitions.

From Aug. 25, 1928, when the bark City of New York left New York, until today, the expedition had been conducted not only with results that exceeded its hopes, but without the loss of a single member of the party.

The expedition arrived at the ice barrier on Dec. 25, 1928, and established the permanent base at Little America on Jan. 6. Ten days later the then Commander Byrd made his first antarctic airplane flight, exploring 1,200 miles of territory. On Feb. 18 he explored 40,000 square miles of unknown wastes between the base and the pole.

Lawrence Gould, geologist of the party, flew with Bernt Balchen and Harold June, on March 8, to the Rockefeller range. Eleven days later, Commander Byrd flew to their rescue and found them in trouble, with their plane wrecked.

The two scholarships given by the University of Chicago were awarded to Mary Ellison, Hyde Park High school, and Kathryn B. Wiedenhoeft, Schurz High school. Laura Hull, Marshall High school, is the alternate.

The All-Chicago Rotary club scholarship was awarded to William L. Simpson, Lindblom High school. The student is to select the university.

RUSSELL BANS TAGS WARNING NIGHT PARKERS

Threat to Arrest Motorist Not Authorized.

Commissioner of Police Russell yesterday ordered the discontinuance of the practice of placing yellow warning cards on automobiles parked in the streets overnight. Commissioner Russell said he had not authorized the use of the cards which have appeared lately on the north side.

A statement on the cards warns the automobile owner that his license number is on file with the police department with three violation of city ordinances charged against it. The autoist is further informed, over the name of Commissioner Russell, that if the license is reported a second time a capias for the owner's arrest will be issued and the car towed to the municipal garage.

"The presence of my name on the cards and the use of them has not been authorized by me," said Commissioner Russell. "Apparently some one has left the cards at the police stations and the policemen thought they should use them because my name appeared."

Automobile owners receiving the tickets complained to Commissioner Russell. They charged that the practice is a scheme of garage owners to force motorists to rent garage space instead of parking in front of homes.

Members of the Garage Owners' association appeared recently before the council finance committee and urged the aldermen to order Russell to tag cars, as has been done by some previous commissioners. The committee took no action, and a delegation of the garage owners who called on Russell is said to have been told by the commissioner that he would not use the police force to aid their business.

WIDOW, 101, DIES IN EYES OF LAW, BUT STILL LIVES

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

SAN JUAN, P. R., May 14.—Officially dead and possessed of a death certificate, but very much alive in fact, is Juana Gonzalez, a 101 year old widow of Pueblo Viejo, Porto Rico's first town, founded by Ponce de Leon. Its name means "old town," or "old people."

The question of how to cancel the certificate has been referred to the attorney general, with the possibility that a court order, or even legislation, may be necessary.

Two grandsons of Señora Gonzalez, believing her dead, took all legal steps and made other preparations for burial. The purchase of a coffin and obtaining of a burial permit required more than five hours. Returning home, they found their grandmother was alive and the death certificate was useless. A physician's statement convinced the civil registry clerk that Señora Gonzalez was not dead, but he could find no law permitting cancellation of the registry entry.

INVESTIGATE CICERO DEATH.

Authorities are investigating the sudden death of Joseph Blazis, 46 years old, 1215 South 51st avenue, Cicero, who died at his home on Tuesday. According to the police, a physician refused to sign a death certificate yesterday, saying that he could not determine the cause of death.

U.S. TAKES BOOKS OF CONTRACTORS IN INCOME QUIZ

Canal District Case Goes to Grand Jury Today.

Books and records of the W. J. Newman Wrecking company and W. J. Newman & Co., 19 North Curtis street, were seized by federal authorities on a search warrant yesterday on the eve of the opening of the renewed sanitary district investigation by the state's attorney's office. Neither the state nor federal authorities would comment on the seizure of the records of the large contracting concerns.

The search warrant was issued by Judge Walter C. Lindley of the United States District court as a result of affidavits filed by internal revenue agents which stated that records submitted through T. F. Gayer, auditor of the company, of which 1927 and 1928 income tax was computed, were not the true records of the corporations. A willful attempt to evade payment of the full income tax is charged.

It is charged that an investigation of records of other corporations has revealed that the Newman companies' incomes are in excess of those shown by the tax records.

Seize Bundles of Checks.

The deputy United States marshals took possession of 36 bundles of canceled checks of the companies, which were paid out for purposes other than pay rolls, and 32 bundles of checks on the personal corporation account of W. J. Newman. The checks, along with the ledgers, journals, and other records, were turned over to the intelligence unit of the internal revenue department.

The Newman companies have one of the largest contracting businesses in the city, specializing in excavation, wrecking, and teaming work. The companies have done considerable county and city work, as well as sanitary district work, it is reported.

First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup, who has devoted nearly a year in gathering evidence for his new sanitary district investigation, will have a special grand jury called this morning in Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle's Criminal court. He is prepared to start submitting his evidence the minute the jury is sworn in.

To Hear of $1,000,000 Job.

The special jury, which will serve only until the end of the month, will first listen to evidence about the building of the cinder bridle path adjoining the north shore channel road at a cost of more than $1,000,000. This work was done under the old board of sanitary district trustees, of which Timothy J. Crowe was president.

The evidence will disclose, it is reported, that the district paid for a much larger quantity of cinders than was actually put on the path. It also will be brought out that the district rebought its own cinders to put on the path, it is said.

CLAIM CROW TALKS, IS WELL EDUCATED, FOND OF CHILDREN

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 14.—(AP)—Persons living near the Soo—fishermen and the like—declare there is a talking crowd living in the woods near here.

They assert that the big black bird shows a fondness for young people and frequently is seen near where children are playing. The crow will answer questions and is a good mimic, they claim. One fisherman said the bird appeared to be well educated.

FAKER OF GREAT MASTERS FACES PRISON AND FAME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 14.—Paul Cazeau, the former house painter with the handlebar mustaches, who put the manufacture of fake art on a mass production basis, today faces a possible five years' imprisonment because of his swindles, but stands a good chance of seeing his canvases become almost as valuable as if the initials they bear were authentic.

Since the arrest of Cazeau and his accomplice, Jean Charles Millet, grandson of the painter of "The Angelus," the bottom has dropped out of the market for Millets, Monets, and Cezannes and other 19th century masters, but a lively demand has developed for authentic Cazeaus.

Today the newspaper La Liberté seriously suggests an exhibition to place side by side Cazeau's fakes and the authentic paintings of the masters whose work he imitated. The paper admits that Cazeau is a great crook, but declares he must be a great artist as well, and that some of his imitations are probably better than the originals. Inquiry discloses that art dealers are flooded with demands for Cazeau canvases.

Wolves Raid Bridal Feast; Roasts and Desserts Vanish

BEIRA ALTA, Portugal, May 14.—(AP)—Two uninvited guests today attended a large outdoor wedding banquet at Queijeiras and as a consequence the other guests had no refreshments. During the feast two huge wolves suddenly trotted into the assembly of farmers. The guests fled shrieking and the wolves unconcernedly devoured the roast pigs and lambs and licked up enormous dishes of sweetened rice. Then they departed, carrying off two live goats, before men could reappear with guns.

Montreal Opens $10,000,000 Bridge to Speed Up Traffic

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., May 14.—Montreal's new $10,000,000 bridge, connecting the island of Montreal with the south mainland, was opened for traffic today. It will be used practically entirely by motor traffic and will relieve the congestion on the old Victoria bridge of the Canadian National Railways. A third bridge is to be erected connecting the island with the south shore. The new bridge will do away with ferry service at Caughnawaga-Lachine.

ARREST TRIO IN STILL RAID.

Woodlawn police under Lieut. Thomas Flannigan yesterday raided a basement at 932 East 65th street and destroyed four 500 gallon vats of moonshine whisky and a 200 gallon still. They arrested William Brill, 6450 Ingleside avenue; Joseph Petrazla, 6830 Langley avenue, and Albert McCain, 529 Englewood avenue.

3 FAITHS HEARD IN PLEA TO DISARM RELIGIOUS BIAS

Talk from Same Banquet Table at Conference.

RABBI STEPHEN S. WISE.

St. Louis, Mo., May 14.—(AP)—Apostles of three faiths, a Protestant, a Jew, and a Catholic, spoke from the same banquet table tonight and each pleaded for dissipation of religious prejudices.

They spoke on a seminar program, described as a "religious prejudice disarmament conference," attended by some of the nation's outstanding leaders in all three faiths. There was to a lowest common denominator, but rather to bring about a better understanding and appreciation of the different beliefs.

Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr of the Union Theological seminary, New York, said that "nowhere in the world is the task of creating some degree of comity between various religious communities more urgent than here in America."

Urges Honest Analysis.

He urged creation of comity by enlarging upon common possessions, aspirations, and traditions, and by an honest analysis of differences.

He saw a common faith between the Jew, the Catholic, and the Protestant in their ethical theism, their hope in a better world. He was of the opinion that much of what passes for religious prejudice is merely "the religious sanctification of race prejudice."

The Rev. John A. McClorey, S. J., of the University of Detroit, deplored the "dogma of religion." He described culture in America, but said religion must be added for virtue in life. Religion, he said, has fallen into desuetude and has been rejected largely because of the injection of personal speculation, private opinion, and political views.

Solved by Spiritual Weapons.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of the Free synagogue of New York pleaded for higher intelligence and finer sympathy to dispel prejudice and ill will. He said that "a policy of calculated unfriendliness toward the Jew" must be fought, but that the weapons to be wielded "are not carnal or outward, but inward and spiritual.' '

Such prejudice, he said, "represents a world attitude which for centuries has stimulated the Jews' spirit of forebearance toward them that wronged us." The process of education, he added, "must end the Christ killing lie about the Jew and affirm anew the Christ bearing truth of the Jew in the world."

A survey of relations between the three faiths was begun at round table discussions today and will continue through tomorrow.

The issues of war and bolshevism in religion were ruled out at the opening session.

Have Solicitors Stopped Using Name Like Theirs

Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan yesterday issued a temporary injunction restraining Morris Rubin, Jake Kirchmer and Mrs. Lulu Breen from soliciting charity in the name of "Lighthouse, Inc." The action was brought by the Improvement Association for Blind People, which operates the Chicago Lighthouse, an accredited charity, after an investigation by the better business bureau.

TRIES TO GET COP'S GUN: SHOT.

The Blow-Out Proof Tire

. . . Hailed as the greatest Safety advancement in modern motoring!

THE amazing acceptance of the new Blow-Out Proof Dual-Balloon has no precedent in tire history. The answer is this: the blow-out proof tire is the only way to match the power and speed of today's cars and today's driving conditions.

At today's road speed if a tire blows out the best you can hope for is an open field with no ditch to stop you. It's a split second from blow-out to crash—with no time to think or act. You're off the road or head-on into approaching traffic before you can move. Don't risk it.

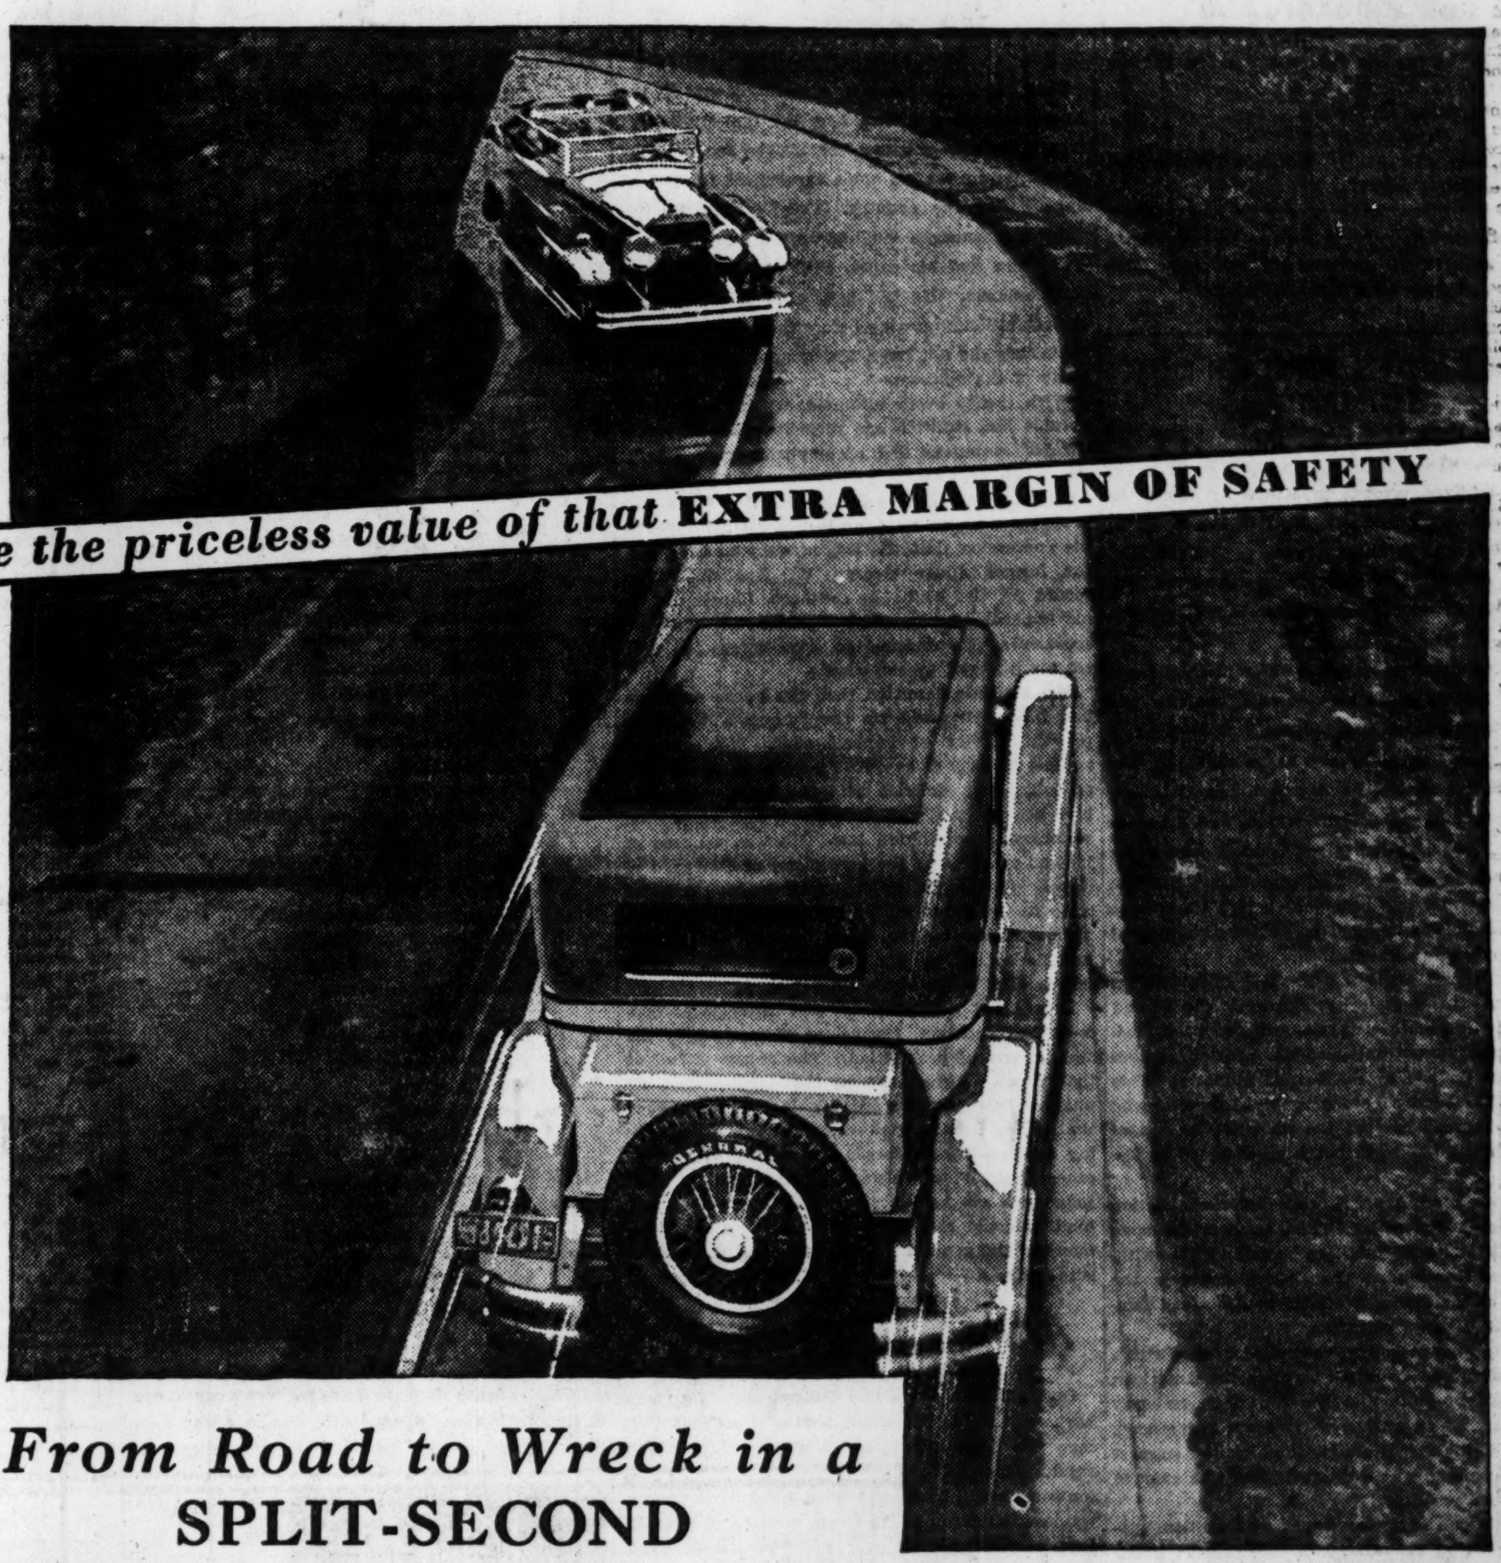
No matter what your speed or where you travel, you need the protection of the New General Blow-Out Proof Dual-Balloon. It ends blow-outs—it minimizes every tire hazard. You can trust it on any road, in any weather, at any speed. Double safety in those split-second emergencies when it's stop, quick-turn or crash.

Extra softness under the surface that lasts as long as the tire itself means closer-clinging, skid-safe traction.

Lower pressure and built-in rubber shock absorbers give a new sensation of softer, easier riding on any road at any speed. Extra layers of soft cushion rubber prevent overheating and inside wear . . . and this thicker cushioning absorbs the heavy impacts that cause blow-outs in stiffer tires.

That Extra margin of safety in the Dual-Balloon is yours throughout the whole lifetime of its big mileage . . . mileage that outlasts your car.

Split seconds that make you realize the priceless value of that EXTRA MARGIN OF SAFETY



From Road to Wreck in a SPLIT-SECOND

WHEN a front tire "blows" at high speed, you're into the ditch before you can reach the brake. No time to think—less time to act . . . Even at moderate speed you're off the road or head-on into approaching cars in a flash. Then—costly damage, permanent injury. It's a cruel penalty for a tiny temporary economy! Don't risk it. . . . No longer need any motorist face the hazard of a fatal wreck through blow-out. Let us equip your car now with the tire that eliminates all the risk of blow-out.

Exclusive Features:

1. Blow-Out Proof
2. Easier Riding
3. Extra Strength
4. Longer Life
5. Skid-Safe
6. Reduced Car Repairs
7. Saves Power and Gas
8. Easier Steering

THE LADIES RENDER OUR HOMAGE.

The first court of the London season was held last night, when the king and queen of Great Britain received persons presented by the diplomatic representatives accredited to the court of St. James's in the throne room of Buckingham palace. A number of American women were thus introduced at court through the American embassy.

The circumstances were not different from those of other courts and other presentations, but the event had its own significance. This year a British made naval treaty is pending in the United States senate, having been negotiated by the secretary of state, Mr. Stimson, and his associates in the delegation to the London conference. It has been signed by the agents of the American government and has been laid before the senate by the administration for the advice and consent necessary to its ratification.

It is a British made treaty. It confirms Great Britain in naval superiority, and by it the United States, if the senate consents, will accept a position in sea power intended to protect British security as defined by the British ministry. This in effect has been conceded by Mr. Stimson, who has told the senate that the essential factors of control of the sea have not been included in the treaty.

American foreign policy and diplomatic action have been influenced by British aristocratic caste having distinctions which can be extended or withheld. Presentation at the British court is the greatest of the favors available to American families seeking social elevation.

It is a form of patronage controlled by the British foreign office and exercised through the American department of state and the American embassy in London. The granting of the favor is intended, as in all forms of patronage, to enlist the support of the persons given it and enjoying whatever to them are its benefits.

The American party in power seeks political support by putting the American government under obligation to the British government.

The American embassy in London becomes an agent to express American fealty to the British crown.

FIFTEEN POUNDS OLDER.

Her new clothes make a woman "fat and dowdy looking," says a critic in Vox Pop, and the long skirts and molded corseting add fifteen years or more to her age. The critic—whether man or woman is not disclosed—seems to have a realistic eye, although an untactful expression, and behind the modern woman's acceptance of the styles he seems to find mute fear in her that pounds and years are added to her appearance.

Though it is true, no doubt, that she looks ten years older and twenty pounds heavier in the new styles, this should not be cause for fear or deep depression. Age and weight are natural concomitants in many persons, and, if the new long skirts and molded figures give such natural developments an emphasis, perhaps they deserve emphasis. The modern woman may not like the added age and weight that the new styles give to her appearance, but she has at least the satisfaction of being in the mode, of obeying without much question the dictates of the French designers' clique, and of standardizing her appearance.

The power of man over woman is well shown here. Not only is her comfort and free action but her youth and slenderness of appearance sacrificed to what the professional style makers have decided, and woman as usual makes the sacrifice. Clearly the Frenchmen, with their Napoleonic codes, know how to handle women. Of this the new styles offer a supreme example. They make her older and heavier, and they make her like it.

GUANTANAMO BLUES.

A navy wife writes of Guantanamo in a recent Liberty, and angry navy men have been protesting ever since. The lack of recreational facilities on or about the great naval base, the crowded little towns, the dances greatly overmanned, the heat and dreariness of the place to those not immediately on duty is admitted. Guantanamo is a "hole" that navy men notoriously dislike. But the caveman tactics of the officers and men mobbing ashore after a long cruise, the gin and women and domestic latitudes described by her, have raised resentment. All ports, they say, are wild and crowded when the ships come in, and U. S. navy men and navy bases are no worse than others.

True as this protest is, the fact remains that Guantanamo base needs more facilities for handling men ashore. The fleet goes there every winter for several weeks or months. Last winter the combined fleets of the United States were based there for maneuvers. Each year some 30,000 men—sometimes more, sometimes less—take their liberties ashore upon that naval base. The officers may go ashore daily after 4 p. m.; the enlisted men are given part of Saturday or a week-end. Only a poor baseball field, a swimming tank, a tennis court or so and reading rooms and pool for officers and men are there for recreation. They are small, dreary, quite inadequate, and men and officers in general have only hot and lonesome shores and the little clapboard hamlet of Caimanera to find their pleasures in. No large town is near by to take up the recreational slack. No natural facilities are there to give relief. The provisions by the U. S. government to meet the problem there are poor.

Navy men work hard. Their liberties ashore are limited in time and at best cut down in scope and interest by low pay and stern restrictions. For the sake of their morale and their good tempers Guantanamo and its surroundings should be made attractive to men on shore liberty. Much can be done to help things out. Roads and cheap bus service to nearby cities should be encouraged. Clubs for men and officers and other recreational facilities should be much expanded. The navy wife sang her Guantanamo Blues with bitterness, but the fault is less with wives and men than with the dreariness around them. The U. S. government can civilize Guantanamo and make the navy happy.

MR. McBRIDE ON PROHIBITION.

Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, has had the opportunity of several days as a witness before the senate lobby committee to put the noble experiment in its best light before the country. Only one of the inquisitorial senators could be regarded as unfriendly to him and his cause, that one being Blaine of Wisconsin. He has had what the opponents of prohibition appearing before the committee conspicuously did not have, the sympathy of the majority of the quizzers.

With nearly every circumstance of inquiry favorable Mr. McBride has turned in a murky picture of ambitions and accomplishments confirming much of what is justly charged against the doctrines and practices of Volsteadism. There was probably nothing murkier in his testimony than his confession that the league went to the front for former Judge George W. English, whose record on the bench in southern Illinois led to his impeachment by the national house of representatives. He resigned six days before the time set for his trial by the senate.

Mr. McBride admitted that the house members had been canvassed by the league lobbyists to prevent a vote of impeachment. The charges against English came out of his excessive conduct as judge and McBride said the league defended him because he was aggressive and severe on violators of prohibition law. He was accused of judicial tyranny on the bench and of disregard of rights. In this judicial behavior he was a judge close to the affections of the Anti-Saloon league, which endeavored to keep him in court with jurisdiction as to life and liberty. The effort failed. The judge himself deserted it.

It was not necessary for Mr. McBride to concede that coercion, regardless of method, is the highest law of prohibition. The record is full of that proof. Agreement on the question is now unanimous. Furthermore, Mr. McBride confessed that when expedient a congressman with drinking habits will be indorsed and that qualifications other than as to Volstead are negligible in the judgments of the league. The case against prohibition could rest for a day or so on the testimony of the general superintendent of this moralistic body.

SMALL HARBORS FOR CHICAGO.

On its 25 mile shore line Chicago has only three harbors suitable for small boats. North of Chicago the canal at Wilmette offers shelter. Beyond Wilmette the shore is without a port except for commercial boats and navy craft clear to Milwaukee. Jackson park, Grant park, and Lincoln park now offer havens for small boats under sail or power, and they are used by thousands during the summer months. More small harbors scattered along every mile or so from Indiana to Milwaukee will develop yachting in Chicago as motoring is now developed. An island harbor, hotel, and recreation center, built on land from dumpings and waste rock six miles off the Chicago shore, will complete the plan. It will more than pay its way in added tourist, yachting, and hotel business.

With a few additional breakwaters the government can make harbors, not now suitable for small boats, of great value to the yachtsman. The harbor north of Navy pier needs protection from the northern and eastern winds. The harbor off Grant park needs protection from the southern and eastern winds. With the cities of the east receiving federal appropriations for extensive harbors, it is time that Chicago asked for a western share. A system of breakwaters and small harbors from Chicago to Milwaukee would not be too much for the middle west.

Chicago and the north shore towns need more small harbors. What the boulevards have been for motoring, small harbors and an inner system of waterways can be for water travel.

FOR SALE CHEAP: A HAREM.

[New York World.]

The Sun, in a dispatch from H. J. Greenwall, brings to light one of the most distressing situations that we ever heard of. It centers around the harem of His Majesty Sidi Mohammed Ben Moulay Youssuf Ben Moulay El Hassan, sultan of Morocco. His majesty, it seems, has one legal wife, although the law allows him four, but has in addition a harem of 1,000 women.

Now, the sultan is a home-loving man, fond of his wife, fond of his little boy, and not at all fond of the harem. In the second place, he is only twenty years old, and his wife is only nineteen. In the third place, the harem is anywhere from thirty to seventy; it is, in fact, a harem of old women, one that he inherited from his father and his grandfather, both of whom were great harem boys, and one that he is bound by family tradition to lodge, feed and clothe. So there he is. The harem does nothing but eat, and costs the state 8,000,000 francs a year. For variation, now and then it makes loud complaints about the quality of the food and in other ways manages to make itself quite a problem. And we are bound to say, although we have given the matter a great deal of thought, that we can think of nothing to do about it.

So, alas, we cannot be of much help. We should be glad to hear from his majesty now and then, though, so we will know how things are going on.

WHAT TO DO?

Senator Tydings yesterday brought up the old question about the government poisoning the alcohol intended for commercial purposes. The senator is very strong against continuing the practice of loading the commercial alcohol up with deadly killing things. The idea is to keep people from drinking it. But it doesn't, and it doesn't even make 'em sorry, because they're so often dead before they have a chance to be sorry. We've suggested several things—such as buttermilk, spinach, onions, and sauerkraut being put into the commercial alcohol to make people leave it alone, but the government wouldn't take our advice. Now we've got some more ideas. Wrap every package of commercial alcohol up in a copy of the Congressional Record. Then they'd leave it alone. Or put a phonograph in the bottom of every barrel that would play that radio song, "Cottage For Sale," every time some scofflaw tried to get a drink. Gosh! They'd drop it and run. Anyhow, poisoning the stuff hasn't done any good; people get used to anything and they've begun to think the prussic acid and T. N. T. that the government puts into alcohol improves the taste and gives it a kick. Well, we're back where we started. What to do?

BEADS.

Upon the thread of your life
Were strung many beads
Of many colors;
Here was a white one
For the day of your birth,
Whiteness of a blank page
Awaiting the scrawling
Of a yet helpless hand;
Here was a pink one,
Reminiscent of those
Dawn-flushed mornings
When ducks flew
Over the great river,
And fish rose
To the eager pull
Of a boyish hand;
Here was a blue one,
Clear as the sky
Which witnessed your marriage
To the girl you loved;
Here was a lavender one
Breathing of lilac bushes
Which for many springs
Perfumed the mornings
Of those halcyon days;
Here was a green one,
Harbinger of those
Fits of jealousy
Which broke through the lavender
Like streaks of vicious lightning;
Here was a brown one,
The day she left you forever;
Here was a gray one,
Long days and longer nights,
Gray skies, gray throughts
Tinctured ever with the hope
Of happiness to come;
Here was a purple one,
Breath of the southland,
Palm trees, indolence,
Moonlit patios,
Spanish kisses,
Forgetfulness
For a little while;
And here was a black one,
Welcome, stranger!
Many beads were strung
Upon the thread of your life,
But now they are all

that smiled upon a solemn shadowed face.

Yes, when you had played I thought of death

BLOOD TREATMENT OF SHINGLES.

RARELY is shingles of any importance except for the pain and inconvenience it causes and its duration. The man who develops it expects to have a good deal of pain, to be inconvenienced by sores in inconvenient locations, and to be uncomfortable for more than a week, but he does not expect to die, or even to quit work and take to his bed. He expects to need some doses of salicylates to ease his neuralgic pains and to be under the necessity of wearing bandages over ointment-covered gauze, but in spite of that he anticipates pain and ulcers which will be weeks in healing.

Some physicians are using a method with which Dr. B. B. Beeson gives his experience. It consists of drawing one-third of an ounce of blood from the sick man and injecting it immediately into his muscle, not near the ulcers. In some cases one such injection cures. In others a daily injection is given for about three days. The claim is made that the first injection ends the pain in most cases and that in less than a week the sores are no longer troublesome.

This method of treatment has been in use for almost seven years, and there are a small number of physicians with reports of results that satisfy. The use of similar blood injections for somewhat related skin troubles has had some vogue for nearly twenty years. None of the physicians who use this method claim to know how it acts or why. Nor do they claim it to be a perfect treatment. All they say is that it gives the promptest relief and the speediest cures of any proposed method.

The proper name for shingles is herpes zoster, the first word referring to the kind of ulcers and the second to their location. Underlying it is some change in the roots of the nerves serving the areas where the ulcers are located. It is the common belief that all forms of herpes are the result of infections, though this theory does not satisfactorily explain all the stomach sores on the lips. The infecting microbes are those of pneumonia and malaria and maybe some others. Some cases are supposed to be due to viruses of unknown nature. The best treatment will be some serum which will be specific for the microbe or virus which causes the trouble. But since there seem to be several possible causes we may wait a long time for such a specific treatment.

WHAT PELLAGRA IS.

M. C. F. writes: Will you define pellagra—its cause and cure?

REPLY.

Pellagra is a deficiency disease caused by prolonged use of a diet that is low in lean meat and some other foods. The deficient vitamin is sometimes called P-p, and sometimes by other names.

It is prevented by eating a diet richer in lean meats, salmon, and good vegetables. It is cured by eating yeast or yeast extracts, lean meats, canned salmon, and good vegetables and fruits.

2. I have been told that recent experiments have proved cod liver oil to be poisonous to the human system. Is that true?

3. Will the taking of mineral oil affect the bowels so that later on they cannot function without the oil or a cathartic?

REPLY.

1. Anybody can buy liver extract. It will not cause you to put on weight. "Building up the system" is pretty vague.

2. The statement is one part correct and ninety-nine parts incorrect.

3. The mineral oil habit is not a bad one. There is little basis for the statement quoted.

Please tell me what causes it and if there is any cure for it. I have tried sleeping pills but they are effective for only a few hours.

REPLY.

You are not justified in taking sleeping pills. They are ineffective and dangerous and they are likely to cause a habit. The cure of insomnia consists in learning to relax physically, mentally, and emotionally. That is a matter of training.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 15, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Secretary of War Stanton announced further details of the capture of Jeff Davis on May 10 as received from Maj. Gen. J. H. Wilson at Macon, Ga. Davis was caught while attempting to escape in his wife's clothes. He, his wife, sisters, and mother were surprised at daybreak at Irwinville, Ga., 75 miles from Macon. The successful taking of the president of the confederacy was marred by a painful mistake by which the 4th Michigan cavalry, under Lieut. Col. D. B. Pritchard, and the 1st Wisconsin, commanded by Lieut. Col. Harden, came into a conflict. As the latter advanced it was mistaken for the enemy and fired upon. A fight occurred, both regiments exhibiting the greatest determination. It was 15 minutes before the mistake was discovered. Two men of the 4th Michigan were killed and Lieut. Boutle was wounded. Four men of the 1st Wisconsin were wounded. The firing in this skirmish was the first warning Davis had that federal troops were near. Gen. Wilson's report continues: "The captors report that Davis hastily put on one of his wife's dresses and started for the woods, closely followed by our men, who at first thought him a woman, but seeing his boots while he was running, they suspected his sex at once. The race was a short one. The rebel president was soon brought to bay. He brandished a bowie knife and showed signs of battle, but yielded promptly to the persuasion of Colt's revolvers, without compelling the men to fire. He expressed great indignation at the energy with which he was pursued, saying he believed our government too magnanimous to hunt down women and children. Mrs. Davis remarked to Col. Harden after the excitement was over that the men had better not provoke the president or he might hurt some of them. The party evidently were making for the coast."

NEW YORK.—The Times Special from Raleigh, N. C., says: "The destitution of the people of North Carolina is terrible. The country is devastated and its immediate vicinity ruined. Old men and women with but a single garment to cover their half-starved forms are begging in the streets of Raleigh."

CHICAGO.—John K. Livesey and Miss Antonetta Woodard were married on May 10 by the Rev. Mr. Kenyon. A. S. Goodrich of Rockford, Ill., and Miss Josephine Losee of Sharon, Wis., were married at Sharon on May 11 by the Rev. S. D. Vandorem.

CHICAGO.—Work on the federal building is to be resumed immediately, regardless of the demands of Chicago labor unions or existing labor troubles. Contractor John A. Peirce will employ any capable man regardless of his affiliations with labor unions, Architect Henry Ives Cobb announced. The national government will be asked to protect any nonunion men employed.

HAVANA.—The extent of the Cuban postal frauds is far greater than originally supposed. The frauds seem to include the local office at Havana and various other offices throughout the island. The result of the local investigation has been the suspension of Postmaster Edward Thompson, appointed from Indianapolis. He will remain in his home for the present. Reeves and Reynolds, auditors for the postoffice department, are still under arrest.

CHICAGO.—The temperature rose yesterday to 86 at 4 p. m. Three deaths and four prostrations from the heat were reported.

WASHINGTON.—The United States Supreme court sustained the validity of the inheritance tax levied under the war revenue law, as well as the right of the government to tax government bonds. The court held that it is not a direct tax, and hence is not prohibited by the constitution.

LONDON.—Gen. Buller's movement on Helpmakaar is exploited in the afternoon papers as a great victory for the British arms. The morning papers, however, regard it only as an important move which may later develop into a decided advantage. Gen. Buller's turning of the Biggarsburg position was effected by a bold movement. The Boers evacuated Helpmakaar, but made a stand at Bleskoplaagte, seven miles from Dundee.

LONDON.—English papers are attacking Richard Croker because of Tammany's efforts to make heroes of the Boer peace delegates, and if he wants to continue his life as a country gentleman in England he probably will have to call off the Tammany activities.

In the battles heavy losses were suffered by both sides.

CHICAGO'S GROWTH.

Battlefield, Mo., May 12.—From the press dispatches I see that the next census report will give Chicago more than 3,350,000. As an old time printer and newspaper man I become retrospective. And a little incident in my life forcibly impresses on my mind the wonderful growth of Chicago. When a young man in country newspaper business in western Iowa, an elderly Methodist minister, the Rev. Mr. Lawton, come into my office regularly to look over the exchanges. One day he became retrospective and told me of some of his early experiences in the ministry as a Methodist circuit rider. At one time he had three towns on his charge and with horse and saddlebags he would visit each in turn. One of those three towns it took to make a charge was Fort Dearborn, now Chicago, the city of 3,350,000 population, and a more substantial city has never been built.

It hardly seems credible or possible that such a city could be built within the span of time of only a part of the lives of two men.

L. E. HOLLOWELL.

AGAINST THE NAVAL TREATY.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 9.—The naval treaty, when its terms are fully understood, is certain to arouse profound distrust of the present administration. Public displeasure with the members of the naval mission if they should continue to regard complaisantly the evident intention of Hoover and his fellow internationalists to misrepresent the proposed agreement to the American people is more than likely to become a permanent and serious handicap in the public career of each. It would seem that among the delegates to the recent conference might be found one at least with an eye to his own political reputation, if not to his plain duty, astute enough to come forward publicly with the unqualified admission that the ratification by the senate of the London pact would entail and is deliberately intended to effect abject surrender of the principle of naval equality with Britain—in short, deliberate acceptance of an inferior political status for this nation, with its long train of evil consequences.

The administration in this instrument proposes ridiculous concessions both to Japan and to Britain, likely, if approved, to gray the hairs of American naval strategists for a generation to come, even though the next administration were to be headed by an able leader, bending his full energies to the repair of the destruction wrought by the policies of the present incumbent. The Hoover régime and its supporters have sidestepped every challenge to show that ratification would produce an iota of advantage to this country, and they have sidestepped with good reason. The departments of defense under the proposed agreement would be stripped of power to assure the American people safety from attack, while the British and Japanese positions are immeasurably improved.

This clever treaty practically is a guarantee to competitive nations that in event of war with us the theater of major operations could be localized in American waters rather than along hostile shores. Scores of wealthy, populous American cities would be exposed constantly to bombardment, perhaps capture and destruction, by great numbers of enemy converted cruisers raiding at will, while necessity compelled the remote concentration of every available vessel of the crippled American fleet to parry the menace of enemy onslaughts in force upon vital points. No other nation is faced with the serious problem of protecting so many of its own colossal cities exposed to sea attack and no other nation is so little concerned with the risk.

Yet the Hoover administration, deaf to the entreaties of experienced strategists, deaf, indeed, to the wishes of the vast majority of the American people, whose confidence in the soundness of judgment of their high naval officers has not been shaken by the ceaseless vitriol spewed from internationalist sources, not only persists in the weak and futile policy of conciliating possible adversaries through important and possibly fatal concessions in military strength, but in the London naval treaty actually proposes to carry its folly to the extreme of smashing the backbone of the American fleet, crippling it incredibly practically for the duration of the treaty, by scrapping three battleships long before the cruisers authorized by the cruiser law can be completed.

In view of the perceived purpose of the administration to seize the flimsiest pretext to sabotage the cruiser program, the senate would assume a heavy responsibility were it to approve a pact prepared in their own terms and backed by avowed enemies of adequate naval protection. Senate concurrence simply would aid the pacifist purpose of whittling away the American navy little by little through employment of first one expedient and then another. For there is more than reasonable ground for the suspicion that the administration, flushed by its success if permitted by senate ratification of this treaty to hack another huge slice from existing naval forces, would confidently resume its obstruction of the cruiser program and would seek means to delay, if not to defeat completely, the naval legislation now under preparation in the house.

The basic contention of the administration, supported by the racketeers of internationalism, that these wholesale military concessions make for "world peace" is rapidly becoming the laughing stock of sensible people. The "world peace" slogan of the internationalist and pacifist rackets has had its day with the American people and is scheduled for speedy shelving with the stretching list of discredited gold bricks, domestic and international, which have so frequently belied the boasted Yankee sagacity. STEPHEN DECATUR GRACE.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE.

Chicago, May 5.—I would like to suggest for the mayoralty a man who, if elected, would certainly bring about a big change in administration. Julius Rosenwald stands forth in my mind. He has learned efficiency from the management of large business. Then he is a philanthropist rather than a grafter. His wealth enables him to give rather than to take. He may not have a great deal of knowledge about politics, but then isn't what he knows better than negligence and mismanagement as practiced by the present administration?

ROBERT WECLEW.

YOU GUYS.

Flat Rock, Ill., May 6.—You guys up there at Chicago give me a pain beefing about not getting your share of the representatives in the state legislature. After reading the article in Prairie Farmer about Chicago not paying her share of the taxes, I believe you have more representatives now than you are entitled to. Ninety per cent of you fellows don't pay your taxes and think it smart to get out of it. If you paid your share, we downstaters would think lots more of you. In fact, I believe the rest of the state would be better off if Chicago wasn't in it.

RESIDENTS YIELD TO INDUSTRY IN SO. SIDE WARDS

Census Figures on Factory Area Announced.

Growing industrial activity on the south side has brought about a reduction in the number of residents in several south side wards, census figures for five south side wards disclosed yesterday. At the same time the figures showed substantial growth in the new residential sections.

The population of the fifth south side ward, the 20th, was made public yesterday by Joseph E. Vesely, chairman of the 1930 census supervisory committee and head of the business research committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce. These figures showed that the 20th ward now has 33,744 residents.

Give Way to Industries.

This ward, which has many colored residents, is bounded by the south branch of the Chicago river, Polk street, South Halsted street, Taylor street, South Racine avenue, and Fisk street. While the survey of populations in Chicago's 50 wards made in 1921 following the redistricting of wards showed the 20th to have a population of 55,511, representing a decrease since then of 21,766, Mr. Vesely attributed this gradual decrease to the fact that the residential sections have given way to manufacturing enterprise.

The census figures for the five south side wards so far tabulated and the comparison with the figures of the 1921 survey follow:

Second	49,231	55,468
Third	68,640	57,927
Eleventh	47,669	52,427
Ninth	72,421	55,994
Twentieth	33,744	55,511
Totals	271,705	277,327

These figures show a decrease for these wards of 5,622. However, the 20th and 11th wards are largely industrial communities. The 2d and 3d have a heavy population of Negroes. The 9th ward is the only one of the five considered largely residential. Its population has increased 16,427 since 1921. The 9th ward comprises the Pullman, Roseland, Kensington, and Sheldon Park section:

River Forest Figures Double.

River Forest has more than twice the population it had in 1920, according to the census figures. The present population of the village is 8,901, an increase of 4,543 over its population of 4,358 in 1920.

The 1930 population of Riverside was disclosed at 6,660. This compares with the 1920 census which showed Riverside's population to be 2,532. North Riverside also showed a substantial growth. The 1930 figures showed the population to be 971. Riverside township has a population of 7,776.

Oakland, Cal., May 14.—(AP)—With census officials today reporting the 1930 population of Oakland as 284,213, an increase of 67,952, or 31.42 per cent, over 1920, the count in eight sister cities grouped about San Francisco bay passed well beyond the 1,000,000 mark.

A population og 418,930 is contained in the neighboring cities of Albany, Berkley, Piedmont, Oakland, and Alameda. Across the bay 735,761 persons are grouped in San Francisco, South San Francisco, and Daly City. The total for the metropolitan area is expected to approach the 1,200,000 mark.

14 STORY DEATH FALL IN LOOP IS HELD ACCIDENT

A coroner's jury yesterday decided that William B. Harrison, Chautauqua circuit manager, accidentally fell to his death from the fourteenth floor of the Union League club, 69 West Jackson boulevard. Testimony at the inquest indicated that Harrison enjoyed wealth and a happy home life and the theory was upheld that he probably fell from the window when leaning out for air after an attack of indigestion.

Harrison lived in a $100,000 home near Columbus, O. He carried life insurance of $150,000. He registered at the club Tuesday night as a nonresident member. At 7 o'clock yesterday morning he telephoned for a physician. His crushed body was found a minute later in Federal street.

"The carpet below the open window was torn as if his feet had slipped," said Harry Doherty, club manager. "There were finger prints on the sill that indicated he clutched to save himself. It looked as if he had opened the window when stricken with indigestion and fallen when he leaned out for fresh air."

Seize Suspect in $10,000 Hammond Bank Robbery

James Brezak, 28 years old, was arrested yesterday at Archer avenue and Halsted street by Sergt. Patrick McShane and his detective bureau squad as a suspect in the $10,000 robbery of the Maywood Trust and Savings bank of Hammond, last Thursday. His picture had been identified by bank employés as one of four bandits who robbed the bank, and within two hours after his arrest he was on his way to Hammond in custody of Sergt. McShane and Lieut. Walter Storms.

Also made in sizes from 2.4 x 4.2 to 13.6 x 24

Laid by the side of a genuine hand-woven Persian Rug of the finest quality obtainable, this remarkable Karastan Reproduction is so much like the original that it is almost impossible, even for Oriental Rug experts, to distinguish between the two. Thousands of women throughout the United States have purchased this rug for their homes because of the faithfulness with which Karastan weavers have reproduced the work of Persian hand looms. Make the side-by-side comparison yourself. Come to our Rug Section and see whether you can distinguish between an expensive, genuine, hand-woven Sarouk and its Karastan Reproduction.

AMERICA'S RESPONSE TO THE CHALLENGE OF THE GOLDEN AGE

Above is a genuine Sarouk Rug
The rug pictured on this side of the line is a genuine Sarouk, hand-woven in Persia of the very best materials obtainable and of high value. Among modern Persian rugs, this may be said to be an example of outstanding craftsmanship in which unusual merit predominates.

Karastans Solve Your Rug Problem
Before buying a rug visit our Karastan Gallery on the Third Floor, Middle, Wabash and inspect our special display of these fine Rugs. A beautifully illustrated booklet showing several designs of Karastan Rugs in color will be given each visitor for the asking.

The Wonder Rug of America
Karastan Rugs possess every quality that makes high grade Orientals so expensive as to be beyond the reach of the average home. Beauty . . . luxurious pile . . . silky sheen . . . multi-colored effects. Karastan Rugs are woven in a nearly limitless variety of colors. Priced at $195 it is almost inconceivable that they should embody so many of the distinguishing characteristics of Persian Rugs.

Look for the Pattern Through the Back
This is characteristic of all fine hand-woven rugs. Karastan Rugs are made in America and show a definite pattern on the underside, exactly as in the more expensive Orientals, many of which were produced in the Golden Age of rug weaving many hundred years ago.

Listen In—An interesting half hour broadcast by the Karastan Weavers is given every Wednesday evening, at 9:30 p. m. over Station WGN.

AIR FILTERS TO LOCATE GOTHAM SKY POLLUTION

Jersey Smoke Blamed for Dark April Days.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 14.—[Special.]—Despite a smoke abatement campaign and nature's own intensive spring cleaning, figures obtained today at the Central Park weather observatory reveal that this city was 23 per cent dirtier during April than it was in January.

The meteorologists blame the increasing air pollution from New Jersey's smokestacks and a prevailing wind from the southwest. Fire predictions from plant specialists of Dr. William Crocker's rank that Manhattan may soon become treeless, and the warning of Dr. L. A. Couble that eye strain is increasing, particularly in the schools, because of the progressive darkening of the skies by smoke, brought the announcement that additional "air filters" will be set up in the metropolitan area to determine exactly what districts are the worst offenders against pure air.

Heaviest in February.

The air pollution was heaviest above New York in February, David R. Morris of the observatory said in explaining why some months are dirtier than others. The mechanical lungs instrument which Mr. Morris operates found breathing easier in March, when there was only 1.89 pounds of dirt in a million cubic yards of air, as compared with the little more than two pounds of the month before. The average pollution in April was 1.67, as compared with 1.55 for January.

The daily average of pollution in Central Park ranged from .76 pounds on April 9 to 2.27 pounds on April 3 and 14. Previous extremes were Jan. 11, with .27 pounds as the cleanest day and Feb. 20, with 2.97 pounds as the dirtiest day. The greatest amount of pollution in the air continuing at least an hour was 3.78 pounds on April 14, April 19 and April 27.

Meteorologist Morris says as summer comes there is probably going to be less and less dirt to breathe. Springtime, he says, should have much to do with purifying the city air quite apart from the fact that furnace fires cast less smoke into the air. The sun's action tends to carry suspended dirt away.

Lateral Winds a Blessing.

The sun's heat, Mr. Morris explained, produces powerful currents of air and they sweep the smoke and dust high into the clouds, adding to the good work of the lateral winds that tend to blow the smoke away from the city.

The reason the "spring cleaning" didn't work in April, was that while the smoke was drawn skyward by a Jersey sun, according to schedule, a wind blowing from the southwest dumped it right down over New York.

New York's air pollution, the meteorologist said, is still far from as serious as that in Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Chicago and other cities. Mr. Morris quoted a report of the Mellon Institute of Pittsburgh which indicated an annual soot-fall of 1,031 tons per square mile.

The economic loss from such heavy soot pollution was estimated at $20 per inhabitant. St. Louis, statistics showed, had cut its smoke evil 40 per cent in three years by improved legislation governing belching smokestacks.

ROY D'ARCY'S WIFE GETS HER SECOND DIVORCE FROM HIM

Los Angeles, Cal., May 14.—(AP)—Roy D'Arcy, former film actor and now a New York night club operator, was divorced by his wife, Mrs. Laura Rhinock Guisti, for the second time today. An interlocutory decree was granted Mrs. Guisti after she had testified in Superior court to her husband's temperamental cruelties, threats to kill her, and refusal to give her money.

"All I am sorry for," Mrs. Guisti testified, "is that I let him take me in a second time."

She said that after she remarried the actor, he immediately began "staying out nights until 3 or 4 in the morning, and telling me it was none of my business where he had been."

"Two or three times," she continued, "he came home late at night, awakened me, took out a revolver and said he would like to shoot me, himself and the whole household."

D'Arcy, whose legal name is Guisti, and his wife married first in 1925. She obtained a divorce on Feb. 26, 1929, and one month later remarried the actor at Tia Juana, Mex. This event occurred a few days after Lita Grey Chaplin, former wife of Charlie Chaplin, announced that she and D'Arcy were to be married.

EIGHT QUESTIONS PUT TO KOHLER JURY BY COURT

10 of 12 Men Must Agree on All Points.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sheboygan, Wis., May 14.—[Special.]—Gov. Walter J. Kohler's trial moved swiftly toward a climax today when Judge Gustav Gehrz overruled the motion of the governor's counsel to take the case away from the jury and instead submitted to the jurors eight questions for them to answer in the form of a special verdict.

Arguments to the jury were begun immediately. The case probably will go to the jury late morrow. After the jurors consider the eight questions the court will consider a motion to sustain their verdct. If their decision is against the governor and it is sustained by the court, the office of governor may be declared vacated by the corrupt practices act under which this prosecution was brought.

Many Legal Possibilities.

Even if the jury decision is against the governor, however, it remains within the power of the court to refuse to accept this verdict, and there also are possibilities of appeals and other moves to avoid such an extremity.

Ten men on the jury must answer each question the same way before the verdict may be returned, and they must be the same ten men each time.

The Eight Questions.

The eight questions are as follows:

First question—Did the defendant, Walter J. Kohler, authorize L. P. Chase (Kohler company attorney) to act for him and make arrangements with others to pay for the services and expenses of the Kohler band?

Second—If you answer the first question "yes," then answer this question: Did the defendant, Walter J. Kohler, acting through L. P. Chase as his authorized agent, induce A. O. Kroos, Anton Brotz, Frank Brotz, and T. B. Engelking to pledge or promise to pay for the services and expenses of the Kohler band?

Third—Was the furnishing of the services of the Kohler band of a nature, done with the intent or in such a way as to influence or tend to influence, directly or indirectly, voting at said primary?

Fourth—If you answer the third question "yes," then answer this question: Did the defendant receive or accept the contribution of band services with knowledge on his part, or reasonable cause to believe, that such contribution was of a nature, done with the intent or in such a way as to influence or tend to influence, directly or indirectly, voting at said primary?

Meals Issue Specified.

Fifth—Did the defendant, Walter J. Kohler, authorize L. P. Chase to act for him and make arrangements with others to pay for meals, cigars and refreshments to groups of visitors at the village of Kohler?

Sixth—If you answer the fifth question "yes," then answer this question: Did the defendant, Walter J. Kohler, acting through L. P. Chase as his authorized agent, induce Marie C., Lillian and Evangeline Kohler and Mrs. Minnie V. Kohler to pledge or promise to pay for meals, cigars and refreshments to such visitors?

Seventh—Was the furnishing of meals, cigars and refreshments to said visitors of a nature, done with the intent or in such a way as to influence, directly or indirectly, voting at said primary?

Eighth—If you answer the seventh question "yes," then answer this question was of a nature, done with intent cept the contribution of meals, cigars and refreshments to such visitors with knowledge on his part, or reasonable cause to believe, that such contribution was of a nature done with intent or in such a way as to influence or tend to influence, directly or indirectly, voting at said primary?

ADMITS ROLLING PIN SLAYING.

Portland, Me., May 14.—(AP)—Kenneth Williams, 20, of Yarmouth, confessed to the county attorney today that he had murdered his wife with a rolling pin.

DIES AT BEDSIDE OF ANOTHER SHE FLEW TO REACH

Evanston Woman Stricken in Duluth.

Mrs. Siebel C. Harris, whose husband is vice president of Cross, Roy & Harris, Inc., and a member of the Chicago Board of Trade, died on Monday in Duluth shortly after traveling part way there by airplane to visit the bedside of her mother-in-law, Mrs. L. C. Harris, who was critically ill. The fact of Mrs. Harris' death became known yesterday when it was learned that her body would arrive in Evanston today for burial.

Charter Airplane for Duluth.

Mr. Harris, whose home is at 641 Michigan avenue, Evanston, learned Sunday morning that his mother had suffered a paralytic stroke late Saturday night. He went immediately to Curtiss-Wright airport at Glenview, chartered an airplane, and, with Mrs. Harris, took off at 1:30 p. m. for Duluth.

Bad weather over St. Paul made it inadvisable to continue on from there and Pilot William Clark landed the Cessna cabin plane at the St. Paul airport. His passengers continued on to Duluth by automobile, arriving there at 8 p. m. Sunday night.

The condition of Mrs. Harris Sr. was improved, but on Monday morning her daughter-in-law was stricken with embolism, with consequent paralysis. She died at 8:30 a. m. in the St. Luke's hospital there.

Flight Not Blamed.

It was said by friends in Evanston last night that while Mrs. Harris had not been in good health, she had stood the trip well. They did not believe the strain of the flight contributed to her death. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon with burial in Memorial Park, Evanston.

Situated on the west bank of the river between Bear mountain and West Point, the new club, according to plans disclosed today, will be unique in offering to its members the service of a fleet of six to ten speedboats running between the club and West 96th street.

Runs Down Girl, 5; Tries to Buy Silence with $1

Los Angeles, Cal., May 14.—[Special.]—After running down Joyce de Roselli, 5, who was on her way to kindergarten, an unidentified motorist today tried to buy her silence with a $1 bill. The driver struck the little girl in a safety zone, picked her up and drove her home. There he dropped her at the curb, forced a dollar bill in her hand, and urged her not to tell her parents. She collapsed on the lawn. She is suffering from possible internal injuries.

Sec'y Hyde Hooks Mama Shark; Now There's Eight!

Port Arthur, Tex., May 14.—(AP)—If it had been any fish except a shark Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, fishing here today, would have game conservationists on his trail.

Yesterday the secretary hooked a shark and got so much sport that he went out for a kill today. The result was a big one, exactly 101 inches in length.

After it had been towed in and pulled up on the dock the shark gave birth to seven little fellows.

CHINA CRUSHES REBEL ARMY IN 6 DAY BATTLE

Chiang Captures 10,000 Prisoners; Foes Flee.

SHANGHAI, May 14.—(AP)—The Nationalist government forces defeated the northern alliance rebels in a six day battle, taking 10,000 prisoners and driving the enemy out of Anhwei province, the government announced tonight. Although casualties were not stated, the severity of the struggle was attested by previous dispatches, which said that the Nationalists' wounded in the first two days of fighting numbered 20,000.

Pursuing the retreating rebels, the Nationalists captured their new base at Kweiteh in Honan province. Capture of that city, the Nationalists asserted, would force the northerners to fall back upon Kaifeng to consolidate their shattered ranks.

Capture 7,000 Rifles.

Led by Chinag Kai-shek, president of the Nationalist government and generalissimo of its armies, the Nationalists captured numerous field guns and 7,000 rifles with their prisoners.

The rebels, beaten back in eastern Honan, developed a new offensive in central Honan as other columns drove southward along the railway toward Hankow, key point of central China. They were dispatched by Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang, one of China's leading generals and former supporter of the government. Advancing to meet the rebel threat, a Nationalist force moved northward from Hankow, with a major engagement expected.

Order Whites to Flee.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, May 14.—German, Italian, and Japanese consuls have requested their nationals to evacuate northern Honan province, especially the town of Chengchow in Honan, where Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang's northern alliance headquarters are located. According to reports from Nanking today, the chief danger is the daily raids made by Nationalist planes on all cities of this area, particularly at Kaifeng.

Reports from both northern and southern camps indicate that there is serious fighting in a wide area south of the Yellow river, where the provinces of Kiangsu, Anhwei, Honan, and Shantung join. The Nationalists against the northern generals, Sun Tien-yin and Shin Yu-shan, allege the northerners are retreating westward toward Kaifeng.

Americans Told to Evacuate.

Washington, D. C., May 14.—(AP)—The state department today was informed by the Chinese Nationalist government that Americans in Chengchow should evacuate immediately. State department records show eight Americans at Chengchow. Nelson T. Johnson, American minister at Peiping, advised them to withdraw to safety.

FRENCH CHARGE RUSSIA STIRRED INDO-CHINA RIOTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 14.—The French government was reported tonight to be in possession of evidence that the recent troubles in Indo-China were stirred up on direct orders from Moscow and Foreign Minister Briand will be asked to address a formal protest to the soviet government.

Premier Tardieu called an important conference yesterday at the ministry of the interior with the minister of justice, the general prosecutor, the prefect of police, and other justice and police officials.

Although order has apparently been restored in Tonking and elsewhere in Indo-China, where outbreaks and mutinies of garrisons took place two months ago, the French government believes the situation still serious. Red propaganda organizations are said to be numerous throughout the entire country, and the French are reported to be encountering great difficulties in combatting them.

Tires are SO cheap now

The difference in price between the best standard tire and one that you can't be sure of, is, if anything, hardly enough to count.

That removes the last excuse a sensible man can have for not buying as excellent a tire as the Goodyear All-Weather Tread Balloon.

It is the standard of quality of the world; it outsells any other tire in the world; it is the basis of the eloquent fact that "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

You want the biggest possible money's worth in safety, traction, dependability and mileage when you buy a tire—you can get it now at no premium in the standard Goodyear All-Weather.

Your size is waiting for you at a price you can afford to pay—no farther away than the nearest Goodyear Dealer!

The greatest name in RUBBER

Goodyear can give you greater tire values because Goodyear builds more than 1/4 of all the tires sold in America, the remainder being divided among some forty manufacturers. "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind."

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Toooften the morning cup of coffee is a cause of worry rather than of pleasure.

That is often due to poor cooking, but much more often due to the fact that the coffee roaster saved you a few cents per pound by using coffees whose lack of flavor made them cheaper.

RITES TOMORROW TO HONOR SLAIN AID OF SWANSON

Business Leaders Will Attend Services.

Public funeral and memorial services for Joseph Altmeier, slain investigator for State's Attorney Swanson, will be held tomorrow afternoon in the Chicago temple, Clark and Washington streets, the Chicago Association of Commerce announced last night. Altmeier died on Tuesday of a bullet wound inflicted early Monday by bandits he had planned to trap in an apartment at 3258 North Clark street. Two of the bandits and Jack Hayes, the apartment tenant, were also killed.

Because he "was killed in the line of duty," in the words of Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce, Altmeier is to be honored by the funeral demonstration, the association said. Three religious leaders, Rabbi Louis L. Mann of Sinai temple, Dr. John Thompson of Chicago temple, and Dr. Charles W. Gilkey, dean of the University of Chicago chapel, will eulogize him and the honorary pallbearer list is expected to contain the names of many business and civic leaders.

To Send Announcements.

Col. Randolph will preside at the services. Late last night workers at the association were arranging to send printed announcements to 7,000 members and other civic bodies, probably including the Chicago Bar association and the Chicago Crime commission.

He will be buried in Elmwood cemetery following the services at 3 p. m.

From Washington, whence he will return today, Col. Randolph yesterday noon wired a message to the association at its weekly luncheon in the La Salle hotel. It was read by Dean Ralph E. Heilman of Northwestern university, chairman of the ways and means committee. The message, in part, said:

"Joseph Altimeier was himself the victim of organized crime, but was too good an American to submit himself without resistance. Having lost all of a considerable private fortune through criminal attacks upon his private business, he dedicated the remainder of his life to war upon the enemies of society. He has finally given his life in that service and society owes him a debt which can never be repaid."

Plan Support for Family.

The message also stated that the association will shortly make plans for the support of Altmeier's family. These plans will be started after Col. Randolph's return.

Disorderly conduct charges against two men, arrested originally on the suspicion that they were implicated with the stickup gang, were continued by Judge Alfred O. Erickson in Town Hall court yesterday because of the inability of Capt. Hugh McCarthy to attend.

FROM KASTORIA, GREECE

Castoria, Macedonia
Greece

Mrs. H. Liakos
5225 N. Clark St
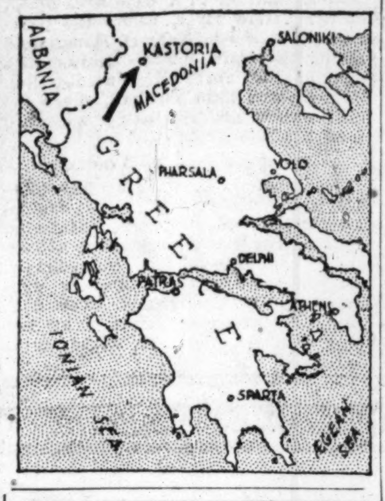
America

Letter received by Mrs. Harry Liakos, 5225 North Clark street, Chicago.



"Mr. Harry Lerzakos, accompanied by his bride, has returned to visit his native town, Kastoria, in Macedonia, Greece," Mrs. Liakos writes. "Mrs. Lerzakos, who is from Chicago, writes many interesting facts.

"Kastoria is a beautiful and picturesque town, situated in the mountains and partly surrounded by a lake. It has a population of 13,000 people, the majority of whom are furriers and have been for many generations. Some of the best furriers in New York and Paris are from this town. Incidentally, the best 'stone martens' are found in this country.

"For 400 years Kastoria was under Turkish rule, but Greece regained possession of it in 1912. The women of Kastoria formerly went down to the lake with large earthen vases and carried water to their homes, but recently a pumping station was built and now the water is pumped directly into their houses."

Kastoria occupies part of a peninsula on the western shore of Lake Kastoria, which here receives from the north its affluent, the Zhelova. The lake, surrounded by limestone mountains, has an area of 20 square miles and is 2,850 feet above sea level. It is drained on the south by the Bistritza, a large river which flows southeast and finally enters the gulf of Salonica.

Kastoria is the seat of an Orthodox archbishop. It is usually identified with the ancient Celetrum, captured by the Romans under Sulpicius, during the first Macedonian campaign, about 200 B. C., and better known for the defense maintained by Bryennius against Alexis I. in 1084. A Byzantine wall with round towers runs across the peninsula.

WILBUR SENDS TART LETTER TO ARIZONA

Washington, D. C., May 14.—(AP)—Asserting he had delayed action on allocation of water and power at Boulder dam for thirteen months in the hope the Colorado basin states would work out their own problems, Secretary Wilbur today answered complaints of Arizona in a letter to Gov. Phillips.

"There are a number of facts which it is about time the people of your state should know," said the letter. "Arizona, although invited, has never come to the conference table to help me in working out these power problems and has never made an application for power. Yet a large part of the time consumed at Los Angeles was required by the insistence of this department on clauses protecting Arizona and Nevada."

Wilbur said there was no mandate in the act that he exact sums from the power purchasers for the benefit of Arizona and Nevada.

"Nevertheless, I have succeeded in negotiating contracts," he said, "under which . . . your state, without guaranteeing a penny toward the success of this project, is handed a sum ranging from $350,000 to upwards of $600,000 per year and given a free option on over 100,000 horsepower."

LOESCH DEMANDS AN INQUIRY INTO M'ERLANE'S CASE

Says Some One Bungled in Freeing Gangster.

Complaint was made yesterday by Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission, that Frank McErlane, one of the twenty-eight criminals listed as "public enemies," was not prosecuted as a "public enemy" when last arrested. Mr. Loesch asked Police Commissioner Russell and Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal court to investigate. His letter to them follows:

"Frank McErlane, one of the gangsters listed by the Chicago crime commission, and Marion Miller, his woman companion, were arrested on May 2 in a room at the Crest Apartment hotel, 6730 Stony Island avenue, where they broke furniture and shattered windows. They were charged with disorderly conduct, plus statutory charges. They had been registered at the hotel for several days as Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sebastian.

Says Case Was Bungled.

"On May 3 McErlane was discharged by Judge Samuel Heller at the Grand Crossing court. The circumstances of this case and the apparent ease with which a gangster of the type of McErlane is enabled to defeat justice suggest an investigation for the purpose of developing the facts.

"Inquiry by the crime commission leads to the conclusion that the case was bungled and that McErlane could not have escaped at least a jail sentence had an intelligent interest been taken in the prosecution."

No Action in Court.

According to an observer of the commission, McErlane was intoxicated and was making so much noise that the police were called. In court next morning, Policeman James Wolf, who signed the complaint against the pair, said he had no evidence, the commission report said, and Judge Heller refused to allow the complaint to be filed. The hotel clerk was not in court, but later he told the observer he could not prove McErlane was intoxicated, although he was boisterous, Loesch's records stated, and no one appeared anxious to prosecute the couple on charges of illicit relationship.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Charles Johnson, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Frank Denardi, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory, by Judge D. J. Normoyle.

Edward Smith, receiving stolen property, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; John Pociak, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary, by Judge Harry B. Miller.

WHAT A GREAT WOMAN'S MAGAZINE THINKS ABOUT SUBSTITUTION

This editorial is published to more than two and a half million families in the June issue of Pictorial Review... It is re-published here because we believe it covers a subject of vital interest to every family in the United States... Refuse substitutes; buy the advertised brand every time!

FOR many months Pictorial Review has watched with frank concern the growing tendency toward substitution. There is, today, a determined effort under way to sell the public unknown, unadvertised articles in place of the known, advertised favorites.

Substitution is nothing new. It has gone on for years. But this present condition is more pronounced, more wide-spread, and more definitely organized than it has been before. It shows itself in many ways, familiar to every woman who shops for herself or her family.

Perhaps you ask for a certain advertised article by name, and the clerk will say, "Here is a new brand we just got in. Many of our customers like it. Would you care to try a package?"

Or, again, the clerk says, "We're having a special this week on so-and-so brand. Would you like to have that instead?"

Or, in some cases, you are told that the store does not carry the brand you ask for, but that such-and-such a brand is just as good.

These are the common cases. One more also deserves mention. You may receive the article you ask for, and then be sold unknown brands for most of the other products on your shopping-list. Sometimes you order one brand, and find another in your package when you get it home.

Substitution! It is all done so smoothly, so easily, so politely that you may not realize what has happened to you.

Almost without exception, substitutions are made for a selfish reason. The store which substitutes has its own interest in mind rather than yours.

It may substitute because the "just as good" brings a larger profit per unit sold than the article you want and ask for. It may do so because the store wants to offer what looks like a bargain price. This is particularly true when certain brands are sold by one group of stores exclusively. But how can you judge their prices when you do not know what others would ask for the same product?

This does not mean that unknown brands are always lower in price. They are not. Sometimes they are sold for more than advertised brands. But in the one case you know what you are getting. In the other you cannot be sure.

For many years Pictorial Review has dealt with the manufacturers of advertised goods. Like other publications, we insist upon knowing that every product presented in our pages deserves the confidence of our readers. We have visited the great modern laboratories where their products are developed.

We have been in the immaculate kitchens where food products are tested. We have seen the meticulous care with which purity is safe-guarded. We have felt by personal contact the conscientious desire of these companies to maintain the highest standards of excellence.

It is hardly necessary here to argue the advantages of such products. It goes without saying that these manufacturers believe in the quality they are offering you. That is why they publish a statement of that quality in the pages of newspapers and magazines.

The fact that manufacturers advertise to you is the best evidence that they want to win and keep your good-will. They put their case up to the public and they know that their goods must satisfy if they are to hold your trade. Naturally, they must maintain their quality, they must give full weight, they must do all the things necessary to protect their priceless asset of public acceptance.

TARIFF DEBATED IN IOWA G. O. P. SENATE BATTLE

Hammill Denounces Bill; Dickinson's For It.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Des Moines, Ia., May 14.—[Special.]—The Hawley-Smoot tariff bill seems to be a growing issue in Iowa's Republican battle over the senatorship at the June 2 primaries. One aspect is east versus west, with echoes of the old corn belt revolt and the "equalization fee" controversy at the Kansas City national convention.

Four candidates are running. They are:

JOHN HAMMILL, three times governor, who was instrumental in bringing about the corn belt conferences on farm relief a few years back.

L. J. DICKINSON, twelve years in the house of representatives, known to Iowa as "Dick" and author of the bill which became the basis for the agricultural marketing act. One of his campaign exhibits is a testimonial from Speaker Nicholas Longworth giving him the title, "A hell raiser for agriculture."

FRANK J. LUND, the "stormy petrel," who was Senator Brookhart's manager in 1926, and one of Frank O. Lowden's pre-convention managers in 1928, and later a supporter of Gov. Smith.

W. O. PAYNE, an old-time editor, who is battling, among other things, against adherence to the world court.

Steck Assured Renomination.

Senator Daniel F. Steck will get the Democratic renomination without campaigning.

Dickingson and Hammill are the leading candidates and, so far as organization goes, it is largely the federal machine against the state machine.

Gov. Hammill is denouncing the tariff bill as a "gold brick." He is telling Iowa farmers it gives them "counterfeit protection." He says the industrial east has so stacked the cards against th agricultural west that the tariff bill puts ten million dollars into one of the farmers' pockets and takes forty million out of another pocket. The governor is telling his audiences he hopes President Hoover will veto the bill.

Dickinson Agrees with Davis.

Congressman Dickinson is taking the ground that the tariff bill in its final shape from conference has to be a compromise. He declares he holds the same position as that of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis in his battle in Pennsylvania against Senator Joseph R. Grundy for the Republican senatorship nominations.

Davis, a cabinet member, backed by a cabinet colleague, Secretary Mellon, holds that the tariff measure is naturally a compromise between the agricultural west and the industrial east. Mr. Dickinson argues this indicates the administration attitude. Balancing the comparison, the argument is advanced that at one extreme is Mr. Grundy shrieking that Pennsylvania industries are getting a dirty deal on tariff, and at the other extreme a cry that the farmer is not getting all he is entitled to.

Gov. Hammill tonight sailed into the dairying duties as a sample of "empty gestures."

"The present duty on butter," he said, "is 12 cents a pound. The new bill raises it to 14 cents. Our dairy leaders agree the 12 cent tariff has been effective in keeping the price of butter at 45 to 55 cents. It is a prohibitive tariff against foreign competition.

"The bill raises the tariff on farm products generally where it will do no good. It gives the Iowa farmer ten million dollars of this counterfeit protection, and assuming the farmers will be blinded by that glimmering gold brick, the Hawley-Smoot advocates took out of the farmers' pockets in Iowa 40 million dollars in the form of higher duties on manufactured articles we must purchase."

Dickinson Cites Storage.

Congressman Dickinson holds such remarks on butter put Gov. Hammill in the corner pocket. He says:

"On April 1 there were thirty million pounds of butter in storage in the United States, an increase of twenty-five million pounds in a year. I believe if we had the new rates on dairy products we would not have such an increase of butter in storage. Gov. Hammill would have voted against more protection to dairying."

Otherwise, it's a gentle campaign, with Dickinson and Hammill singing in concert on many things, and the outstanding issue being who's going to get the job. Few personalities have been exchanged, as yet at least. Both Hammill and Dickinson say they are for Hoover, for party regularity, and for the farm relief board and Alexander Legge, who is regarded here as one of Hoover's greatest assets.

Equalization Fee Demanded.

Meanwhile, Maj. Lund says that the equalization fee is still needed to make farm relief a success and that Hammill and Dickinson have back tracked on this.

Mr. Payne, in his speeches, wallops the world court.

"I am the only candidate who avows any opinion on this subject," he said, "or who would be any obstacle in placing the United States in the league of nations by back or front door. Apparently, the idea is to slip by, saying nothing and then vote according to the dictates of the current school of internationalism. That was Deneen's idea in Illinois, but Mrs. McCormick smoked him out."

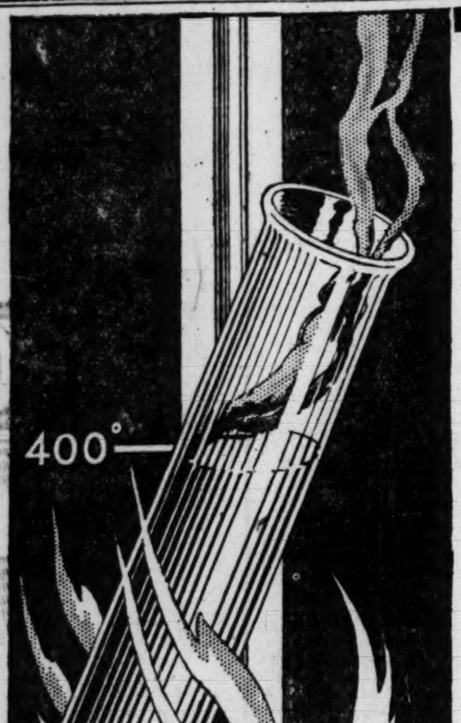
THE WORLD'S GREATEST HEAT-RESISTING MOTOR OIL



Many ordinary "summer" oils burn as low as 400° F.

The lightest warm weather grade of Waxfree Havoline will not fire at 500° F.—nor heavier grades at 550°. Waxfree Havoline contains no volatile elements; no wax!

ALL warm weather grades of the New Waxfree Havoline possess greater heat resistance than any other oil of the same body at high motor temperatures . . . a margin of superiority that means less wear on your engine on the longest, hottest trips. Waxfree Havoline contains no wax to turn water-thin with heat. Neither is it a blend of thick sluggish oil and quick-burning volatile elements. It is all rich unblended lubricant—every drop uniform—the first 100% distilled waxfree paraffin-base oil ever refined! That is why Waxfree Havoline sturdily lubricates the hottest parts of your motor where other oils carbonize and burn.

You may not notice the difference in one mile or a hundred, but in the long run Waxfree Havoline's superior resistance to scorching, wearing heat will double the life of your motor. Remember that, when you are tempted to buy "just as good" oils. Your motor needs Waxfree Havoline now. Dealers everywhere have the proper grade for your car.

HAVOLINE

Wax turns candle-hard under cold. Wax turns water-thin under heat. Now, for the first time, you can get a waxfree paraffin-base oil for the best year-round lubrication

HUNT MYSTERY SHIP AND 250,000 POUNDS OF OPIUM

Fear Dope Cargo Is on Way to United States.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, May 14.—A mystery ship, laden with 250,000 pounds of opium destined for illicit trade, is being sought by the league of nations drug commisison to prevent it from landing its huge cargo for dope fiends in Europe and America.

Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, today sprung this sensation at the league council meeting today when the question of convening the next session of the opium control commission came up for discussion.

"I have just received information from London that a ship cleared port from an opium producing country and is carrying a quantity of the raw drug for illicit traffic," he said.

The vessel cleared from Bushire on the Persian gulf late in April with invoices of 2,300 cases of opium bound for Vladivostok, Russia. Since leaving Bushire the ship has not been reported. Authorities believe the dope is being smuggled to a European port or transported to America or transshipped at sea.

Experts here say that 125 tons of opium is sufficient to poison the entire European continent or all of the United States. The value of the raw opium is immense, but refined as morphine or heroin it runs into millions of dollars.

This is the largest shipment ever known in a single transaction and is regarded as the biggest coup the international dope ring ever put over.

As a result of Mr. Henderson's announcement, it is expected that the opium control commission will convene in December.

Naval Talks Continue.

The Franco-Italian pourparlers continued today when Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy and Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, had tea together and continued discussion of methods whereby negotiations on their naval strengths may be continued following the breakdown at London. Another meeting will be held tomorrow and after that the pourparlers will be carried on through diplomatic channels, embassies and foreign offices.

Dr. Julius Curtius, German foreign minister, and M. Briand have concluded arrangements for completing the military evacuation of the Rhineland next month. The French foreign minister said the last French garrison to be withdrawn will be from Treves, and that the troops will retire on June 26.

M. Briand also promised Dr. Curtius to speed up the work of the dual commission seeking a solution of the Saar basin problem.

BRITAIN RECALLS VATICAN ENVOY IN DIPLOMATIC ROW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, May 14.—Diplomatic relations between England and the holy see are severely strained over the situation in Malta, it is learned here tonight.

While the Vatican maintains strict silence over the controversy, which began a year ago over the expulsion of a Franciscan monk from the island and which reached a climax last week in the calling off of the Maltese elections, the Giornal d' Italia confirms that Great Britain has decided not to replace Minister H. G. Chilton as representative to the papal court. Mr. Chilton has been named minister to Chile, the paper states.

This British action, says the newspaper, is a direct result of an unfavorable reception given Mr. Chilton's request that the Vatican intervene to prevent two bishops from interfering in Maltese elections.

"WIDOW" TURNS UP FOR SLAIN DOCTOR THOUGHT BACHELOR

Cleveland, O., May 14.—(AP)—Search for a woman said to have threatened Dr. Alfred P. Scully with death if he married another woman was begun in Chicago and California today by private investigators retained by friends of the slain physician.

At the same time detectives seeking to unravel the mysterious slaying of the prominent Cleveland doctor on March 3 planned to question Mrs. Eunice Rockwell, 32, who arrived here from Miami, Fla., a few days ago and told of the "other woman."

Mrs. Rockwell claims to be the widow of the supposed bachelor physician. She came here seeking recognition of her 13 year old boy, who she claims is Dr. Scully's son, and a share of Dr. Scully's estate.

NICARAGUANS, LED BY U. S. OFFICERS, KILL 16 BANDITS

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 14.—(AP)—Col. Douglas McDougal of the United States marine corps, commanding the Nicaraguan National Guard as brigadier general, said today the guard had orders to clean numerous groups of bandits out of their mountain retreats and announced the details of a numberof engagements.

In addition, it was learned today that the cabinet had decreed an "estado de sitio," or state of siege, for 60 days in northern departments of Matagalpa, Chontales, Hinotega, Esteli, and Segovuas.

Between May 5 and May 12, Gen. McDougal said, guardsmen had six contacts with the outlaws in the north. Five hundred men, officered by United States marines, patrol that district, while 200 regular marines stationed there coöperate with the guard. The guard's losses were four dead and three wounded in the six engagements, while 16 bandits were killed.

MRS. HELEN LOTT GIVEN A DIVORCE FROM HOTEL MAN

Mrs. Helen Hunter Heister Lott, former artists model, yesterday won a divorce before Superior Judge Williams from Charles H. Lott, formerly head of a $10,000,000 hotel corporation in Chicago, now engaged in a similar business in Detroit in an effort to recoup a lost fortune. Mrs. Lott charged desertion through her attorneys, the law firm of Socrates & Davis. She waived alimony. Lott was divorced by his first wife, Mrs. Cora Adele Lott Meyers, on June 4, 1925. She was reported to have received a settlement of more than $1,000,000, which, in later court actions, was said to have been exaggerated. He married his second wife a few weeks later. He left her in July, 1927, shortly after he had been ousted as president of the Lott Hotels, Inc., here, she testified. She refused to state whether or not she had received a settlement.

JUDGE REFUSES JOE MONTANA'S PLEA FOR RELEASE

Joe Montana Jr. failed to obtain dismissal of an assault charge yesterday in Municipal Judge Joseph L. McCarthy's court even though the complainant did not appear to testify against him. Montana, now a movie theater owner, was accused, with several fellow gangsters, of beating Jack Burman, clerk of a film exchange, after Burman had snatched a cigaret from Montana's mouth.

Yesterday Montana informed the court that Burman's employers did not want to press the case and he pointed out that Burman had failed to appear in court. But Judge McCarthy turned to his bailiff and said:

"See that Burman is here tomorrow morning."

Lieut. George Barker informed the court that Montana had visited the film concern's offices and apologized to Burman.

REPORT ON TESTS OF OINTMENT IN DIPHTHERIA FIGHT

In a joint report submitted last night Health Commissioner Kegel and Dr. Benjamin M. Gasul, assistant in pediatrics at the University of Illinois, informed the Chicago Medical society that immunity against diphtheria may yet be possible through the process of rubbing an ointment into the skin. The process was recently discovered by Prof. E. Lowenstein of Vienna, Austria, according to the two physicians.

"Our tests on 47 children ranging from 1 to 10 years of age," read the report, "show an immunizing efficiency of approximately 60 per cent of all children to whom the ointment was applied, choosing for the experiment only children shown by the Schick test to be positive prospects for diphtheria infection. This is less than the results reported from Vienna, but the records there extend already to more than six thousand continuous tests."

WORLD RUBBER CENTERS TO STOP TAPPING A MONTH

Move to Meet Low Prices and Drop in Market.

The following story concerning the Straits settlements has been received from Mr. Dailey, who was assigned to make a survey of territories in the far east. Mr. Dailey is now in Calcutta.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PENANG, Straits Settlements, April 25 [By Mail.]—All through the Federated Malay states one finds hearty coöperation by the large planters and native producers in the May tapping holiday in the rubber industry owing to the increased planting and low price of crude rubber and the decreased consumption in the markets of the world, the chief of which is America. Yet the world as a whole will consume more rubber this year than ever before.

In Borneo also, as well as in other rubber producing sections of the East Indies, the planters are falling in line with the movement initiated in Malaya for a complete holiday of tapping in the month of May. A large meeting of native planters of Borneo met in Bandjermasin and in addition to an agreement to suspend tapping appointed a committee of propagandists who toured the island to urge the native population to join in the holiday.

Put Laborers on Other Work.

In the Malayan state of Perak, delegates of the Central Asiatic committee visited each district in the state, convening meetings in the local communities and obtained written acceptances in the form of complete stoppage for the month of May and retaining their laborers on other work, while in the case of planters having less than fifteen acres, these agreed to nontapping on Fridays and Sundays for a period of three months, beginning in the first week of May. This left no option for large estates but to join in the holiday. The result soon will be felt in the American and European markets.

It is stated by experts that the American consumption of rubber in May of last year amounted to 49,233 tons, a high record for any month in history. This was followed by an enormous increase in the rubber shipments from Malaya and nearby states, and when the Wall street bubble burst American consumption dwindled greatly. In the late five months of 1929 also stocks in London increased by 38,500 tons. It was these instances that led to the May stoppage proposal.

World Consumes 797,000 Tons.

World consumption of rubber for 1929 reached 797,000 tons. Of this 445,860 tons were shipped from Malaya. Shipments from the Dutch East Indies in 1929 reached 292,960 tons, as compared with 267,353 tons in 1928. Since 1921 the native rubber output in the Dutch East Indies has risen from a ratio of 8 per cent to 39.7 per cent in 1929 of the estate and native product.

The average output of rubber from Malaya was 420 pounds an acre from the estate plants, as compared with the native output on holdings of less than 100 acres of 540 pounds an acre. It was this great increase in native production per acre that led to the special provisions for non-tapping two days a week over a period of three months, instead of the complete suspension in May of all the large foreign estates.

U. S. Uses 480,000 Tons.

American consumption of rubber for the year 1929 is placed at 480,000 tons, and all other countries of the world at 317,000 tons. Estimates for 1930 place the American consumption at 505,000 tons and the rest of the world 351,000 tons.

America, therefore, is expected to consume equal to the entire Malayan output and then have to buy 60,000 tons additional. The ratio of the United States to the world's consumption of rubber is estimated at 60% of the world's output, 85% of which would be in tires, which this year will number 77,540,000, according to rubber estimates, calling for in excess of half a million tons of rubber for this use alone, an increase of about 5 per cent over the high water mark of 1929.

HISTORIC BATTERY COMING TO CHICAGO FOR MILITARY SHOW

As a special attraction for the Military Exposition and Tournament to be held at Soldiers' Field from June 21 to 29, the oldest anti-aircraft battery and one of the most noted units in the United States army will start marching today from Fortress Monroe, Old Point Comfort, Va., to Fort Sheridan.

This unit, Battery A, is a part of the 61st Coast Artillery anti-aircraft regiment, organized in 1808 as Estabrooks' company of light artillery. Since that time it has taken part in all important army engagements of the country, the war of 1812, the civil war, numerous Indian wars and the world war. The regiment to which this battery belongs is one of four such units of the army and the first one to be stationed in the middle west.

The anti-aircraft unit is part of the coast defense and is equipped with 3 inch anti-aircraft guns towed on a trailer by a powerful truck, searchlights capable of throwing rays six miles, sound locators, an army ambulance and machine guns. Maj. James H. Cunningham is in command of the regiment which is composed of 10 officers and 300 men. It has one hundred vehicles and tons of baggage and equipment, making a column more than a mile in length.

Battery A will travel from 40 to 73 miles a day and is expected to reach Chicago on June 22.

It will demonstrate all its modern equipment at the military show, and will give an exhibition of night firing.

24 CROATIANS ON HUNGER STRIKE IN TREASON TRIAL

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, May 14.—(AP)—Dr. Vlado Matchek and twenty-three other accused Croatians now on trial for treason are on a hunger strike. They asserted that officials at the jail maltreated them. In the course of an examination of Prof. Jellasic, former Croatian deputy, all the prisoners burst into cheering repeatedly for Croatia, when Jellasic declared that the verdict of the court did not matter, because the people themselves would decide when normal conditions should be restored.

The Guernsey herd of the late Wilbur W. Marsh, Waterloo, Ia., former treasurer of the Democratic party, will be sold at the Hinsdale farm tomorrow, and that of the late E. E. Lehman will be sold at Lake Villa on Saturday.

GALLANT FOX'S SLOW TIME CHEERS RIVALS

COLLETT AND HICKS UPSET BRITISH GOLF STARS

BOTH FORCED TO PLAY EXTRA HOLE MATCHES

Glenna Eliminates English Champion.

FORMBY, England, May 14.—(AP)—Glenna Collett and Helen Hicks today fought their way to the quarter finals of the British women's golf championship. Five other American players who started the day's play were eliminated.

HELEN HICKS.

Both Miss Collett and Miss Hicks had to play courageous golf to remain in the competition. Molly Gourlay forced the American champion to the 21st hole before she surrendered in the fourth round, and the hard hitting Helen Hicks needed 19 holes to dispose of Mrs. Percy Garon in the same round.

Safely past the morning round, their afternoon tasks proved easier, Miss Hicks defeating her fellow countrywoman, Mrs. Leo Federman, while Miss Collett was disposing of Beryl Drown, a Formby girl.

Enid Wilson Is Obstacle.

Maureen Orcutt reached the fifth round without incident, but there encountered Enid Wilson, the golfing giantess of Nottingham, and in the face of a shower of fours from her opponent was eliminated.

Virginia Van Wie, Edith Quier, and Mrs. Stewart Hanley were eliminated in the fourth round, leaving the United States without representation in the lower bracket of the draw.

Miss Wilson will be Miss Hicks' opponent tomorrow morning, and if the American wins and Miss Collett stops Hilda Cameron, her Scotch rival, the stage will be set for another all-American match in the afternoon.

Miss Wilson is regarded as a formidable opponent for the American challenger. In her rough tweeds of manly cut, with heavy wool stockings and shoes heavier than those worn by most men golfers, she wielded her clubs against Miss Orcutt with the skill and confidence of a professional, to coast to an easy triumph, 6 and 4.

Young Players Survive.

The last eight, who will engage in the battle tomorrow, is made up of two Americans, two Scots, three English, and an Irish girl.

Miss Hicks is only 19 years old, and youngsters also feature the lower half of the draw, where Diana Fishwick, a 19 year old wisp of a girl, and Sylvia Bailey, the same age, meet Daisy Ferguson of the Royal County Down club and Kathleen MacDonald, who comes from Moray, where Ramsay MacDonald hails from, although she is not a relative of the prime minister.

The 21 hole battle between Miss Collett and Miss Gourlay dwarfed today's play with its intensity. It was the English girl's birthday, and she received scores of presents, but she said tonight the gift she wanted most was denied her, although Miss Collett gallantly offered to present it several times.

Miss Gourlay started nervously, although her little bronze rabbit mascot which had been lost all week was found just before play started. The English player missed a short putt at the first hole and Miss Collett, with a sporting gesture, conceded her one at the second that might easily have been missed. Molly steadied then and holed a 15 foot putt at the third.

Miss Gourlay Misses Putt.

Miss Gourlay had a chance to go one up at the 17th, but she missed a four foot puttt. The 18th, 19th, and 20th were halved, and then Miss Collett's machinelike play brought its reward. Miss Gourlay was over the green with her fifth, after driving into

College Chiefs Watch Maroons

BY ARCH WARD.

THE controversy over interscholastic tournaments becomes increasingly interesting as THE TRIBUNE's poll of high school principals progresses. The heavy voting in Illinois and neighboring states is indicative of the concern over the issue.

On one side we have the National Federation of High School associations opposed to interstate meets sponsored by universities and colleges. On the other is a group of prominent collegiate athletic leaders, with A. A. Stagg in the van, defending their right to hold such tournaments.

Both sides have their arguments. The High School federation through its secretary, C. W. Whitten, has given the reasons why it believes these meets are detrimental to high school athletes. The universities, with Mr. Stagg as spokesman, have made clear the advantages to be derived.

Colleges interested in the problem are looking to the University of Chicago. Vice President Frederic Woodward has appointed a committee made up of Prof. Merle C. Coulter, chairman; Dean C. S. Boucher and Dr. Esmond R. Long to investigate the situation. If this committee decides that Chicago is ready to support Coach Stagg in his determination to continue his national basketball and track meets, other schools likely will fall in line. The restraining influence is the threat of the North Central Association of Colleges to expel any member conducting an interstate high school tournament.

Not long ago high schools were clamoring for the assistance of colleges and universities in promoting athletics. Probably no high school in the country was giving proper athletic training to any considerable number of boys in the days when the colleges first lent a helping hand. The colleges perhaps had two thoughts in mind. First, they could help to develop athletics in their own section, and, second, they would do a bit of legitimate advertising.

Now it seems the officers of certain state high school associations suggest that high schools no longer need the assistance of the colleges.

A striking point in THE TRIBUNE poll is that smaller high schools are strong for continuation of meets sponsored by colleges.

If it is true that high schools generally still need help from colleges and universities and should the latter withdraw all of that help, isn't it possible, even probable, that some organization outside the colleges would promote athletics for high school boys?

FROST IN CHICAGO.

Summer supposedly, is almost here, but you can't always go by the calendar. A heavy frost fell at the north hall of the Coliseum Tuesday night.

Fortunately or unfortunately, depending on your point of view, the damage was estimated at only $1,300. That was the amount dropped into Promoter Walter George's strongbox by 600 spectators who turned out to see Joe Anderson of Kentucky and Haakon Hansen of Chicago tear each other limb from limb in quaint old Scandinavian custom.

What they saw instead was one of the finest runouts in Chicago's modern ring history. Showing no consideration for the mental anguish he was inflicting upon the pew holders, Mr. Anderson decided the gathering was entirely too small and walked out of the arena.

The Illinois Athletic commission yesterday suspended Anderson for six months, but nowhere have we read about the promoter refunding $1,300 to the customers.

OWL BASEBALL GROWING.

Night baseball is spreading. Decatur, Ill., is the latest town making an effort to get the boys out of the beer flats into the bleachers.

There is evidence that the game under floodlights will be advantageous both to the owners and fans, but pity the poor umpires. It seems they can't get a break. It was hard enough for them to follow the ball in the daytime. They, of course, are relieved of the responsibility of calling a game on account of darkness, but what about calling it on acount of dawn?

If the Cubs and Giants had to play those 14 to 12 affairs starting at 8:30, the fans hardly would have time to get their rolls and coffee and be at their loop office in time for work.

U. S. TEAM TODAY STARTS DEFENSE OF WALKER CUP

Amateur Golf Trophy at Stake Against British.

BY EUGENE SPECK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANDWICH, England, May 14.—The British will begin another attempt to capture the Walker cup, the greatest team trophy of amateur golf, when they tee off for a series of two ball foursome matches against the Americans at St. George's club tomorrow morning. Four foursomes of 36 holes will be played during the day and eight singles matches will be played Friday. Each foursome match will count one point.

The English have never been able to take their own trophy all the years it has been in play, but their team this year is better qualified to challenge the best amateurs of the United States than any recruited in some time.

Jones Pairs with Willing.

The pairings of tomorrow's foursomes follow:

Bobby Jones and Dr. O. F. Willing against Rex Hartley and Tony Torrance.

The Americans, who have been training the hardest, took a final shot at the tricky course this afternoon in the lineup they will take tomorrow. Von Elm and Voigt won by one up from Jones and Willing; Moe and MacKenzie beat Johnston and Ouimet, four up.

Slopes Cause Trouble.

The tumbling fairways are still difficult for the American team. Saint George's course is in the sand dunes with hills thirty feet high along the fairways. There are no woods and the roughs are fairly an easy problem, but the playing of a brassie from an angle of 45 degrees presents a harder problem for the American team than some of the forests which beset the golfers at home.

The seaside course gives the British further advantage because they are accustomed to gales unknown to championship courses in America. There was a strong wind today and Saint George's perched on the southeast tip of the island catches whatever wind there is.

The Americans have been playing the course for a week and went around at or near par today, although Jones topped a brassie and drove into a water filled ditch on the fourteenth. The British took a rest.

Chicago Derby Fans Start Annual Hegira Southward

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Tonight Chicago will be divided into two groups—those who are on their way to the Kentucky Derby and those who wish they were. Eight special trains will leave this evening for Louisville. Four others will follow tomorrow, together with hundreds of motor cars, and on Saturday the exodus will continue from the airports.

ERNEST BYFIELD.

Thus is Chicago drawn by an event which has gathered so many traditions to itself since that May afternoon 55 years ago when Aristides galloped to victory in the first Kentucky Derby. With the passing of years the glamour of the occasion has grown and ever increasing crowds have made the pilgrimage to Kentucky, that state in which the sport of kings is also the king of sports.

Eight Trainloads Tonight.

Members of the Chicago Athletic association, the South Shore Country club, and the Lake Shore A. C. will depart tonight on four special trains over the Monon route. The Illinois A. C., the Midland club, the Iroquois club and a group from Lincoln Fields will fill two Chicago and Eastern Illinois specials. Joe Coffey, Eddie McCabe and Sammy Wolf have made reservation for parties on two Pennsylvania trains.

THE TRIBUNE Public Service office and the Chicago Motor club report hundreds of inquiries on road conditions between Chicago and Louisville, indicating that as great a number as in previous years will leave the city by automobile tomorrow morning. Five buses containing one hundred passenger will depart at noon from the central west bus lines terminal.

Tomorrow night the Hamilton club and the Howard News Service party will leave on the Pennsylvania, followed by two other special trains chartered by no specific organization. The Midwest Athletic club will go tomorrow on the Monon.

Planes Carry Rear Guard.

The rear guard will depart in eight planes Saturday morning from the municipal airport. Robert Swanson and Robert Luebke of Glencoe, each will fly his own plane from Pal-Waukee field.

Chicagoans who have horses entered in the Derby are John and R. J. Nash, owners of High Foot; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bidwell, owners of Picadome and Tea Cracker; P. H. Joyce, owner of Dick O'Hara, and A. E. Barrett, owner of Richard McDonnell. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Byfield will have a personal interest in Racqueteer if he starts. Racqueteer was owned by the late Eugene Byfield, brother of Mr. Byfield.

Included in the Lake Shore Athletic club's party are George Wittbold, Bruce P. Smith, H. W. Borchardt, Albert F. Harman, H. J. Coleman, Miss Marion Coleman, T. R. O'Connor, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Ross, F. J. Herlihy, William Crilly, Hill Blockett, Ryland Wilcott, Ralph Sargent, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McGinnis, N. H. Van Sicklen, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Goetz, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wallace.

Illinois A. C. Party Has 21.

Members of the Illinois Athletic club's party follow: H. H. Ennis, Thomas Green, Athur S. Brown, Vincent Garrity, Frank C. Woods, A. Gohde, A. A. Jones, E. E. Spies, William Cousin, A. Gleason, W. W. Waugh, B. Erbendeck, C. Cross, A. R. Green, George Hutchison, Frank Cambell, A. C. Alden, A. Hutchings, George Touchstone, A. Frazer, F. A. Marnell.

The Midland club's party will consist of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Speele, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Lynch, Jeffe Wilson, Robert O'Hair, Peter Angsten, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schwarz, Mrs. Robert W. Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Lind, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Bartlett.

"Learn to Break Fast," Cissell Tells Infielders

This is the fourth of a series of lessons on infielding written by Bill Cissell of the White Sox for THE TRIBUNE baseball school. Bill will give a personal demonstration for the boys of Chicagoland Saturday morning at Comiskey park. The only admission required will be a free ticket which will appear in THE TRIBUNE Saturday.

BY BILL CISSELL.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 14.—[Special.]—Ability to cover a wide range of territory is one of the most valuable assets a shortstop and second baseman can have. This, of course, is true of all infielders and outfielders, but it seems to me to be especially true of the keystone men.

The ability to "break fast" is the main factor in the covering of ground. By this I mean that a man must have the spring in his legs and strength in his ankles to start running fast in any direction on an instant's notice.

Must Have "Snap."

You have heard of infield stars who still can bat and run fairly fast on a straight away, but whose "legs have slowed up." They are as good as they ever were except that old snap that used to give them a "fast break" isn't there any more. They "play their position on a dime" and their value to the team fades fast, although they may still excel in many other departments of the game.

There are some infielders who could cover a lot of ground but do not because they are "percentage nursers." To them their personal record in the statistics books is held above everything. They hesitate to go after a ball unless they are almost certain they'll be able to field it.

The moral is, "Don't be a record nurser." Go after every ball with all the speed and determination you have, even if you think it is a sure hit.

Must Be Balanced.

Regardless of your feeling as to which way you think a specific batter may hit the ball, you must stand balanced to go forward, backward, or to the right or left with equal dispatch.

You probably will find it much easier to break to your right and left than forward or backward, and easier to go back in the short outfields than forward, although the last named, without actual experience to govern the estimate, probably would seem the easiest of all.

Almost any ground ball can be fielded better if the player has been in motion just before he fields it.

The things I have discussed in the foregoing can, in a large measure be demonstrated on the field. We'll give quite a little time to "breaking" at Comiskey park Saturday morning.

KENTUCKY MEETS LORD DERBY WITH CAMPHOR DROPS

Where Are Those Famed Mint Juleps?

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., May 14.—His lordship the earl of Derby was feeling a bit seedy when he arrived in the blue grass country today to visit the horse farms and attend the running of the Kentucky Derby, which he will persist in calling "Darby," contrary to local custom.

His lordship came in Joseph E. Widener's private car and, meaning no disparagement to the heating plant of the car, he had picked up a cold on the way out from Washington and was feeling not quite up to himself. He was not feeling exactly queer, you understand, but seedy, and could do with a bit of rest, and possibly with something to buck him up. Mr. Widener had his man fetch his lordship some camphor drops to buck him up, but after several hours it was necessary to announce that the earl would not be sufficiently bucked up to speak for publication until the morrow.

Reflection on Hospitality.

It seems a reflection of Kentucky hospitality and a denial of one of the proudest claims of a country famous for beautiful women, thoroughbred horses, and whisky of positively sublime quality that a distinguished guest landing in Lexington with a cold should be given nothing better than comphor drops to buck him up, and there is just a chance that the medication did not end with the remedy which Mr. Widener's gentleman fetched.

But no mention is made of any supplementary treatment, the law being what it is and his lordship being an alien and subject to a term in a road gang, followed by summary deportation for infraction of the same. The law is very strict about such matters here, and although some of the citizens insist that there are hundreds of fifty gallon barrels of bourbon ageing in the cellars of the rural mansions set among the beeches out beyond the town line of Lexington, there are others who will tell you, with a touch of resentment and bitterness, that they have attended these places personally and have come away feeling in no way bucked up.

It Remains a Mystery.

It enhances the fascination of these baronial castles, set up on their hilltops among their murmuring groves, to fancy that beneath them, in bank-vault dungeons, there are casks and barrels ageing in the racks, just as they came from the Kentucky distilleries, which now stand black-eyed, their windows stoned out by the righteous in their early exultation ten years ago, and with white mold spreading over their red brick walls. But for the peasantry this is a pleasure strictly of the imagination, and your correspondent has no authority to say whether these places actually do or do not contain that which would indubitably buck one up if one were feeling seedy.

The Lexington newspapers had plainly announced that his lordship would arrive at five and forty after ten a. m. in the morning, but, although this is an early rising country and the whole town was up and about, the delegation to welcome his lordship consisted only of such travelers and baggy citizens as are usually found about railroad stations in small cities and a few reporters and photographers.

A dispatch from Washington said that his lordship looked forward to an experience with an authentic mint julep in Marse Henry Watterson's own country. The moving picture people had sent a truck and technical crew all the way from New York to record this and any other historic activities of his lordship with sound. But there was no julep in view, and Louisville, Ky., May 14.—"Hello, Wake; thought you'd be around. It's about time for those old green and white silks to run one-two again."

That was the greeting Buckeye Poet whinnied to us from the E. R. Bradley barns as we made our morning round at Churchill Downs.

"Of course, Breezy and I will be a price, but if you can throw your figures on us and give us a chance, that's an advantage. Well, back in 1921 when Behave Yourself and Black Servant both took Prudery, the highly regarded easterner, there was a nice price against our stable. Bubbling Over, when coupled with Bagenbaggage in 1926, was favorite. He was a great racer, and of course you know he's also my daddy by a later marriage.

"Let's talk about my pal, Breezing Thru, first. He started nine times as a 2 year old and was first three times. He ran at Saratoga against Whichone, Boojum, Caruso, and a lot of the good ones which are not in this race. They outfooted him, but he never had been east before and was doing too much sight seeing.

"Over at Lexington, Tannery beat us both, but I didn't run a lick that day. I had won one race and thought I had a rest coming, so didn't try very hard. The newspaper fellows said I sulked.

"Well, after that Tannery race, Breezy—his dad is Black Toney—began to take things more seriously and put in some good training licks. Why, he worked the full Derby distance with weight up in 2:05 3-5 on the boss' private track. That track is faster than Churchill Downs, but it certainly gives Breezy a chance against anything, even Gallant Fox.

"Breezy has run in the mud and, while his effort was nothing to write home about, he's not out of it in sloppy going. I've only tried mud once and was fair, but a slow track suits me all right. You better have a little bet strung with the Bradley entry if you are trying to beat Gallant Fox."

Uncle Luther, who had been considered only a possible starter until his sparkling performance in the mud of the Derby trial Tuesday, was still elated and a trifle chesty when we approached him.

"Ha, ha, ha, Wake; fooled 'em, didn't I? Understand you had a bet down, though. That's fine. Now, Harve, old top, I'm no pink tea nag. Started thirteen times as a 2 year old and was only out of the money three times. O, I know I didn't beat very much, but give me mud or a sloppy track and look out for me. It runs in my family. My dad, King Gorin, just ate mud. The way I feel about it is that Gallant Fox looks too good. He's like one of those stock market tips which every one has while the insiders are selling out. My victory wouldn't go so bad around Lexington, where my owner is a breeder." Then, rather shy, Uncle Luther mused, "O, well, I suppose I'm just one of those no account horses which ends up in selling races. Well, we'll see about that Saturday."

ADVANCE GUARD.

The advance guard of Derby followers is slower than usual in arriving. Newspaper critics are on hand, however, in the same or even greater numbers. This is especially true of the New York delegation. Chicagoans are noticeably fewer, with a majority not coming until Friday, and the total is below that of previous years. This results both from business conditions and the fact that Chicago has so many big races of its own this season.

Do You Remember Way Back When: Old Rosebud, in 1914, set the time mark of 2:03 2-5, which has since been approached only by Bubbling Over's 2:03 4-5 in 1926?

BY FRENCH LANE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 14.—Just when it became fairly certain that not more than 12 colts would go to the post in the Kentucky Derby on Saturday afternoon, Gallant Fox, the favorite, stepped out on the Churchill Downs racing strip today and turned in what many termed a "miserable workout."

COL. E. R. BRADLEY.

When word spread that the Fox had pinned his ears and sulked and had spent 2 minutes and 19 seconds covering the Derby route of a mile and a quarter a few owners of 100 to 1 shots took on new hope. Now it seems possible that 17 will be in the overnight Derby field and that 14 of them may parade to the barrier.

Despite Gallant Fox's slow trial, Earl Sande, the old master of the saddle, who had ridden the Fox in the rehearsal, tumbled into bed at his hotel here tonight without any worries.

Explains Horse's Behavior.

"Gallant Fox did the same thing a few days before the Preakness," Sande said. "He's a bad work horse, but when I asked him to be serious near the end of this morning's drill he ran the last furlong in 12 4-5. He showed me then that he's going to be running very fast and with much determination as the Derby nears a decision."

No two work watchers agreed on what Gallant Fox actually did this morning. Some said he was playing. Others declared he was sulking. A few were of the opinion that Sande did not ask him to run at any stage except during the last furlong. The son of Sir Galahad III. did not run any furlong alike. He never extended himself during the early stages. I did not see him pin his ears. He was out in the middle of the track and I don't believe Sande even clucked to him. Sande had a tight hold and appeared to snuggle the colt all through the practice spin.

But just the same, Gallant Fox stock is not booming tonight. High Foot, Tannery and Bradley followers are doing the celebrating. Most of the Gallant Fox backers are nervous, but not Sande, and the jockey idol of the American turf may play as big a part in the Derby this year as Gallant Fox does.

Bradley Pair's Stock Rises.

As the Derby nears a decision, more support is developing for the Bradley pair of Buckeye Poet and Breezing Thru. Even Dick Thompson, the trainer of the Idle Hour farm colts, who seldom talks and who prefers that Owner Bradley or Barry Shannon make the announcements for the stable, was reported to have whispered to friends that he thinks his charges will run one-two in the Derby.

"They're the best conditioned colts on the track. They may not be champions, but they are good enough to win this Derby," Thompson is said to have told a close acquaintance.

Owner Bradley will not watch the running of the Derby. He canceled his hotel reservations today. Throughout the winter he has been suffering from a heart ailment. His physicians are reported to have advised him to remain out of the Derby crowd. But he will be at Idle Hour farm just 90 miles away listening to a broadcast of the race.

Rift in Waggoner Camp.

The twelve certain starters in the Derby are Gallant Fox, Gallant Knight, Tannery, Breezing Thru, Buckeye Poet, Crack Brigade, Ned O., High Foot, Broadway Limited, Uncle Luther, Gone Away, and Longus. The doubtful starters are Dick O'Hara, Sydney, Busy, Playtime, and Kilkerry.

There were rumors tonight that if Kilkerry starts, Dick Vestal, trainer of the colt, and W. T. Waggoner, the Texas millionaire who owns him, will part company. Vestal is of the opinion, according to reports, that Kilkerry will break down if he goes in the Derby. A son of Owner Waggoner is said to be insisting that Kilkerry be seen under colors in the race. The elderly Waggoner, who is a Texan and worth many millions, it is reported, will make the final decision.

A muddy track will have but little effect on the makeup of the Derby field. While Gallant Fox has been asked to race in mud on few occasions, Jockey Sande and others with the Woodward stable here claim his chances for a Derby victory will not be dimmed if the track is muddy or heavy.

Breezing Thru and Sydney are the only members of the probable starting field which show a strong dislike for muddy going. The track was muddy as this afternoon's racing program was run off. Old time weather prophets in Kentucky claim the cool spell gives assurance that there will be no more rain this week.

Louisville is fairly well filled with Derby visitors tonight, but the crowd will not begin to arrive until tomorrow morning. The noisiest party in today's throng at the Downs was a group of Tammany Hall chiefs headed by John F. Curry and including Christopher D. Sullivan, Battery Dan E. Finn, and Warren Hubbard.

Collett, Hicks Upset British Women Stars

a trap, and finally was on in six. Miss Collett was 20 feet from the cup in three and her opponent rushed over with hand outstretched in congratulation.

Miss Quier's defeat by Miss Ferguson was a surprise to the British. Miss Van Wie's elimination in a bracket in which she was expected to have little trouble also was surprising to close observers of the week's play. Miss Van Wie took three putts from 12 feet to lose the 18th hole and then dropped the 19th and the match. Play of the Americans today resulted:

Glenna Collett, New York, defeated Miss Molly Gourlay, one up, 21 holes, in the fourth round, and won from Miss Geryl Brown, 7 and 6, in the fifth round.

Helen Hicks, New York, defeated Mrs. Percy Garon, one up, 19 holes, in the fourth round, and won from Mrs. Leo Federman, New York, 4 and 3, in the fifth round.

Mrs. Federman defeated Mrs. Dudley Charles, 8 and 7, in the fourth round and was eliminated by Miss Hicks in the fifth round.

Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., defeated Miss G. E. C. Rudgard, 3 and 2, in the fourth and was eliminated by Enid Wilson, 6 and 4, in the fifth.

Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, was defeated by Kathleen MacDonald, one up, 19 holes, in the fourth round.

Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit, was defeated by Dr. Marion Alexander, 2 and 1, in the fourth round.

Pairings for the sixth, or quarter final, round:

Miss Collett vs. Miss Cameron.
Miss Hicks vs. Miss Wilson.
Miss Fishwick vs. Miss Ferguson.
Miss MacDonald vs. Miss Bailey.

LYNN NELSON TO MAKE 1ST START AGAINST BRAVES

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

There was no conflict yesterday between the Cubs and Braves at Wrigley field. The chief cause of idleness was rainfall and prospects of plenty more shortly before game time. Besides that there were only about 2,000 of the vast army of north side grand stand managers present.

The Braves will still be here for better or worse treatment this afternoon, so it will be possible for Lynn Nelson, the Kansas City rookie, to make his major league start against them. He was to have kicked off on his first big venture yesterday, but the postponement caused no alterations in Manager McCarthy's plans. Bill McKechnie, the Braves' chief, undoubtedly will counter with Burleigh Grimes, who as a Pirate was a considerable nuisance to the Cub hitters.

On Saturday, May 31, there will be a little pre-game ceremony at Wrigley field. The day has been set aside as the one on which Hornsby will be presented with $1,000 in recognition of his selection as the league's most valuable player in 1929.

Another north side celebration will take place on June 21. The championship flag won by the Cubs last year will be raised with the customary formality.

RAIN HELPS FABER

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 14.—Manager Donie Bush of the White Sox and the weather man again are on good terms.

Mr. Bush was quite irate because it rained in Chicago when this team appeared to be in A-1 shape but all was forgiven today when the contest with the world champion Athletics was rained out, thus shortening the series to two games and giving Ol' Red Faber his full quota of rest. Bush plans to send him to the box tomorrow.

This same Mr. Bush isn't as downhearted as you might think about prospects in general. He's going back to Chicago and patiently start teaching his boys the rudiments of the game. And when the Sox master these fundamentals they should progress.

The Sox will leave for Chicago after their game tomorrow with Lefty Grove et al. They play five games in three days at Comiskey park against the Cleveland Indians.

Ted Lyons, who has won five-ninths of the victories acquired by the Sox this year, and whose three wins are the only ones hung up by the Sox in the east, will pitch one of the games of Saturday's double header.

Fight Decisions

At New Haven, Conn.—Tony Canzoneri defeated Johnny Farr [10].

6 STATES FAVOR PREP TOURNEYS IN TRIBUNE POLL

How They Vote

FOLLOWING is the vote to date from nine states in the poll of high school principals on invitational interscholastics:

	—Yesterday— For.	—Yesterday— Against.	—Total— For.	—Total— Against.
Illinois	5	10	211	198
Wisconsin	4	7	82	90
Michigan	9	6	105	88
Indiana	5	4	42	54
Kentucky	19	4	247	51
Iowa	40	15	124	49
Kansas	6	7	30	27
Oklahoma	.	..	38	12
Ohio	51	129	54	138

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Illinois, Michigan, Kentucky, Iowa and Kansas continued to support invitational interscholastics after yesterday's ballots in THE TRIBUNE's poll of high school principals were tabulated.

Wisconsin, Indiana and Ohio voted to prohibit these meets. No votes were received from Oklahoma.

Fifteen ballots were received yesterday from Illinois. None had been received for two days. Ten principals in Illinois voted to prohibit invitational tournaments. Five were in favor.

Iowa 2 to 1 in Favor.

Iowa continues to give interscholastics a vote of more than 2 to 1. Forty Iowa principals favored the meets yesterday and 15 voted against. The total vote in Iowa is 124 for, 49 against.

Nine of the 15 votes received from Michigan were favorable to tournaments. Michigan's totals now are 105 for; 88 against.

Wisconsin now has given the federation's opposition program a majority of eight in a vote of 172. Indiana records a majority of 12 against invitational meets in a total vote of 96.

With two-thirds returns in Kansas the principals have voted 30 to 27 in favor of meets. Kentucky continues to pile up a 5 to 1 vote for interscholastics. The standing now is 247 for; 51 against.

Ohio, with 1,500 ballots mailed out, not only is voting down interscholastics by nearly 3 to 1, but is voting against state meets. Ohio principals have voted for tournaments, 54; against, 138. Ten principals who favor meets add that they believe they are detrimental to the high schools' interests. The vote against state meets in Ohio is 108 to 84.

Asks Independent Action.

Southeastern High of Detroit, Saginaw and Port Huron lead in the six votes from Michigan against tournaments. The nine favorable votes were from small towns.

Two principals, Sheboygan Falls, Wis., and Maywood, Ill., again voiced the idea that each school should be permitted to act independently.

The Carlock, Ill., principal attacks athletics for the few. He says: "Tournaments are overdone in many ways. It furnishes athletics for only the few that are on the teams."

Press dispatches of the poll appearing in Colorado newspapers brought a protest from that state because it did not have an opportunity to vote. Colorado is a member of the Federation of High School Athletic associations and did not permit its teams to compete in the national basketball tournament this year.

Tribune Book on Outdoor Life Here for Sportsmen

BY BOB BECKER.

The ability to learn new "wrinkles" on how to be comfortable in the woods and new tricks in camping and forest traveling is the aim of nearly every outdoor fan who spends considerable time in vacation lands each year. This knowledge comes under the heading of woodcraft.

For those outdoor enthusiasts who wish to add to their knowledge of this fascinating study, THE TRIBUNE has published a small handbook called "Practical Woodcraft." It is on sale at THE TRIBUNE public service office at 1 South Dearborn street. The price when copies are purchased at the service office is 15 cents or 18 cents by mail.

This little handbook is profusely illustrated. It is designed to help the average outdoor fan find his way around in the woods and live comfortably while doing it. This business of living comfortably while outdoors is after all the big item in the school of woodcraft for city dwellers. There isn't much fun staying in the woods unless you know how to be comfortable. Therein lies the secret of the successful forest traveler, canoeist and camper.

In fact, the successful outdoorsman is always trying to see how much comfort he can get on his trip instead of how much punishment he can stand. The man who boastfully tells how many days he went without good food, and how many nights he slept on bare ground must go into one of two classifications. Either he had hard luck on a trip and was smart enough to get out of his misfortune successfully, or else he is an ignorant outdoorsman who does not know even the rudiments of woodcraft.

In "Practical Woodcraft" a number of interesting subjects, including compass work, reading blazes in the forest, making bivouac camps, and building fires are covered.

VAN REED
The New Collar for 1930
THIRTY FIVE CENTS EACH
Three for One Dollar

The foremost contribution of our time to a man's good appearance is the Van Heusen Collar. Instead of accepting the inappropriate and often definitely untidy line of the collar-attached shirt, Van Heusen has replaced it with an easy, natural curve, and a more beautiful texture. So well does it accord with the custom-tailored styles of today that the modern man hardly can be considered well dressed unless he wears a Van Heusen Collar.

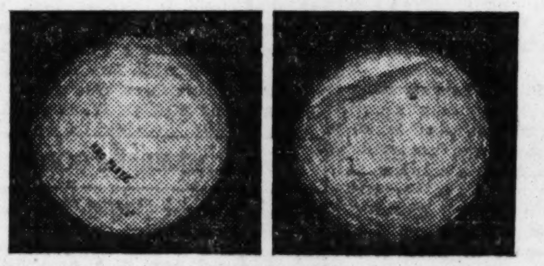
What's that!

You've never seen the golf ball you couldn't cut?

Then let us introduce you to the Kro-Flite!



Here are the two present size balls that made the best showing against the Guillotine. On the left is the Kro-Flite. On the right is the next most durable ball of the few balls that are comparable to the Kro-Flite in distance.

KRO-FLITE is the toughest golf ball in the world. If you can cut it, you're one of those supermen who can bend iron pipes, tear up telephone books, and bite holes in silver dollars. If you can cut it, you can do something that not even the Guillotine has ever done.

This Guillotine is a heavily weighted steel knife that drops on a golf ball, hitting it exactly as a clubhead does on a viciously-topped iron shot—only harder! It is the most ruthless test ever given to a golf ball.

Time after time, these Guillotine tests have been made with every good ball in the world. And in every single instance, the Kro-Flite has carried off first honors . . . the Kro-Flite alone has come through unscathed.

Most of the other balls were total losses. All the others were cut so badly they were utterly unplayable. Yet the Kro-Flite never showed more than a barely visible dent. Any Kro-Flite that ever went under the Guillotine came from under that blade sound and perfectly able to play through an abnormally long life of golf.

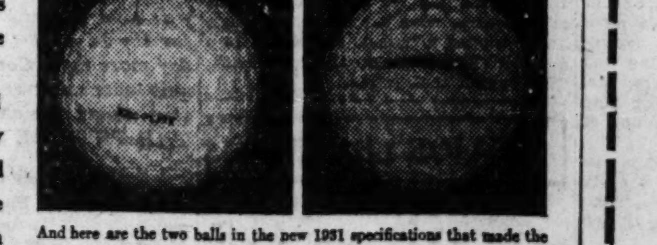
And when the larger 1931 size came along, every ball made in it was put to the Guillotine. The results were exactly the same. The Kro-Flite once more captured first honors . . . and proved that it is the toughest ball in the world, old size or new size.

The Kro-Flite has distance, too!

The Kro-Flite not only is the toughest ball in the world, but it is the only ball that combines first-grade distance with maximum durability.

In recent Driving Machine tests at Chicopee, Mass.; Putney, England; and Pinehurst, N. C.:—with balls in the present size, and balls in the new 1931 size—Kro-Flite fell but a trifling distance behind its famous brother, the Spalding Ball. And this Spalding Ball, this mighty ball of the Champions, is recognized by golf's greatest players as the longest ball the game has ever known.

Your Professional has the Kro-Flite. Or it may be bought from your Spalding dealer or the Spalding Store at 211 South State Street.



And here are the two balls in the new 1931 specifications that made the best showing in the Guillotine test. On the left is the Kro-Flite, still the Champion. On the right is the next most durable ball of the same group.

ROBINS ADVANCE TO THIRD PLACE; BEAT REDS, 7-4

Wright Hits Two Triples, Homer and Single.

Cincinnati, O., May 14.—(AP)—Adolfo Luque, the veteran Cuban who pitched for Cincinnati for 14 seasons, went against his old mates today and hurled the Brooklyn Robins into third place in the National league standing with a 7 to 4 victory over the Reds.

Luque allowed the Reds only nine hits and kept them well scattered except in the first inning. He received a large amount of assistance from Glenn Wright, who hit a home run, two triples and a single in four times at bat, scored two runs and drove in another.

Pal Moore and Henry Lenard Win Decision

Lenard defeated Prince Saunders. He danced carefully out of danger, stepping in now and then with a left hook which floored the Negro twice in the first round, again in the fifth, and in the tenth.

Moore slapped and cuffed Bobby Allen for ten rounds to defeat the west side youngster for a second time. Andy Williams, another old timer, lost a four round fight to Frankie Boyle.

Billy Gladstone, amateur featherweight champion, won his first professional fight, knocking out Adam Dugan in two rounds. My Boy Kelly knocked out George Wright, a 200 pound Negro, in the second round of the opening bout.

The attendance was 955. The receipts were $1,382.

URGE BAN ON CARNERA.

A curtailment of the ring activities of Primo Carnera, giant Italian heavyweight, in 29 states was in prospect last night as a committee of the National Boxing association completed an investigation of his bouts in the United States and recommended that he be suspended indefinitely. The committee sent its recommendation of suspension to Stanley M. Isaacs of Cincinnati, O., association president.

Maj. Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the Illinois State Athletic commission, prepared the report of the committee's investigation.

Weager Tells Novice How to Start Midiron Stroke

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Biggest and huskiest of THE TRIBUNE novice golfers, Herbert Brin of Crane High school, threatens to be the first of the four lads to reach that goal of an 18 hole score in two figures. Playing over the Mid-City course, Herbert just missed "breaking 100" and he did break 50 on a nine. His latest score is 51—49—100.

Herbert came to Edgewater for his fifth lesson with Jimmy Weager quite tickled over his progress and well he may be, inasmuch as he didn't hit a golf ball two weeks before. Weager ran him through most of the clubs a golfer uses in the lesson, though it was the first time he tried to use a midiron.

The first part was devoted to the first shot Herbert learned, a chip shot with a mashie. He nearly holed the first one, but after that Weager had to caution and correct him as he hit others. "Use the clubhead a bit more," Weager said, "hit them a little smarter and a little quicker. When you hit a chip shot slowly your head comes up before the clubhead goes through the ball and you don't get under it."

Starts with Mashie.

But Herbert needed a bit of coaching on his midiron. "Keep the left arm straight," Weager said. "The club rides on the straight left arm. If its straight at the address the swing forms a perfect arc and you've got to hit the ball the same way you soled your club."

After that the professional switched the boy to a midiron and called the writer's attention to the improved action of his feet, knees and hips as he swung the club. "That's natural," Weager said. "He's keeping his head still, swinging well and hitting through the ball. His body naturally works correctly when he does the other things correctly."

Thumb Slips Down.

Herbert's one bad habit, that of keeping his right thumb on top of the shaft, cramped his follow through a bit, as the thumb pushed down on the shaft on the downswing. Another fault he had was coming up too quick on hitting the ball. "Stay where you're at, but don't let it stop your swing," Weager told him. "Keep your head still, but don't hold your body stiff or you'll get your hands ahead of the clubhead."

As for the midiron itself, Weager told him to throw the clubhead down on the ball more than he had in the wood shots. "The iron shot is also a throw of the clubhead, but it's a throw down on the ball." After switching to wood shots, with which the lesson ended [some putting having been interspersed], Weager advanced his swing a bit in lengthening it. "Your left shoulder should be a little higher at the start of the swing, and the right shoulder higher at the top, but when you come down hit with the right side. Let the right shoulder come under and get its power behind the throw of the clubhead.

BLOOMERS SIGN TWO.

Kentucky Hails Earl of Derby with Camphor

his lordship had very little to say, and Mr. Widener, who has been acting as his interpreter, interposed to say that little for him.

Governor Is Absent.

The governor of Kentucky, Mr. Flem Sampson, who occupies some vague position in the scenario of Lord Derby's visit to the Kentucky Derby, was present neither in person nor by representatives, and from a disinterested viewpoint it does seem as though Mr. Widener, whose interest is in Belmont Park, New York, is keeping his lion on a short leash.

The moving picture wagon followed his lordship out to Elmendorf, the Widener baronial seat, six miles from town, but arrived there too late to catch the earl of Derby in his reunion with Sickle, the stallion which he sold to Mr. Widener as the successor of the late Fair Play.

This steed, which died last winter after a long and illustrious career in the commercialized polygamy of the horse industry, now surveys the scene of his amours and the awkward gambols of his very great-grandchildren on the Widener meadows in bronze effigy from a marble pedestal. It was only five years ago that I sat beneath a beech tree wondering what it was all about at the auction of August Belmont's stable and heard Fair Play knocked down to Mr. Widener for some very pretentious price, the exact sum of which now escapes me.

Sickle is at Elmendorf only as a probationer, his future depending entirely on the quality of his progeny. If they do not win horse races or otherwise create an impression of aristocratic quality their daddy will lose his harem and revert to Lord Derby and Mr. Widener will resume his seeking.

Back Bradley Entry.

The Lexington people are beginning to run a slight speculative fever now and, in accordance with the local tradition, their funds will ride mostly with the Kentucky horse, probably with the Bradley entry, although Col. Bradley himself is not very optimistic. For a man who has been dealing in the inexorable realities of percentage for so many years, he is strangely superstitious on two points. One is that all things run in cycles of three. Thus, he expects to win three Kentucky Derbies, having won two already. "But," says he, "I believe my Derby years will be five years apart. Behave Yourself won in 1921, Bubbling Over won in 1926. I am not due again until next year."

DON FERNANDO IS VICTOR IN GRAND TRUNK HANDICAP

Paicine Colt Races Mile in 1:38 4-5 at Aurora.

Don Fernando, although bred beneath the sunny skies of southern California, did not seem to mind the chill wind that blew across the Aurora track yesterday. In fact, the breeze seemed to spur him to greater things, as he turned in one of the best performances of his career to beat the best band of the day in the Grand Trunk handicap, the feature of yesterday's card.

Battle Ax Second.

Few gave Don Fernando a chance to be in the money. Battle Ax and Jack Haskell were considered the most likely horses in the race but the Paicines colt was on his toes and, after racing one mile in 1:38 4-5 for the fastest time of the meeting, finished out the mile and sixteenth distance many lengths in advance of his closest competitor. Battle Ax, on which Jockey Mulrooney put up a mediocre ride, was second and Playfellows Dream was third. Jack Haskell, after getting off poorly, trailed the field throughout.

First Mission, raised on the same ranch as Don Fernando, set the pace, with Don Fernando always within striking distance, and when the last quarter was reached Don Fernando, handling his 95 pounds like a feather, dashed to the front.

Two Favorites Win.

Despite Don Fernando's victory the favorite players fared fairly well as they centered on Rare Charm and Cockrill as their choices, and both won with something to spare. Rare Charm beat a small band of two year olds in the third race. Cockrill suddenly came to life and took the measure of some marathon runners in the sixth.

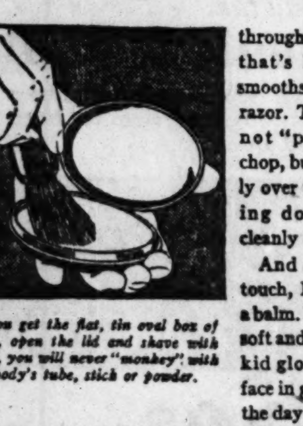
Treat Your Face to a Mint Julep Shave!

Your face, having been shaved for years, has stood for an awful lot. Here's your chance to square yourself for all your past shaving! Treat your face to a mint julep shave. All you need is a little BRISK shaving cream and some hot or cold water.

BRISK makes a mint julep shave because, first of all, it makes plenty of lather—and plenty of lather is the first requirement of a good shave! BRISK produces two to three times the lather because it absorbs two to three times the amount of water. That means not only a profuse lather, but one that stays moist on your face until you finish your shave.



Once you get the flat, tin oval box of BRISK, open the lid and shave with BRISK, you will never "monkey" with anybody's tube, stick or powder.

Lubricates the Cutting Stroke

Secondly, BRISK lubricates the cutting stroke of the razor. You know how a bit of soap on a saw eases its passage through a log—well, that's how BRISK smooths the path of the razor. The razor does not "pull," skip or chop, but glides sweetly over the skin, mowing down the hair cleanly at each stroke.

And as a finishing touch, BRISK acts as a balm. Leaves the skin soft and supple as a fine kid glove. Puts your face in good humor for the day!

BRISK, at 50c, is a good "buy" for quantity as well as quality. You get an amazing lot of shaves from a box because you have to use so little.

SENATORS OPEN ARMS TO RADIO COMBINE SUIT

Not Friendly Action, Grigsby Avers.

Washington, D. C., May 14.—(AP)—The department of justice's anti-trust proceeding against ten corporations which recently agreed on uniting radio holdings was welcomed today by members of the senate interstate commerce committee.

Senator Dill [Wash., Dem.] said the department's suit was "more comprehensive than anything I expected in course of a five years' fight on the issue." Chairman Couzens issued a statement calling attention to "great public interest and concern" in the proceedings, which he said marked "a healthy condition."

Senator Wheeler [Mont., Dem.], who was among senate leaders in demands for action against the corporations, said failure of the litigation to "dissolve the whole setup" would "reveal a need for overhauling of the patent laws."

Dill placed in the Congressional Record a copy of the department's petition to the District court at Wilmington, Del., for "a series of orders," which he said would mean "complete dissolution" of the corporations' agreement from 1919 to the present.

Dill Explains Suit.

"The suit attacks the original agreement in 1919 between the Radio Corporation of America and the other corporations," Dill said, "and holds in effect that the new agreement is merely the consummation of agreements all along the line before the last transaction."

The Washingtonian said the litigation would also raise an issue against the corporation's "parceling out the future of the industry by having patents bought and paid for—and the manner in which they should be distributed among them—before they are secured."

"For several years past much difference of opinion has existed as to whether these corporations were being conducted in violation of law," Couzens' statement asserted. "The country is entitled to know, and the congress is entitled to know particularly because of its legislative responsibilities. I hope that the suit will be expedited so that the country may know how far these corporations may go."

Wheeler's Viewpoint.

Senator Wheeler said a decision against the department "would make clear the legal situation."

"The patent laws were passed with a view toward protection of the little fellow from interference with his patents. Then there was no indication of conditions that have developed with the patents no longer in the hands of the little fellow who needs protection," Wheeler said. "I have felt for some time that the patent laws needed a thorough overhauling. This might demonstrate it."

The department suit was filed, it announced, "to test the legality" of agreements for pooling radio holdings among the Radio Corporation of America, the General Electric company, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, the American Telephone and Telegraph company, and six other corporations.

GRIGSBY COMMENTS

Commenting on the action of the government against Radio corporation, B. J. Grigsby said here yesterday that the suit is not a friendly test case as has been represented in some quarters. Mr. Grigsby is chairman of the board of the Grigsby-Grunow company of Chicago, the largest of the independent radio manufacturers.

"It is obvious from the government allegations," he declared, "that there has never been an illegal combination in industrial history so far reaching in its scope and effect as that of the companies complained of. The real intention of the combination is to employ patents to control the entire electrical output. Nothing like it has ever been attempted before.

Denies Claims.

"The Radio corporation group has repeatedly claimed that the grouping of their companies and their patents was essentially to permit development in the art. This has been disproven by testimony given before the interstate commerce committee of the senate in which it was shown that not only have patents of the Radio corporation group been denied by the courts, but a number of other patent groups have been organized, which have taken an additional toll in royalties, especially in the independent industry. While competition is severe between licensees, it has been eliminated among the various members of the associated companies making up the Radio corporation group.

"The independent radio industry is extremely gratified with the sweeping action taken by the department of justice in attacking the validity not only of the basis of the combination on which the Radio Corporation of America was originally built, but the new and even more flagrant combination recently approved by its stockholders."

Says Gov't Operation May Boost Muscle Shoals Losses

BY SCRUTATOR.

Muscle Shoals is one of the things that comes up to public notice at irregular intervals. Congress has been trying ever since the war to find some feasible plan that will allow the United States to get an investors' return on some 127 million dollars that have so far been spent on dams and nitrate and power plants on the Tennessee river in Alabama.

The senate in April passed a resolution of Senator Norris, providing that the President should appoint a board to operate the property of the government there, with the object of experimenting in and furnishing fertilizers to farmers at low cost. Two rather striking provisions in the resolution are that it is the duty of the President to select for the board men who have a belief in the feasibility and wisdom of the project and that all appropriations necessary to carry out the provisions of the act are authorized.

Since then the house committee on military affairs has rewritten the Norris resolution and submitted it in a form that recommends appointment of a board to lease the properties to private management. Restrictions on the management embodied in the recommended measure are so great that it is at least doubtful that private capital could make enough dividends, in prospect, to justify the risk of signing the lease.

Lessee's Agreement.

The lessee would agree to devote the present nitrate plants to the fixing of nitrogen for fertilizers in time of peace and for explosives in wartime. The fertilizers are to be sold, under this measure, for cost plus 8 per cent profit, and guarantees given that 10,000 tons of nitrogen suitable for fertilizers be produced in three years and more in the future.

Moreover, the lessee would pay enough to amortize the government investment, at 4 per cent compounded, by the end of the fifty year period. Preferences in the sale of the fertilizers would have to be given first to farmers and their coöperative associations; next to state agencies processing and mixing fertilizers for resale to farmers, and last to manufacture, mixers and merchants. Recapture of the properties is to be made by the United States in case of war.

The house resolution would meet in principle the suggestions of President Hoover for leasing rather than government operation of Muscle Shoals. Two years ago President Coolidge gave a pocket veto of a bill for government operation.

Three Stringed Harp.

Historically, Muscle Shoals was a war project, built to furnish explosives. At present it is a three stringed harp on which are played notes demanding that the government get back some of its money, that farmers get cheap fertilizer and that the supply of explosive material be guaranteed for national defense. The distributable electric power is not considered here; the United States is receiving a minimum of $560,000 a year for that now.

There is some evidence that the defensive value of Muscle Shoals nitrogen has been overestimated. Production of synthetic nitrogen by commercial companies in existence is increasing as fast as there is a demand. Some observers declare that the production of 40,000 tons at Muscle Shoals annually would not be enough to affect the market price of fertilizers to more than a small number of farmers, even if that amount were quite cheap. As for getting back what has been spent, government operation would give the possibility of still further losses. The great disadvantage of government projects is that they can't go broke while there are taxes.

Cities Service Expansion Financing Is $120,000,000

BY O. A. MATHER.

Plans for the building of a 1,000 mile pipe line to bring natural gas from the Texas fields to the Chicago district advanced a step yesterday. The Cities Service company, which will participate in the big project with the Insull and other interests, announced new financing to the extent of $120,000,000, which will be applied to the company's expansion budget for this year.

It is understood in La Salle street that the major portion of the sum will be devoted to adding to Cities Service extensive oil and gas properties. The expansion program laid out involves about $150,000,000, a part of which will be represented in the company's participation in the Texas to Chicago pipe line.

Melon of $43,000,000.

Not only is the Cities Service financing one of the largest offerings of the year, but it also constitutes a "melon" of nearly $43,000,000 in the form of subscription rights to stockholders. The financing is in the form of an issue of 5 per cent 20 year debentures. Common stockholders of record May 29 may purchase the debentures at par in the ratio of $4 principal amount for each share of stock held. Rights must be exercised and payments for the debentures made by June 16.

The debentures are convertible into common stock at 27½ between Dec. 1, 1930, and June 1, 1931. The conversion price increases $1.25 a share every six months until June 2, 1935, when it reaches $38.75. The conversion privilege will expire Dec. 1, 1935.

Trading in Rights.

On the basis of yesterday's market price of 38⅛ for Cities Service common stock and about 30,000,000 shares to be outstanding on the record date, the purchase rights are worth $1.42½ each and their total value would be about $42,750,000. The rights were traded in yesterday on a "when issued" basis between 1 5-16 and 1 7-16. A $100 debenture may be exchanged after Dec. 1, next, for 3.64 shares of common stock worth about $138, based on yesterday's market price.

The issue has been underwritten by Halsey, Stuart & Co., which handles much of the Insull properties' financing, and the Harris Trust and Savings bank. They will offer publicly any debentures not subscribed by Cities Service stockholders.

Cut Steel Prices.

A rather cheerless picture of the steel industry is drawn by the midweek trade reviews. Further declines in prices and some light shrinkage in production have attended a dull demand.

"In a market characterized by price weakness, intermittent specifications, fluctuating mill operations and apathetic buying," the Iron Age says, "raw steel output has declined from 77 to 75 per cent of capacity. "The U. S. Steel corporation's rate remains close to 80 per cent, but curtailment by independents has brought down the general average.

"A further slight gain in releases from the automobile industry, improvement in fabricated structural steel awards, increasing demand for line pipe, a growing volume of engineering work and sizeable contracts for ships and barges are favorable developments. On the other hand, railroad equipment orders are light, rail mill backlogs are being steadily reduced, tin plate output has receded to a 75 per cent rate and production of farm implements shows signs of tapering."

U. S. Newsprint Output Slackens During April

New York, May 14.—(AP)—News print production by United States mills in April totaled 109,967 tons, or 77.7 per cent of rated capacity, compared with 113,328 tons, or 80.3 per cent of capacity, in March. The output for April by Canadian mills was 228,048 tons, or 75 per cent of rated capacity, against 207,485 tons, or 68.4 per cent.

New York, May 14.—With trading fast going to pot for want of public patronage, the stock market powers that be brought their line of so-called "bankers' stocks"—United States Steel, American Can, General Electric, American Telephone, and the like—to the fore today and put them through their paces for the edification of the public. It was the first time in weeks the so-called leaders of the list have been called upon to really do their stuff.

Not that they sacrificed any of the dignity becoming their station by making the sparks fly today. But they did move ahead—steadily, quietly, but persistently. Most of them were able to show gains of 1 to 2 points at the close of operations. A few did even better than that.

Example Inspires.

Their example inspired the whole list with confidence and the honors of the day once more went to the constructive trading forces without dispute.

The utility shares came forward in flying tackle formation and chalked up net gains of 1 to 3 points generally. The rails came to life after weeks of inactivity and provided an eye filling quota of healthy plus signs, the gains in the division running as high as 5

Consider Investment Trusts

In Building a Well Balanced Investment Account

IN THE last five years approximately five billion dollars have been invested in the field of American investment trusts. The rapidity with which the investment trust has gained public acceptance has been due to the wide recognition on the part of American investors that this investment medium was a solution to two major problems.

First, few investors are qualified to judge and select securities when contrasted with those who specialize in the study and analysis of investments. Second, many do not have the wealth to buy a sufficiently broad list of issues to secure adequate diversification. The properly constructed investment trust solves both of these problems.

Of the two broad types of investment trusts, the management trust and the fixed trust, the latter fits the needs of those who are especially interested in safety, income and normal capital appreciation, rather than speculative possibilities. In the fixed trust, investors own a proportionate share of the securities held in trust, which are in practically all cases the equity securities of leading American corporations.

The present particularly is a good time to add fixed investment trust stocks to one's investment account. These stocks are selling at attractive prices in keeping with the current quotations of the securities held in trust.

Send for information concerning an attractive investment trust of the fixed type.

MEETING THE NEEDS OF CONSERVATIVE INVESTORS

What Test do you apply to an investment?

SOME investors continue to take an attitude which was born of the market of 1929. It is reflected in a type of thinking which applies only one test to an investment: "Is it a buy"—meaning: what is it going to do, how many points is it good for—instead of asking the basic question: "Is it sound?"

This attitude obviously overlooks the fact that a security represents an interest in a business and is more than a mere market transaction. It does not take into account the factors on which the business, and therefore the security, depends—management, product, assets and earnings. It seeks to disregard the factor of time. It asks too soon for results that can be achieved only over a period.

The true investment attitude dictates, first of all, the selection of sound situations which have in them the possibilities of reasonable growth and, therefore, reasonable appreciation in principal and income over a period of time. Given such a situation, the investor should participate in it through long term investment in the bonds or stocks, as individual requirements indicate. In this way he earns and receives the rewards of capital soundly placed.

FOCUS SPOTLIGHT ON NATIONAL GAS INDUSTRY ISSUES

Mo—Kan Pipe Line at New Peak Level.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Interest was divided between stocks representing natural gas interests and a few selected issues receiving special support in the trading on the Chicago exchange yesterday. While transactions showed a moderate gain over the previous day there was little indication of any significant increase in public participation.

Recent widespread publicity and announcements of various expansion projects for the industry which are being made from day to day have focused a good deal of attention on the gas utility group.

The most active of the gas stocks, Missouri Kansas Pipe Line, moved up to a new high just under 34. United Gas advanced over 2 on light trade. North American Light and Power was active, but showed little change at the close. Western Continental Utilities in fairly active trading moved up 3¼.

Zenith Is Active.

Zenith Radio was given a whirl. It was one of the most active stocks of the day and gained over 2 points. Grigsby Grunow was quiet in the face of the news of the government's suit against Radio Corporation of America.

Majestic Household gained about 2. That the company will begin shortly to market its refrigerator products is indicated in an announcement by the company. Machinery is now being installed. It was also announced that the company, which is a subsidiary of the Grigsby-Grunow company, has acquired the patents held by C. E. L. Lipman and retained him as consulting engineer.

Electric Household gained moderately on comparatively active trade. Among the other industrials which made some improvement were National Standard, Vortex Cup, and Binks Manufacturing. Great Lakes Dredge on small sales jumped nearly 10 points.

Approve Listing.

Listing of 130,000 no par class "A" shares of the Midland Natural Gas company was approved yesterday by governors of the exchange. Of the amount listed 115,000 shares are subject of trading which will begin today. Public offering of the stock will be made today by Investment Securities corporation and E. R. Diggs & Co. at $17.50 a share. The stock is entitled to cumulative dividends of $1.20 annually. The company was recently organized to operate and own natural gas properties in Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Securities of the American Ship Building company and the Chickasha Cotton Oil company were removed from the list by the governors, effective at once.

SOUTHERN UNION INVESTMENTS

Stocks • Bonds

. . . Since 1540, when Hernando Alvarado established a military camp near the site of the modern city of Albuquerque, that section of the Rio Grande Valley has been prominent in the annals of New Mexico.

Next to the coming of the Santa Fe Railway, perhaps the greatest event in the history of New Mexico, in terms of increased prosperity, will prove to be the coming of Natural Gas, the ideal fuel, to its principal cities and towns through the Southern Union pipe lines and distributing systems. The Company's experience in some forty other communities of the Southwest has proved that as a stimulus to industry and an attraction for prospective residents Natural Gas produces astonishing results.

Albuquerque, Santa Fé, Las Vegas and other communities in the State are fortunate in getting Natural Gas; Southern Union is also fortunate to have satisfactory franchises in such prosperous cities and towns and in the many others in the five States wherein it serves.

Listed on The Chicago Stock Exchange

PARTICIPATION: The Class A Stock will participate with the Common Stock, share for share, in any additional dividends declared in and for any calendar year after dividends are declared, set apart or paid on the Common Stock in amount up to $1.20 per share.

Dividend Policy: The Board of Directors has announced a policy, subject to change, of permitting the holders of Class A Stock at their option to apply their regular cash dividends towards the purchase of Class A Stock at the quarterly rate of one-fortieth of a share of such stock for each share held, being at the annual rate of 10% in Class A Stock.

Business and Territory: Midland Natural Gas Company, organized under the laws of the State of Delaware, will own and operate, either directly or through its subsidiaries, natural gas properties totaling more than 15,600 acres in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. There are on this acreage 175 producing gas wells, having a present daily production of more than 7,000,000 cubic feet per day, an open flow capacity of more than 21,000,000 cubic feet daily, and an estimated gas reserve of more than 83 billion cubic feet. The gas horizons drained by these wells are reported to be among the most consistent and longest-lived producers in the eastern fields. The reserve acreage admits of intensive development work which will be carried out as rapidly as feasible and which should result in substantial increase in production and earnings. The average life of wells in these fields is reported to be in excess of thirty-five years.

Over 90% of the gross income from the properties to be acquired by the Company is derived from the wholesale distribution of gas under favorable contracts to several of the largest purchasers of natural gas in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, among which are the following:

Hope Natural Gas Co.
People's Natural Gas Co.
Subsidiaries, Standard Oil Co. of N. J.
Equitable Gas Company
Subsidiary of Philadelphia Company
West Penn Public Service Co.
South Penn Oil Co.

The balance of the gross income is derived from the sale of gas by the two subsidiaries of the Company, Bridgeport Natural Gas & Oil Company and Home Gas Company, to domestic consumers in Pennsylvania and West Virginia communities. Under the terms of the existing gas sales contracts, all additional gas produced from presently drilled acreage will automatically have an immediate market.

Earnings: Based on 1929 historical earnings, adjusted to give effect to a compressor station installed in March 1930 on one property, a rate increase granted in November 1929 on one property, and the estimated production to be derived from three wells presently to be drilled on one property, Clark & Krebs, Inc., Consulting Engineers, state that the properties to be acquired by the Company, and its subsidiaries, after operating expenses, interest on divisional liens, maintenance, depletion and depreciation, but before income taxes, are at present, as more particularly set forth in the bankers' circular describing the issue, operating on a basis equivalent to the annual rate of more than $2.44 per share on the Class A Stock.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 14.—Despite the overproduction of crude oil and the low prices for gasoline that existed most of last year in the petroleum industry, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey showed a net income for 1929 of $120,912,794, equivalent to $4.75 a share on 25,418,968 shares outstanding at the end of the year, Walter C. The report, which generally met Wall street's expectations, showed the company's stocks of oil had increased substantially during the year, amounting to $269,236,671 in value on Dec. 31, compared with $233,822, 634 at the end of 1928.

Commenting on the widespread increase in inventories in the oil business last year, Mr. Teagle said: "The degree of prosperity experienced by the industry has been demonstrated to tend in inverse ratio to the amounts of surplus crude and products it carries from year to year. The extent to which both producers and refiners recognize that not volume of production, but the ability to measure production to fit the requirements of the consuming markets as these requirements arise will determine the future of the industry."

LARD AND MEATS EASIER

A feature of the trade in lard yesterday was the buying of a good sized line of July and selling of September, credited to foreign and eastern interests.

A leading packer took the other end of the trade. There was May liquidation by shorts with packers doing the selling. At the close prices were unchanged to 2½c lower. Trade in bellies was light with prices 2½c lower to unchanged. Hog prices were steady with receipts light. Liverpool lard was 3d higher. Export clearances were 876,175 lbs and of bacon were 207,000 lbs. Prices follow:

NORTHWEST CORNER LASALLE AND MONROE STREETS

PIT ELEMENT IS BEARISH; WHEAT PRICES DECLINE

Light Speculative Interest Restricts Upturn.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A gradual change in commission house sentiment is taking place, and more and more there is a belief being expressed that it would be well for the average trader to operate on the buying side on the breaks.

The pit element, however, remain bearish and with selling by houses with eastern connections which were buyers on Tuesday prices declined yesterday and finished with net losses of ⅜@⅞c with May closing at $1.02⅜, and July, $1.03.

The light speculative interest in the wheat market counts against a sustained upturn at the present time, although the world's statistical position is stronger than at this season a year ago, and the outlook for the new crop both at home and abroad is less favorable, with the exception of the spring wheat area in North America.

For some days there has been a rather noticeable tendancy on the part of the news to become more favorable to holders and foreigners have shown an increased disposition to buy cash wheat. An analysis of the situation shows that supplies on ocean passage at the present time are the smallest in over 20 years, and stocks in consumers' hands abroad are being steadily reduced.

Fear Stabilization Corporation.

While the Stabilization corporation has done little in the futures market of late, apparently feeling that it has taken place of late there is a growing fear on the part of the trade that should the new crop months decline to around $1 there would be aggressive government support. The situation at the present time is somewhat different than existed a year ago, as there is less pressure of cash grain owing to the government's having taken the heavy deliveries both on the March and the May contracts. Foreigners were credited with buying 700,000 to 800,000 bu wheat in all positions during the day, mainly Manitobas.

Winnipeg wheat was ⅝@¾c lower for the day, while Liverpool dropped ½@¾d. Argentine exports for the week are expected to be unusually light, probably less than 1,000,000 bu. World's available supply decreased 13,397,000 bu for the week, and is 348,542,000 bu, or only 12,000,000 bu in excess of a year ago.

Local Trade in Corn.

Favorable weather over the greater part of the corn belt, with planting practically completed in some sections of Illinois led the local selling of corn, but the May acted a little tight owing to an excellent shipping demand. The finish was unchanged to ¾c lower with May showing the most strength. The latter closed at 78⅝, and July at 79½c. Shipping sales aggregated 190,000 bu, and charters were made for 200,000 bu to Buffalo. No increase was shown in country offerings to arrive. North American available supplies decreased 2,983,000 bu for the week and are 18,469,000 bu against 25,197,000 bu last year.

Oats were dull and prices held within a range of ¼@½c for the deferred futures, with the finish ¼c@⅜ lower, May being 41⅝c, and July, 41⅛c. Cash interests absorbed scattered liquidation in the nearby month with shorts taking July and September. Commission houses sold the latter. North American available supplies decreased 2,701,000 bu for the week.

Stop loss selling caused a sharp break in rye early which found support lacking, and despite the rally in wheat the finish was 1⅛@1⅝c lower with May, 58¾c, and July, 62½c.

GOVERNORS OF CHICAGO CURB MAY ACT TODAY

The meeting of the board of governors of the Chicago Curb exchange scheduled for today is being watched with more than usual interest along La Salle street. Announcement by the Board of Trade of the inauguration of an unlisted department and the admission of two stocks now traded on the curb has caused some protest among curb members. If the curb governing committee intends to take official action it will undoubtedly do so today.

The by-laws of the curb permit the ouster of members who trade in duplicate listings on other Chicago exchanges. The opinion that any difference will be ironed out was expressed by some members of both the Board of Trade and the exchange. Should a clash between the two exchanges ensue, the situation would be somewhat analogous to that which existed between the Chicago Stock exchange and the Board of Trade last year. At that time the stock exchange forbade its members to deal in securities listed on the exchange in other Chicago markets.

It also owns substantially all preferred and common stocks of Lehigh Power Securities Corporation.

COMMUNITY WATER SYSTEM

Pennsylvania State Water Corporation

A quarterly dividend of $1.75 per share has been declared upon the $7 Cumulative Preferred Stock of this Corporation, payable June 2nd, 1930, to stockholders of record at the close of business May 20th, 1930.

G. K. EVANS, Secretary

Eisler Electric Corporation

COMMON STOCK

The directors of the corporation have declared a dividend of 37½ cents per share, payable June 14 to stockholders of record at the close of business May 28, 1930. Checks will be mailed.

points. Amusement stocks were tossed about a bit and some of the oils, particularly Houston, came in for attention. In fact, nearly all groups took part in the advance, giving the market as a whole a better look than it has had for many days.

The pace of business perked up somewhat, too. Transactions totaling about 3,179,950, as compared with yesterday's total of 2,697,290. Who said the government's radio suit might muss things up with our market?

Money Conditions.

Again, there was little in the way of fresh news to go on and money conditions showed little change from the last week or so, the market continuing relatively easy despite some moderate calling of loans necessitated by preparations for handling tomorrow's midmonth settlements. The call rate held at 3 per cent on the exchange with accommodations to be had as usual here of late as low as 2½ per cent on the outside.

Early trading was featured by a brisk buying movement in the steel shares, but the demand was interrupted later by the appearance of the midweekly steel trade journals. Bethlehem and Vanadium, as well as United States Steel, were going along in great shape when the reviews came out. All managed to keep securely on the upside of things, but the closing prices showed setbacks from the highs of the day.

See Utility Mergers.

Reports that an early move toward consummation of some of the merger plans, long under contemplation, is to be expected, spurred unusually vigorous buying of some of the leading eastern utility company shares. Wall street now believes that many of the regroupings that have been planned will be well along toward completion by the time congress resumes its sittings after summer vacation.

ESTIMATES SALES.

The Electrical World estimates February sales of stock sold on the customer-ownership plan amounted to $12,291,000. The number of shares sold reached 173,200 and the number of transactions 22,600

M'LEISH MADE DIVISION HEAD OF RETAIL GROUP

Archibald MacLeish of Carson Pirie Scott & Co. was elected president of the controllers' division of the National Retail Dry Goods association yesterday. He succeeds Ernest Katz of New York. Four divisions of the national association have been holding their annual convention at the Drake hotel. They will close their work today with a tour of the Chicago department stores. The four divisions meeting are the traffic, personnel, store managers, and controllers. Among those addressing the meetings yesterday were J. H. Paswaters of Sears, Roebuck & Co., who talked on "The Store Manager's Function in Relation to the Store," and Dorothy Ullrich Hahn of Lord's store in Evanston.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Houston Oil Buying.

Heavy buying of Houston Oil stock lately is reputed in Wall street to have been predicated on a deal the company is said to have under consideration for the disposal of its gas properties to an unnamed public utility. Houston's natural gas holdings in the southwest are understood to be extensive.

Eastman Split-up?

Directors of Eastman Kodak are scheduled to meet for dividend action this week. Those who have been following the company's activities closely are looking for a split-up of its common stock, to be announced at that time. Sales for the first four months of this year are reported to have been at record proportions.

Another Leader.

Wall street is giving considerable thought these days to the possibility of the American Can taking the position now occupied by United States Steel as the stock market leader in 1930. It is pointed out that Can stands a very good chance of earning more this year than it did last, which makes it a logical candidate. Can is the largest company in its particular field, and the excellent demand for containers manifest so far this year is believed likely to continue throughout 1930.

Draws Spotlight.

Anglo-Chilean Nitrate has attracted a great deal of attention by its advance to new high grounds for the year. The short interest in this stock seems worried.

Int. Paper & Power Earns $670,054 for Quarter

New York, May 14.—(AP)—The International Paper and Power company reports net earnings applicable to the preferred and class A common shares for the first quarter of $670,054, as increased from $480,442 in the like period of 1929. Dividends totaling $2,222,201 were paid upon these shares, reducing the surplus from $15,069,331 at the beginning of the quarter to $13,517,184. While slackening consumption and declining prices of paper were adverse factors, the report pointed to increasing mill efficiency and larger sales of electric power, which gained 8.6 per cent over the same period of a year ago, as favorable.

RAW SILK.

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—SILK—Raw futures closed easy; sales 1,490 bales; May, $3.99; July, $3.88; Sept., $3.85. Open market quotations [60 day basis], Shanghai steam extra B, 4.25; Canton double extra A 14-16s, 2.25; Japanese crack double extra, $4.30.

DECLINE IN COTTON

Cotton futures were on the down grade yesterday and finished at nearly the lowest of the day, with losses of 21 to 23 points in Chicago and 15 to 28 points in other markets. Spot cotton lost 20 points, with New York, 16.35c; New Orleans, 15.50c; Galveston, 15.65c, and Houston, 15.45c. Liverpool closed 13 to 15 points net lower, with spot sales, 4,000 bales.

Trading was fair in all markets, with nothing of a sustaining character in the operations or in news. Beneficial rains fell in the southeast, and these, with the reduction in consumption during April, were the main features. Total consumption last month in the United States was 532,382 bales, compared with 631,802 bales last year. Stocks in public storage at the end of April were 3,636,296 bales, against 2,524,621 bales last year. In public storage there were 1,667,394 bales, against 1,606,412 bales last year. Prices follow:

Top yesterday, $10.35; average, $10.10.

CATTLE—Bulk of sales yesterday	$ 9.50@12.00
One month ago	10.50@13.25
One year ago	13.00@14.50
SHEEP—Fed western lambs yesterday	$ 9.00@10.00
One month ago	8.25@ 9.25
One year ago	13.50@15.50

Top yesterday, $10.00; average, $9.50.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 5,000 cattle, 20,000 hogs, and 16,000 sheep.

Light weight hogs were slow and barely on the cash trade yesterday, while medium and heavy stock sold steady to 10c higher, extreme weights showing the most gain. Packing sows met good demand at 10@15c advance.

The extreme top and general average prices were unchanged at $10.35 and $10.10, respectively. Arrivals at 11,000 were below expectations and unusually small for midweek, comparing with 15,039 last Wednesday, with 13,456 a year ago and with 23,544 two years ago. Shippers demand was narrowest of the year, taking only 1,500 hogs. About 5,000 were still in the pens at the close and five western markets expect 55,000 today against 46,300 last Thursday.

The accumulation of pork is below normal for the time of year. During April 256,342,000 lbs were placed in cure and frozen, against 285,265,000 lbs a year ago, a decrease of 28,923,000 lbs.

Hog Futures Stronger.

Stronger prices were paid for contracts for future deliveries yesterday. September medium weight hogs averaging 210@260 lbs brought $10.20. Light weights for May delivery sold at $10.40. "Specials" averaging 350 lbs were bid $9.85 for Saturday's delivery, but $10.00 was the bid for that date.

Light weights on the "to arrive" market were bid $10.45 for today and heavy, $10.10. Bids and offers on September light were only 5c apart at $10.20 and $10.25. Bids on September heavy ranged up to $10.10 and for July heavy up to $10.00.

Continued small receipts have finally reversed the trend of the cattle market. Yesterday's meager supply of 5,000, the smallest Wednesday run of the year, met good demand at 15@25c higher prices, practically all classes sharing in the upturn. There was a good early clearance and closing sales were as high as any time of the day when only 5,000 were estimated for today.

Choice 1,425 lb steers topped the price list at $13.90 and 1,428 lb averages brought $13.75, the two highest sales of the day. Few others were good enough to bring more than $12.50. Cows and heifers shared in the comeback. Best calves were steady, while others ruled weak to lower. Stockers and feeders continued slow. The twenty leading cattle markets show a decrease of 23,000 in three days, or 15 per cent, compared with a week ago.

Lambs Weaken Again.

The market for fat lambs weakened after a steady opening yesterday and some sales in mid-session and later were as much as 15@25c under the general trade Tuesday. Sales of the "new crop" showed most loss and hardest sorting. California springers brought $11.00@11.15 and most natives sold at $10.00@11.50, although best kinds were quoted up to $12.50.

A sale of 50 lb averages at $14.00 was no criterion of the general market for top kinds. Choice 84@97 lb fed western shorn lambs reached $9.75, while prime 101 lb averages brought $9.50 and a few extreme weights sold around $8.50. Wool lambs were quoted at $9.75@10.00. Aged and yearling sheep were scarce and steady. Feeding lambs were slow and unchanged.

WOULD BAN RAIL RATES TO COAST RIVALING SHIPS

Chicago Haul Battlefield Again in Committee.

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—Another effort to have congress make it impossible for railroads serving Chicago to make rates to Pacific coast points in competition with water rates of intercoastal shipping lines using the Panama canal was begun today before a subcommittee of the senate interstate commerce commission.

Testimony in support of the bill introduced by Senator Key Pittman [Dem., Nev.], forbidding the interstate commerce commission to permit railroads to charge lower rates to Pacific coast port cities than to intermediate cities on account of water competition via the Panama canal, was given by W. S. McCarthy of Salt Lake City, president of the Intermediate Rate association, and Frank Lyon, attorney for intercoastal steamship lines.

Wants Ship Lines Regulated.

Senator Daniel Hastings [Rep., Del.], chairman of the subcommittee, declared the rates of the steamship lines competing with the railroads should be regulated.

The intermountain country, though it has enjoyed the same rail rates as Pacific coast terminal points for the last twelve years, is now threatened with the possibility of the interstate commerce commission permitting the Southern Pacific railroad to reduce rates on transcontinental traffic to meet competition of the steamship lines using the Panama canal, Mr. McCarthy declared. Passage of the Pittman bill, he said, was necessary to prevent such permission.

The interstate commerce commission has the power to destroy the steamship lines operating through the Panama canal, said Mr. Lyon, asserting no administrative tribunal should have such authority. If the Southern Pacific's applications were granted, he said, the boat lines would be put out of business.

As the steamship lines could charge any rates they pleased, while the railroads could not, Senator Hastings said he did not see why the steamship lines should not also be regulated.

Pittman Replies.

Senator Pittman replied congress had not seen fit to regulate the rates of the ships. He said the railroads, under his bill, could reduce their rates as low as they desired, so long as they were reasonably compensatory, and so long as the reduced rates applied to the intermediate points as well as the Pacific coast points.

Chicago interests are now planning to join with the railroads in an attempt to obtain permission from the commission for reduced transcontinental rates to the Pacific coast to enable midwestern manufacturers to get into the Pacific markets, declared McCarthy.

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre to Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received, just before sailing, a letter from Hermione Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a lawyer and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arriving in Paris Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey sees her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment, and she promises to call him. Arriving at Mme. Bender's apartment she is treated coldly by the servants and Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on staying in the apartment as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him and it is a relief for her to get out of the apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too. Geoffrey escorts her back to the apartment. The door is locked but Geoffrey arouses Eduardo, who says he thought Miss West had come in long before.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner, where she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the apartment, she finds the gallery open for the first time and she goes in only to discover a number of pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and the maid says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is lying and believes she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme. Bender. Jeanne denounces Catherine to the invalid. Catherine calls on Geoffrey in his office and meets his father, to whom she tells her fears and suspicions. The elder Macadam is a little skeptical and Catherine is hurt. As she leaves Macadam's office she sees Jeanne entering the building.

INSTALLMENT XL.

AN APPEAL.

Jeanne was decently dressed in black, well brushed and neatly put on. From beneath the brim of her hard felt hat her brown eyes looked out of her sallow face at Macadam, direct, unflinching, yet with something of appeal in them.

"Monsieur, I have come on a rather delicate matter. The truth is, I desire to ask your help, though I am well aware you will think it extraordinary. I should not have troubled you if there had been any one else who could possibly be of assistance."

She moistened her lips. Her entire manner, reasonable, restrained, conveyed the impression that she was embarking upon a painful undertaking solely because of a sense of duty.

"Go on. I am listening."

"Monsieur, I think you know something of the state of Mme. Bender's health. You are aware, perhaps, that she is subject to fits of depression, during two of which she has made attempts on her life."

"Suicide!" exclaimed Macadam, raising his brows. "I didn't know it was as bad as that."

"Unfortunately it is, monsieur. I may venture to say that if she had been in the care of any person less understanding than myself she would not alive today. You may remember that I have looked after madame for ten years?"

"Go on. I am listening."

The old man nodded. What was the woman getting at? He could not even faintly guess, but her manner of addressing him, making no obvious appeal for favor, commanded his grudging respect.

She continued in a low voice.

"Monsieur, a little more than a month ago, just after the second of those suicidal attacks, and at a time when the household was in great confusion, a young lady, an American, suddenly arrived upon the scene. I believe she is some distant connection of Monsieur Bender's. I really do not know who she is. I had seen her before in Boston, when she called repeatedly at the hospital and, if you will not misunderstand me, sought to ingratiate herself with madame when the poor lady was in a state even weaker than at present. Madame is soft hearted. When this almost unknown young relative begged to be permitted to visit her in Paris she had not the power to refuse—or at least that is how I interpret it. Possibly I am wrong; but surely to invite a guest at such a time was not the act of a responsible person."

"I was afraid it was a mistake for this young lady to remain in the apartment with madame in so precarious a condition. I did my best to persuade her from staying, but without success. She overrode all my objections, and there she has been ever since. . . . Monsieur, I wish to tell you that her presence has had a most distressing effect upon madame. Really at times I have not known what to do. Mademoiselle upsets the strict discipline it is necessary to maintain, excites the patient, and has even set herself to weaken madame's confidence in me. In that respect she has happily failed; but all the same she has caused several severe crises. Last week, following a distressing scene, I was obliged to sit up the entire night with madame, and only this morning another terrible time occurred. I found the lady in violent hysterics, so uncontrolled that I had great difficulty in restraining her. I have left her now in charge of the cook, for if she were unguarded I could not answer for the consequences. There was the look in her eye which warned me she was planning some fresh attempt to kill herself, only waiting for the opportunity. I must not be absent long, but I was so frightened I felt I must come at once and speak to you on the matter."

She cast a glance at the clock fixed in the panel opposite, then continued more rapidly:

"Monsieur, I appeal to you. This young lady, Mademoiselle West, is known to your son. Cannot you or he induce her to go away and leave madame in peace before anything irrevocable happens? I assure you it is of the gravest importance."

"Why," he demanded, "do you think Mademoiselle West has this disturbing effect upon your mistress?"

She shrugged her shoulders.

"I would rather monsieur did not ask me that question. You see, I may be prejudiced, and do not want to make unjust accusations. However, it has been clear to me from the outset that mademoiselle has designs of her own. She is hoping that madame will make a will in her favor, in which respect she is not alone. She is close friends with another lady who cherishes similar expectations. There has been correspondence between these two before Mademoiselle West left America, and I am convinced in my own mind that they have arranged things together, to become joint heirs to madame's estate."

Her declaration met with a stern frown.

Jeanne bowed her head.

"I realize I do wrong to hint at such things. But," she went on, speaking in measured, distinct tones, "right or wrong, madame herself guesses their intentions. She has told me so. It is for that reason that she is so distressed in their company. She does not wish to offend either of them by asking them to keep away, but she has at last implored me to forbid them to see her!"

The old man's eyes were like steel.

"Is that true?"

Here Jeanne betrayed her first hint of emotion. She clasped her hands tightly together, raised her chin and looked him squarely in the eyes. Her voice when she spoke shook with a vibrant tremor.

"As God is my witness, monsieur, that is the absolute truth!" she said. The words had a ring of sincerity. Macadam deliberated, looking away from her.

"Who is this other friend you mention?" he asked presently.

"There is no reason why I should not tell you, monsieur. It is Mademoiselle Cushing, the singer."

Macadam rose.

"I will look into the matter," he said laconically. "I'll see what can be done. Mind, I do not promise anything."

With this she had to be content, but that she was not disappointed was shown by a sudden gleam in her intent eyes.

"Thank you, monsieur! I am glad you have not mistaken my meaning. Naturally, since I have labored so long, organizing madame's whole establishment with the sole idea of nursing her back to health, I do not like to see my efforts go for nothing. If this Mademoiselle West persists in going against the doctor's orders and causing trouble I cannot hold myself responsible for what may happen."

He watched her go out with her dependable and unobtrusive air, then stood fingering his chin reflectively.

"By George," he muttered to himself, "I've always known if one waited long one would hear the other side."

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Verily the ad speaketh truly which saith of "The Cuckoos" that the piece is "a riotous, rollicking fun fest," and with cause it begs you to come cast an eye on the "big grin and giggle men" Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey. As a matter of fact you can believe practically every word the ad I'm talking about says. "The Cuckoos" is one vair' good show.

To be sure we would only hand it three nice fat stars if Messrs. Wheeler and Woolsey weren't in it, for while the piece is smooth, amusing, colorful, tuneful and snappy, it is, after all, just another one of the musical extravaganzas of which we've had so many lately. BUT—Wheeler and Woolsey ARE there, and to my mind, they're an incomparable team of funmakers. They know when to go and, what is more important they know where to stop. Theirs is the sure, instinctive touch that differentiates talent from genius. And so we pin 4 stars on Mr. "Cuckoos" and it's wekkum.

The co-stars are here, there and everywhere with song, dance, merry quip and preposterous antics. They were funny in "Rio Rita" as the lawyer and bridegroom, but they're ten times more comical this trip as in the guise of fortune tellers they flit from the U. S. A. to Mexico and back again getting themselves all tangled up in everybody's affairs from those of an inordinately rich and inordinately large society woman to the activities of a band of ferocious gypsies whose leader they have the bad luck to offend.

Jobyna Howland gets—and deserves—a lot of laughs as the wealthy Mrs. Furst and Mitchell Lewis is lovely as the fire eating Julius. Dorothy Lee, who becomes Mr. Wheeler's little gypsy sweetheart, is a cunning trick and June Clyde and Hugh Trevor take care of the romantic leads in pleasing fashion. I like Mr. Trevor. Nice, serious young fellow with an air of breeding about him.

As for the girls, songs, color, photography, ensembles, sets, scenery, costumes, etc.—they satisfy. Mr. Sloane has made a nice job of the direction, and the smudgy finger of suggestiveness has not left many marks.

"The Cuckoos" was adapted from the stage production "The Ramblers" which had quite a run on Broadway—I am told. I don't know whether it did or not. But I DO know that the film version will go over big. Because it entertains—PLENTY!

See you soon.

35 Years a Teacher, She Defends the Modern Youth

Thirty-five years of teaching in one high school has not dimmed Miss Mary Zimmerman's faith in American youth. Miss Zimmerman voiced her sentiments yesterday in connection with the thirty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the John Marshall High school, which will be celebrated Friday evening under the auspices of the alumni association. Just as good as ever, she says of the modern youth.

Newly Found Rembrandt Sold for Large Sum

LONDON, May 14.—(AP)—Two pictures offered at the West End auction rooms today realized £34,000 [about $170,000] in a few minutes of bidding. The first was a hitherto unrecorded Rembrandt bearing his signature and the date 1658, which brought £18,500. The other was a Flemish portrait of Dame Elizabeth Bullen for which the purchaser paid £15,500.

Chicago Turns to Boys as Builders of the City's Future

Boys' week, an annual period when recognition is given those who soon will be men, was ushered in yesterday. It will continue until May 22. More than a score of programs have been arranged.

Sixteen year old William Herbst, head of a family consisting of his widowed mother and three younger brothers, was the envy of his fellows in the first celebration of the week at noon yesterday. "Billy" was picked by the Chicago Association of Commerce as the city's typical "boy of promise" and was introduced as such at the association's weekly banquet at the Hotel La Salle before more than 500 men and a scattering of women.

Pushed to his feet for the first formal address of his career, young "Billy" protested that it was not he who was being honored, "but the Chicago boys, who are honest, ambitious and eager to learn and succeed. The hard working boys don't get the notoriety of those who go in for crime, but they are by far in the majority and are as determined to succeed as any generation ever was," he told the crowd.

At other places throughout the loop boys were being similarly honored. Lyon & Healy, Wabash avenue music house, entertained twenty-two boy employés all less than 18 years old at a breakfast in the Palmer house, where the heads of the firm paid them tribute. Again on May 28 these boys will be taken to the Cubs game at Wrigley field.

The Chicago Boys' Week federation, headed by George W. Dixon, has planned a list of events in which boys may both participate and attend as guests. Tomorrow a civic assembly will be held at the Civic Opera house. Neighborhood athletic contests will be held today and tomorrow, and a prize meet will climax the events at Stagg field Saturday. From Saturday through May 25 youth achievement exhibits will be on display at the Health and Educational exposition at the Coliseum, and a fire prevention show at Soldiers' field on May 24 closes the special events.

Coach Amos A. Stagg of the University of Chicago will be the principal speaker at a community service in the Sheridan Road Methodist church, Sunnyside and Hazel avenues, Sunday evening.

Judge Francis B. Allegretti of the Boys' court yesterday issued a list of "Ten Commandments" for boys, based on the theme that the partership of "Dad and Son" is the safest concern for crime elimination.

Because Boys' day in athletics falls upon a school day, the board of education decided yesterday that it will be impossible to conduct centralized athletic contests.

Lane School's Orchestra Wins Group Contest

Leads in "A"; Roosevelt Captures "B" Laurels.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

One of the interesting features of school life took place at Orchestra hall last night, being the annual competition of high school orchestras. It is a feature which every year grows in importance, and the importance is manifested both internally and externally, by the marked progress of the competitors and by the excitement aroused by the competition.

As I was one of the judges in this contest there was plenty of opportunity to observe both sides of it. High school orchestras are getting better each year, no question about it, and the applause grows in fervor with the playing. When we three judges—Rudolph Gans and Ludwig Becker were the others—decided that Lane was the winner in the A group we were cheered to discover that the decision was entirely popular.

This was a final competition, entrants having been sifted down to two groups, B and A, with five orchestras in each, the difference being in size of organization as well as experience. Each orchestra played a test number, the second movement of Beethoven's first symphony for B, Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" overture for A, as well as a piece of their own choice, and markings were made on both.

In group B Roosevelt took first place, playing as its chosen number "All the Fun o' the Fair," from Fletcher's "Rustic Revels." Senn was second, playing Liszt's "Rakoczy March," and Lindblom third with Boieldieu's "Caliph of Bagdad" overture. In group A Lane was first, as has already been told, with Weber's "Oberon" overture; Tuley second with Sibelius' "Finlandia," and Austin third with Halvorsen's "March of the Boyards." Crane and Hyde Park also competed in group B, the latter being conducted by O. E. Robinson, substituting for the regular conductor, Miss Katherine Finley, who had been injured and was unable to appear, and Harrison and Marshall were further entrants in group A.

It was not perfect playing in all cases. Some of the entrants would have received higher marks if they could have got their instruments more nearly in uniform pitch. But in general it was a highly creditable affair, with honors going to conductors quite as much as to players. In the order of their winning, the conductors list thus: Group B, Erhardt Bergstrasser, Samuel Burkholder, and Christian Lyngby; group A, Henry Sopkin, Irving Letchinger, and Edwin O. Schildhauer.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Is the planetarium of interest to you?

The Answers.

Mrs. Charlotte Vaughan, 1619 Sunnyside avenue, housewife—I would like very much to go out there and see what it's all about. One of the chief experiences of my childhood in Detroit was the sight of Saturn through a small telescope.

William McDonald, 6534 Lakewood avenue, industrial engineer—I have been reading about it and I want to visit it the first chance I get. Mr. Adler has done a fine thing for this city. My son is taking a course in astronomy at the University of Michigan.

Miss A. M. Alloway, 243 South Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, artist—It will help Chicago to be a scientific center as it already is an art and a music center. Chicago has the great Chicago Art institute, the great Field museum. The planetarium, I am sure, will be appreciated.

H. F. Tholen, 2466 Estes avenue, specialty salesman—I am interested, partly out of curiosity; more because of the educational value to the public. I suppose the project was carried out because of its unusual combination of entertainment and instruction.

Miss Gertrude Robey, 2816 South Loomis street, stenographer—I'd like to see the show, whatever it is. Curiostiy will lead me that way one of these days. But I like the day, and this is a panorama of the night.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

THE new play at the Goodman, John Galsworthy's "Escape," represents a major British dramatist in a minor mood. He is dealing with a problem of social ethics, as usual, but in a manner which suggests that he has begun to take his responsibility of brooding over human destiny somewhat lightly. Perhaps the flippant spirit of modernism has brought Mr. Galsworthy the blessed gift of a sense of humor. At any rate, "Escape" may be classified, in its quiet Galsworthian way, as a comedy.

The problem dealt with here is: If you should come across an escaped convict, haggard from the hunt, would you support the law of the land and turn him over to the constables, or would you take pity on him as a member of the human family and give him a chance for freedom? Mr. Galsworthy presents the question as a subject for pleasant dinner table conversation, and begs it a trifle by making his fugitive from Dartmoor an ex-officer and a gentleman who had been caught in the machinery of the law by an accidental manslaughter.

Capt. Denant [well played through ten episodes of Galsworthy conversation by Roman Bohnen] engaged in casual flirtation with a questionable young woman in Hyde Park. A plain clothes man annoyed them. Capt. Denant swung for the point of the jaw and the curbstone did the rest. This is the prologue; afterward Capt. Denant is an inmate of Dartmoor prison and a hare running aimlessly before the hounds, meeting all sorts of people in his mildly exciting but never melodramatic course.

A friendly woman in enchanting pyjamas [our excellent Ellen Root] discovers him under her bed and speeds him onward in possession of her husband's fishing coat, hat, tackle, and flask. An old gentleman [well impersonated by Iden Payne] finds him having luck among the trout, engages him in philosophic discourse about escaping convicts, and says in effect: "I've sent so many men to jail myself that it will be a pleasure to let one get away."

And so it goes, from one episode to another, until a stubborn crew of yokels, who are not especially impressed by the captain's seductive gentility, run him to earth in a gravel pit. He wriggles out of that and darts into a parlor where two spinster ladies are having tea. One of them is for the law and the other for freedom; the latter, the nearest thing to a heroine the play possesses, is a hit as acted by the admirable Bess Kathryn Johnson.

At last Capt. Denant ends in the vicarage, asking sanctuary of Whitford Kane in the rôle of a mellow and friendly padre. He gets it, for the parson is a man of heart and Christian scruples, and he believes that the captain has had a bad break. But when the padre begins to worry, about his own conscience, and particularly when he is compelled to say a truthful "yes" or a lying "no" to the hunters, Capt. Denant feels that he has worried the moorland parishes long enough. He steps out of the vestry room where he had been lurking and gives himself up.

And there's your play—all there is of it. Quite a jolly sporting event, this "Escape," with nearly every one, from fugitive to pursuers, behaving like sportsmen.

The piece has been pleasantly staged and is fairly well acted by the longest cast in the Goodman's history. The first-nighters thought well of it.

Ex-Kaiser Gives Sermon About His War Dead

Says Soldiers, Merciful to Christ, Were Germans.

DOORN, Holland, May 14.—(AP)—Former Emperor William, delving into one of his hobbies, namely Biblical research, has expressed belief that the centurion of Capernaum who implored Jesus to save his servant, was a German and the servant was a German orderly.

He also believes that the leader of the Roman cohort in whose charge Jesus was placed by Pontius Pilate as well as the centurion who watched the death on the cross were probably Germans.

The text of a sermon which the former emperor recently delivered here on a Sunday commemorating the German war victims gives the results of his researches. When he was emperor he also was head of the Protestant state church of Prussia and as such sometimes undertook to preach. Resuming that custom he chose the Capernaum centurion as the subject of his Doorn sermon.

"Luther called the tall man who accosted Jesus at the Capernaum market place, captain," said the former emperor. "Luther, when he chose this expression, did not know the local and historical conditions in the Holy land. Hence he used the military expression then in use in Germany. We now know that the story is that of a Roman legionary. More recent researches even reveal that at that time a Gergan legion was stationed in Palestine. The captain, therefore, was a centurion or, according to our military parlance, an officer."

This is how the former emperor described the centurion:

"The picture of the centurion is of such momentous significance and so impressive that it ought to be portrayed by a first class artist. The captain stood there in full armor, probably wearing on his breast the decorations giving evidence of his meritorious services."

After paying tribute to the greatness of the centurion's faith and its reward by Jesus in healing the servant, William continued:

"Germanic legionaries played a rôle in the life of the Master also. On the sorrowful way to Golgotha, the leader of the cohorts is seized with such compassion for the Master as he breaks down that he requisitioned Simon of Cyrene to carry the cross.

"Under the cross we discover a centurion halting on horseback. He, too, was probably a German. He is the first who, overwhelmed by the greatness of the suffering of the Savior, delivers the powerful confession, 'Verily, this was a righteous man, the son of God.' The intercession of the crucified Lord, 'Father, forgive them for they know not what they do!' is not intended for the Jewish leaders, but for the poor legionaires who, acting under the orders of their superiors, must inflict dire suffering upon the Lord.

"We old soldiers may well feel proud of this intercession of the Lord. Today we are thinking of those who fell. They marched to the battlefront praying, trusting in the righteousness of their cause, true to their oath. They died for the kaiser and the reich, for German fame and German honor.

"We owe it to them to assert all our strength to retain that for which they died. We promise to do that in unshakable faith, and with our eyes fastened upon the Savior of the world who once prayed also for German soldiers."

BEG YOUR PARDON

Dr. Julius Hupert, 1400 Lake Shore drive, says he is informed by official representatives of the Polish government that there was misinformation in a TRIBUNE dispatch of May 2 from Berlin describing a trial of Boy Scout leaders for espionage. He says the trial was held in a civil court and not a military court. After a news investigation THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent says it is learned that the trial was held in "an ordinary court but under military auspices and the public was barred." Dr. Hupert also objects to the use of the old name Bromberg for the city where the trial was held. It is now called Bydgoszcz by the Poles.

In last Sunday's TRIBUNE the name of Dr. Alexander C. Soper Jr., who died suddenly of a heart attack in Santa Barbara, Cal., May 10, was erroneously spelled Spoer.

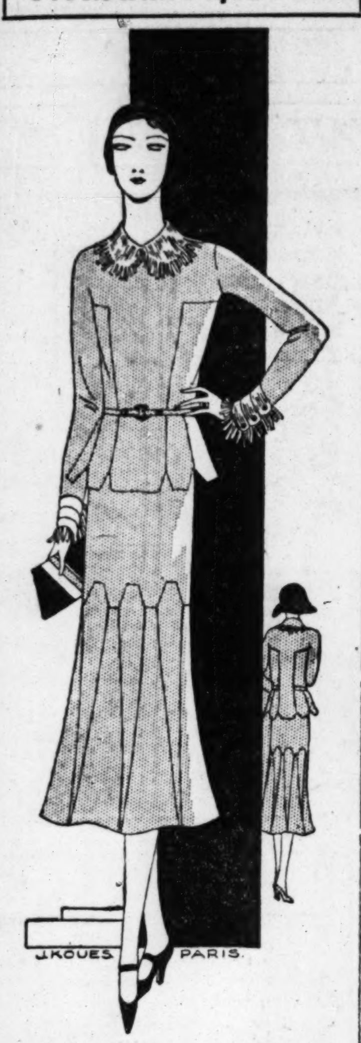
Paris Adorns Morning Frock with Pique Petals



BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Pique is the smartest trimming for informal frocks in Paris this season. All the couturiers have suddenly developed a passion for this long neglected fabric and they are using it in various ways to add youthful chic to their tailored costumes and simple daytime frocks.

Patou gives pique collars, cuffs, belts, and bags to many of his street ensembles. Vionnet uses pique for accessory touches as well as for sport jackets and frocks. Lanvin trims dark silk costumes with elbow cuffs and pastrons of white pique.

Pique is a special accessory favorite with Chanel. There is hardly a street or sports costume in her collection that is not trimmed with it in some fashion. Separate pique sleeveless vests replace blouses with her tailored suits. Pique collars and cuffs cut into jagged fringe and petal effects picoted around the edge trim the tweed or jersey tailored frocks which Chanel often prefers to ensembles for morning wear.

This one in blue-gray soft surfaced woolen is very typical of Chanel's style. The skirt is made with a deep tight hip yoke. Alternating flared gores and geometrical incrusted panels give fullness toward the hem. The short flared tunic has a yoke descending into a front and back panel. The little side peplum is formed of incrusted sections cut into squared scallops at the bottom. The separate belt of gray leather passed under the back panel by means of slits has Chanel's harness buckle in blue glass. The collar and cuffs are of white pique cut at the edge into a petal fringe. Three blue glass cuff links for each wrist recall the belt buckle.

FARM AND GARDEN
BY PAUL POTTER

Thirty popular flowers, their blossoming time, height, color, and usual outdoor sowing time are charted for amateurs in the newly revised booklet, "Flower Gardening," now for sale through The Tribune public service department. Drouth is the greatest natural hazard among the many problems faced by potato growers during the last decade, for even such serious handicaps as insect pests and potato diseases can be controlled.

Some of the effective methods recommended for Illinois growers, who produce only about one-fourth of the tubers used in this state, are in a new bulletin. That was written by W. L. Burlison, chief in crop production; W. P. Flint, chief entomologist of the Illinois natural history survey, and J. J. Pieper, assistant chief in crop production at the college of agriculture of the University of Illinois.

"When insects and diseases are abundant, yields may be increased 50 to 100 per cent and under average conditions about one-third by the use of Bordeaux mixture added either as a dust or a spray to arsenate of lead."

They also say northern grown seed potatoes are decidedly superior to home grown, as an average of 50 trials extending over a 12 year period showed a 12 per cent advantage for the northern grown seed potatoes. Cobbler and Early Ohio are recommended for early varieties, with Carman No. 3 for later harvest.

Potatoes are tolerant of acid conditions of soil and the writers of the bulletin report that where legumes grow satisfactorily without limestone, then potatoes will be profitable without liming the land. Barnyard manurse as a general fertilizer gave consistent increases in yield. Where heavy manuring is necessary, however, the three experts recommended testing the soil to determine its need for phosphorus and then applying that in the form that will give the greatest net returns.

Most Illinois soils, it is considered, have enough potassium for field crops. Sandy, peaty or clay soils may be the exceptions, when they are low in organic matter. Commercial fertilizers for potato growing fields should be applied where profitable increases in yield cannot be obtained in more economical ways, according to the three authors.

CHILD'S DRESS.

This dear little frock for small maidens is simple, yet as smart as can be. The cartwheel trimming is amusing, and this ruffling of self-fabric has a picot edge. It is sewed on the dress, following perforations for the purpose. Georgette crêpe, crêpe de chine and taffeta are lovely for party frocks, while dimity, gingham, organdy, and voile are lovely for less dressy occasions.

The pattern, 3485, comes in sizes 1, 2, 4 and 6 years. Size 4 requires 1⅜ yards of 39 inch material with 1⅛ yards of 35 inch contrasting for the ruffles.

A little girl implored her hostess to give her an extra piece of cake and the hostess thinking, and at the same time saying, "I don't suppose your mother will mind," and not receiving any reply, gave the child what she asked for.

After the child had devoured the cake, she calmly announced, "I hope nobody will tell my mother," and of course the good lady was horrified and said, "child you must always tell your mother everything."

The child then nonchalantly asked, "before or after?" Mrs. R. V.

Sugar belongs in the diet ...ASK YOUR DOCTOR!

"Sugar makes essential foods, which have roughage, minerals and vitamins, more palatable."

SHOULD SUGAR HAVE A PLACE IN THE DIET? Here are some interesting facts—information which your doctor would give you.

Sugar is a preferred fuel food. When eaten in any form, it combines with oxygen in the body. Seventy-five per cent of its energy goes into heat and the rest supplies power to the muscles.

Sugar makes essential foods, which are the vehicles or carriers of roughage, mineral salts and vitamins, more palatable. It modifies harsh acids, heightens bland flavors.

Consider how many fruits and vegetables that you eat are sweet. How unpleasant they would be without this palatable flavor. Often, however, certain familiar vegetables lose the sweetness they possessed when fresh picked, because their sugar has been converted into starch. In such cases it is proper to add a dash of sugar in cooking them to restore their original flavor.

Think of these facts as you plan your meals. And in addition to using sugar as a flavor remember that simple wholesome desserts have their place in balanced meals. The normal diet calls for sugar. Ask your doctor! The Sugar Institute.

Old Home of Palmers to Be Scene of Fete

BY THALIA

The obvious bit of sentiment involved in turning the former Potter Palmer mansion into a carnival scene for the Red, White, and Blue club benefit on June 6 and 7, is tempting to those who would reminisce on the past glories of the building. More notable, it seems to us, is the canny business sense of the women, who, in planning the affair, realized the immense profit to be obtained from capitalizing the last days of that landmark.

Merrymakers at the carnival will be able to see, not only the interior of the house, but also at least one of its former occupants. Miss Bertha Palmer, whose debut took place a year ago last winter in the residence, is to assist Mrs. Lockwood Honore and Mrs. William M. Scudder to run a tea room in the erstwhile Palmer dining room, and in the small conservatory opening off of it.

Mrs. Warren Ripple, the former Bertha Honore, and namesake of the first Mrs. Potter Palmer, and Mrs. oy D. Keehn are chairmen of the entertainment committee. That group is arranging all the various country fair attractions that are to be offered. The ballroom [no, we will not say, where former social triumphs were enacted] is to be a dance hall, and if the original plan goes through, there will be current society belles [we refrain again from drawing reminiscent contrasts] dancing with people at so much a dance, from 12 o'clock noon until midnight on the two days. There is a be a Ferris wheel outside on the grounds, a "cocoanut shine," and all sorts of ballyhooing activities.

Mrs. Charles King Corsant is chairman of the invitations and tickets committee, Mrs. Clair E. More of the advertising, and Mrs. Oren E. Taft of the group that is to arrange for some dressmaker's models to walk amongst the crowd. Mrs. E. R. Fifield and Vincent Bendix, through whose auspices the affair is made possible are general chairmen. The committees have opened an office at 840 North Michigan avenue, and are generally preparing to do the thing in a big way.

Lay Cornerstone for Children's Hospital Today

Providing the University of Chicago with one of the greatest children's medical centers in the world when completed, the cornerstone of the Gertrude Dunn Hicks Memorial hospital will be laid today. Radio Spurs Demand for Education, Says Home Study Speaker

As an indication of the growing independence of women, Dr. J. S. Noffsinger of Washington, D. C., yesterday presented figures to members of the National Home Study council. He spoke before the opening session of the council, in the Palmer house.

"While most of the women are taking up the study of domestic sciences and economy, there are a large number who have signed up for courses in commercial illustration, advertising, office organization, and office management," he said.

Mrs. J. A. Patten Gives N. U. Music School $50,000

Mrs. James A. Patten of Evanston has contributed $50,000 toward a new building for the Northwestern university school of music, President Walter Dill Scott announced last night. The announcement was made at a dinner given in honor of Dean Peter C. Lutkin of the music school by the Chicago North Shore Music Festival association and the trustees of the university. It was held at the Country club of Evanston.

Last Friday the new school was given $250,000 by the Presser foundation of Philadelphia, the gift being made contingent upon the university's contributing a like amount. Mrs. Patten is chairman of a committee which is trying to raise $400,000 for the school and its endowment. Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink was to have been a guest at last night's dinner, but she telegraphed to Dean Lutkin that she was unable to come here from New York for the function. Mme. Schumann-Heink took part in the first music festival in 1909.

Dean Lutkin has announced that he will retire as director of the festival after this year's performances.

Meals are "Happier"

due to this new luscious cereal with a "VEGETABLE EFFECT"

So dainty and alluring that every child delights in it. Brings a desired health-regulation in an entirely new way.

You know the story, Mother: Vegetables and fruits would answer the entire question if you could get your young folks to eat enough of them. But that is often difficult. And that . . . strange as it may seem . . . is where HEINZ Rice Flakes step in! . . . the new, delicious cereal made by HEINZ of "57" fame.

It is almost unbelievable, in fact, that a food so dainty in flavor and appearance could furnish bulk and roughage in such effective quantity. This, however, is the latest HEINZ development in foods, due to a fine food-substance known to scientists as vegetable-cellulose—a part of rice itself. We retain it in HEINZ Rice Flakes by a special process, patented and owned by us.

ALL BRAN REMOVED

This, too, may be interesting to you: This food-substance isn't bran, but is soft and fluffy so it cannot irritate. HEINZ Vegetable-Cellulose multiplies itself in bulk four to six times when moisture is absorbed after eating. Thus it forms one of the mildest, gentlest, yet most effective types of natural bulk and roughage that Science knows—the same kind, in fact, that vegetables themselves contain. HEINZ experts worked eight years in perfecting it. Some of the world's ablest authorities collaborated. In the form used by HEINZ its preparation costs much more than the rice grain itself.

LET CHILDREN CHOOSE

Simply let your children try HEINZ Rice Flakes and see how they like them . . . let them become familiar with these oven-toasted, crunchy, crisp, delicious flakes. Then begin to serve this new cereal twice daily for one week to start the benefits; once daily thereafter to maintain them. Serve in the morning and as dessert at lunch or dinner the first week. That is easy. Children want a food like this. Notice how health-habits are improved the second week. If for any reason you are not pleased, your grocer will refund your money gladly. We have arranged for that. Meals are happier, and you and your little ones actually do become better pals when you present such benefits in a manner so attractive.

BE SURE

Be sure that you get HEINZ Rice Flakes, because no other cereal of any type supplies this most important feature in this alluring form.

Of course, HEINZ Rice Flakes furnish all the energizing food-value that any rice-food offers in addition to HEINZ Vegetable-Cellulose. And these rice flakes are just as good in every way for adults as for children, so let your entire family benefit by them.

ASK YOUR PHYSICIAN

He will tell you of the efficiency of vegetable-cellulose in the absorption of moisture and the resulting bulk and roughage.

Forget Your Charm or Your Lack of It, If You'd Have Poise

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

After you're all dressed up, powdered, lipsticked and rouged and you have some place to go—what?

Forget that you're all dressed up, powdered, lipsticked, and rouged. Go ahead now and project your own sweet self onto the scene. Don't be making mental excursions back to your mirror wondering if you shouldn't have worn the other hat, the other beads, the other bag. Don't tug restlessly at your vanity case. Forget the girl in the making for the girl who now must make the impression.

In other words, we are pleading in the name of charm for less self-centeredness, less self-consciousness, less egotism. This charm business, young ladies, is getting to be a serious element in the judging of girls, beautiful and otherwise. Much, much charm, therefore much beauty, is lost in this mental shuttling back and forth to the mirror you left an hour or two ago.

Once you're on your way, be on your way. It's bad luck to your beauty to be wishing you'd done this and wondering why you didn't do that. It destroys poise. After all, if you have attended painstakingly to your appearance, you've done all right. Go ahead and show what a nice girl you are inside, as well as out.

If you've got any silly inhibitions about other girls always looking better, forget them. The more need, then, that you show what you have in you. The chances are you're the only one aware of your shortcomings. Look at the girls who have real handicaps and whose blissful unconsciousness of them boosts them into grade A classes.

A young woman has a line running like this: "I'm going to have my face lifted. I think I need it." She thinks nothing of the sort. It's a bid for compliments. Also, it's tiresome to those who've heard it repeated again and again.

Behind His "Crabby" Attitude, This Man Craves Affection

BY DORIS BLAKE.

In a particular household familiar to an acquaintance of mine is a father about whom his half grown boys and girls speak disparagingly. They call him an old crab. They say they can't go to him with anything, for they'll only get bawled out if they do. They get bawled out, anyway, if they're making noise or if they do something he can pounce upon.

And the father is all of that, from the youngsters' viewpoint and experience with him. Toward one of the children, however, who sides against the group, the father shows an inordinate affection. She, of all the youngsters, is the only one who climbs up on "the old crab's" knee and kisses and hugs him. She is not a baby, either. She's nearly 15.

Behind the unfortunate relation between this man and his children, except for the one independent young thinker, there is a situation the children do not grasp. Mother is the instigator of much of the antipathy toward Dad. She inspires it with her bitter complaints, her incessant belittling of the man who has not made good in the big way she hoped for, but who, neverthless, manages a fair enough income.

If father has become churlish, there's a reason. If he assumes a tyrannical attitude toward the youngsters, it's probably a stab he's making to hold some authority about the place. What actually is wrong with "the old crab" is that, except for the one youngster, he gets no affection. And he is hungry for it.

Parents Force College Growth, Educator Says

"Why do young folks go to college?" That, the first question put to every freshman on every campus by Sunday school teachers and sociologists, was answered last night by President L. D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota.

Dr. Coffman told educators, social workers and others attending the fifth annual meeting of the American Association for Adult Education at the Edgewater Beach hotel, the answer is: "We were forced to go."

"It seems clear that not all persons in school on the adult levels," declared Dr. Coffman, "are there because they want an education; they are there because they are forced to be there. Many parents look on college as a salvation from the industrial order that has fastened its grip upon them.

"With mass production, standard, long term and indefinite apprenticeship of a routine character, a permanent and increasing problem of unemployment, the increasing difficulty of men past middle life to get employment when displaced by industry—whether these problems are genuine or fancied, they are sending thousands of youths to college and are inducing still more thousands of the older generation to carry on some kind of schooling."

In a survey conducted recently at the University of Minnesota to ascertain why the older groups are going to school in extension courses, Dr. Coffman said that 78 per cent of the students were influenced by personal and economic motives; 9 per cent, cultural; 9 per cent, worthy use of leisure, and only 4 per cent for mental stimulation.

In the survey made by Herbert Sorenson, comparing extension students with the juniors and seniors of the college of education, he found the extension students better than freshmen, and the upper half superior to juniors and seniors.

"It was found that students ambitious for degrees rate higher, students with the longest background of schooling average higher, that interruption of courses is not a detriment, students often doing better work on return than those whose work is continued. The survey found that college ability increases with age up to 50 years, the top student being 49 years old."

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 14.—[Special.]—Vice President Curtis and his sister, Mrs. E. E. Gann, were given a dinner tonight by the Canadian minister and Mrs. Vincent Massey. Mr. Gann is out of town on a business trip.

Mrs. Gann occupied the box of honor at the national horse show this afternoon for the opening program. She had with her Mrs. W. M. Jardine, wife of the former secretary of agriculture, Mrs. Jacob L. Loose and Miss Jardine. The secretary of state and Mrs. H. L. Stimson occupied a box and had a small group with them. Mrs Robert P. Lamont and Miss Gertrude Lamont also occupied a box. So did Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick and her small daughter. Mrs McCormick opened her garden, recently completed in the back yard of her Georgetown home, and remained this afternoon to receive the first few guests who were making the "tour of the gardens of Georgetown" before going to the horse show.

Satisfied Curiosity Prevents Many Big and Little Mishaps

by Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

Abracadabra! Presto! You're no longer you. You're your own little daughter

You go into the kitchen after Kitty and you can tell from the busy sounds that it's near lunch time. Down at the bottom of the gas range there's a most interesting spit and sputter going on behind a closed door. You look up higher—and there is a leaf green saucepan with a great bubbling going on in its insides. And every once in a while the green lid raises right up on one side, lets out a puff of steam, and goes bang down again. Over the other flame is a white saucepan uncovered, and as you watch it a reddish foam rises up to the top.

If only you weren't so low—just below the level of almost all the interesting things that are going on in the house. If only some one would lift you up and show you! And now, Abracadabra! You're yourself again—a mother—and you're reading the following letter from another mother:

"I wonder if you would be interested in two problems I solved. One was my 2 year old daughter's curiosity about the kitchen stove. Whenever I cooked she tried to climb on her little chair and look into the kettles. This of course worried me and so on every occasion I took her in my arms and explained about each one. This curiosity lasted about two weeks and after that I never had to worry, as she never approached the stove at any time. Reading of the poor child who was scalded to death by pulling something off the stove reminded me of it, and perhaps it could have been prevented by satisfying his curiosity."

A little intelligence, a little imagination applied to everyday life with a child reduces "problems" to a minimum, and makes life so much more interesting to you and to them. Their interests, desires, behavior are legitimate. Realize this and the battle is half won.

Garlic and Meat.

Sophie Kerr, who has used food so charmingly in her fiction, speaks in one place of the "magic suspicion of garlic" in the roast. A great many people have spoken of such things as the "unexpected undertone of garlic," and of its intangible flavor, and the air of distinction it lends to most dishes of flesh and fowl and even of fish.

One epicurean has said: "A steak which is lightly touched once and only once, mind! with the clove of garlic, all over the lean, the bone and the fat, will be found par excellence when served with maitre d'hotel butter, after a short sharp grill on a bright clear fire." This author also says: "Poultry will be found immeasurably good if smeared lightly with garlic before roasting while the ordinary joint of meat can be transformed with the aid of just that soupçon." This author is fond of that soupçon or suspicion, and in one of his statements says under his discussion of "Garlic: Its Use and Abuse," that "the indescribable flavors of some dishes served to us in French or Italian cooking are often due to the soupçon of garlic used by the chef."

It must be remembered that this soupçon means just a hint, and a pleasant hint, but I have tasted lamb piqued with garlic that was atrocious. One man writing a few years ago, in talking about the "regulation Saturday roast of lamb," advised that you slice a clove of garlic into ethereally thin wafers and stick them into about fifty places where the lamb has been stabbed with a pointed knife. Whether that would be too much would depend upon the size of the clove of garlic. There is certainly a good deal to everything and in this case there were directions for much other seasoning besides that of the garlic used, including salt and pepper and minced parsley and bacon, thyme, basil, chives, celery, lemon juice, and olive oil—too much. If garlic is used correctly with pork cooked in various ways, it gives it a pleasant tang of a source to guess about.

CHRISTIAN SECTS SWAP BLOWS IN HOLY SEPULCHER

Priests Gird Cassocks to Charge Coptic Foes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM, May 13.—On top of all its other troubles in the Holy Land, the British mandate government is trying to iron out a quarrel between two Christian sects over their respective rights in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

Because it is the site where Christ was entombed after His crucifixion, the Holy Sepulchre church is the shrine and gathering place of every form of Catholicism—Roman, Orthodox, and Monophysite. Each faction has been fighting during the last 800 years to maintain its place in the church, and to increase its rights, if possible, at the expense of the weaker sects.

Old Privilege Disputed.

This trouble came to a crisis recently when the Copts, a sect which originated in the fifth century, and the Roman Catholics engaged in open battle under the roof of the most holy church in the world, forcing the intervention of the authorities.

The Copts, the purest racial representatives of the ancient Egyptians, have had the privilege of praying in a chapel of their own in the Sepulchre since the 16th century. What their rights in the other parts of the church are has long been a question of dispute between their priests and those of Rome. One privilege causing considerable contention has been the right claimed by the Copts to carry the crucifix through the Sepulchre on their way to their own chapel. It appears that they have been forbidden to do this and that they have fretted under the restriction.

Therefore when the Copts marched into the Sepulchre with a crucifix held high like an emblem of war the Roman Catholics protested. The Copts proceeded down the dark nave despite arguments. Then the Roman Catholics girded their cassocks and set about forcibly to remove them.

Sweep Britisher Aside.

An English soldier standing outside, heard the war like preparations and entered the church to try to halt the Copts himself. But he was swept aside, and the two factions mixed.

One Roman Catholic, who evidently had previous football experience, centered his attack on the bearer of the crucifix and sent him sprawling. The clatter of the sacred symbol on the pavement marked the defeat of the Copts who retired in disorder, leaving the nave in possession of the Roman Catholics.

In order to punish the Copts the authorities did not permit them to enter the Holy Sepulchure the next day.

Plan Rites for Spurned Suitor Who Shot Himself

Plans were being made yesterday for the funeral of Henry Darin, 22 years old, 3806 Hemlock street, East Chicago, who shot himself to death early yesterday at the home of Miss Ethel Swanson, 19 years old, 10340 Avenue F, when she spurned him for another suitor. Axel Johnson, her next door neighbor and Darin's rival, was calling on Miss Swanson at the time. Neither one suspected Darin's intention. He handed Miss Swanson $500, his savings, asked her to send it to his mother, and then shot himself in the head.

Male Quartet and Orchestra Win Applause

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Radio programs held to the good standard of Wednesday nights last night.

The New York concert program from New York, through W-G-N, 7:30 to 8, opened with the orchestra playing the overture to "Mignon" [Thomas]. Royal Dadmun, American concert baritone, sang Moussorgsky's fantastic "Song of the Flea."

W-G-N's 8 to 8:30 Chicagoland program dealt with the Fort Dearborn massacre.

In the New York program through W-G-N, 8:30 to 9:30, the Revelers male quartet went Tip Toe Through the Tulips, from "Gold Diggers of Broadway." It was a pleasing number.

A splendid summertime symphony orchestra concert was presented from New York through WMAQ, 9 to 10. In introducing Beethoven's "Minuet in G" the announcer referred to it as being sometimes called grandmother's minuet.

Irvin S. Cobb, speaking from New York, through KYW, at 9:40, stated that the Kentucky Derby has always been pronounced Derby in Kentucky, never Darby, this confirming Webster, and this point is now settled between now and about this same time next year.

Mrs. Anne Tyrrell, Resident of Waukegan 77 Yrs., Dies

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS

This is a good time for us to repeat again the advice we have given home owners of Chicago—shop around for your second mortgage loan.

And by this advice—shop around—we refer particularly to the wide variation of charges which are applied to this type of loan.

The rates charged by the Personal Home Mortgage Company are the lowest rates charged on this type of loan by any organization existing in the city of Chicago at this moment. Come in and find out what a 3 year loan, for instance, will cost you. Do not sign any application or papers, but after you have received a quotation from us, shop around and see if you can beat what we tell you your mortgage will cost.

We are certain that you will return to us, if cost is a factor. We believe that you will find that the difference between our charges and the charges of others will be more than enough to pay your taxes. Isn't that worth thinking about, particularly now?

7% accruing interest, payable monthly, is the charge, in addition to a straight commission of 3½% for 1 year, 6⅛% for 2 years, and 9% for 3 years.

IT'S THE TALK OF CHICAGO!

NEVER BEFORE IN HISTORY HAVE THERE BEEN SUCH VALUES

STUDEBAKER REDUCED EVERY CAR HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS!

We determined to clear our entire stock representing over 200 cars within a week. Regardless of original cost, prices were slashed $150 to $450 per car. Here is a sensational opportunity to make an exceptional saving. But you must act quickly, for these remarkable bargains will not remain long at our reduced prices.

BUICK SEDAN. Late Mast. 6 seven pass. Brand new tires, snubbers, heater, bumpers, etc. This car is as clean as a whistle and it's as comfortable as your home lounge. The motor is in wonderful condition. $445.

CADILLAC PHAETON. Here is the best open car buy in Chicago. The finish, upholstery and tires are all in dandy condition. Equipped with excellent glass sides, shutter front, spare tire, spotlight etc. $295.

DODGE SEDAN. One of the most recent Senior Six models, that your neighbors could not tell from a brand new car. Mechanically A-1. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, and a dozen valuable extras. $645.

CHANDLER SEDAN. Was traded in at a very favorable price, so we'll pass on the saving to you. It's one of the latest Chandlers put out before this make was discontinued. This fine riding seven pass. is as smart as the new Paris styles and any mechanic will vouch for the excellence of the motor. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, wire wheels, heater, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $445.

HUDSON BROUGHAM. It cannot be duplicated any place else at anywhere near our price. The motor is okay and the interior is very clean. Many extras. $145.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. Spec. Six 7 pass. that's an ideal car for the family. It was chauffeur driven so it's in topnotch condition today. Will not remain 24 hours at our price of $95.

BUICK TOURING. Here is the best open car buy we ever offered. It's equipped with 4 whl. brakes, glass sides, and every essential extra. The motor hums and the upholstery appears unworn. $95.

LINCOLN SEDAN. This car was owned by a wealthy family and given exceptional care. A demonstration and inspection of this car will prove this fact to you. It's a 7 pass. that runs like clockwork. Has new tires and was just renickeled and given a new paint job. Has a wealth of extras. $885.

CHRYSLER BROUGHAM. Model 70 with thousands of miles of unusual transportation. The finish is bright and shiny and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $245.

ERSKINE CLUB SEDAN. 1929 that was only driven a few thousand miles. This Six is in marvelous condition today. It has Pullman car comfort and the motor runs very smoothly. 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Reduced to $395.

JORDAN BROUGHAM. Str. 8 equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, driving light, etc. Oiled and greased every 500 miles by the original owner, so it's topnotch today. $250.

PAIGE SEDAN. 1928, that was carefully checked over in our shop and adjusted wherever necessary. The appearance is unusually attractive and the equipment includes 4 wheel brakes, snubbers, trunk, new tires, etc. Reduced to $385.

NASH VICTORIA. Late Adv. 6 that's an absolute knockout in appearance. The finish is a smart two tone combination of red and black. It has vermillion wire wheels, and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, driving light, etc. Reduced to $545.

STUDEBAKER DICTATOR. Late 1929 that was driven for less than 90 days. Every feature of this car is absolutely brand new and the motor is backed by a 30 day free service guarantee. Has hundreds of dollars' worth of extra equipment. Will be sold at once at our price of $785.

PACKARD SEDAN. A late seven pass. six equipped with snubbers, heater, driving light, bumpers, spare tire, etc. It's lacquered a beautiful blue with red striping. The upholstery is protected by seat covers. The motor is A1. It's an exceptional buy at our price of $785.

PONTIAC COACH. 1929 that looks as though it were direct from the factory. No one could tell this car had ever been driven before, for every feature is in the original new condition. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $495.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER. 1928 five pass. sedan finished an attractive bottle green. The Big Six motor is smooth and powerful. The upholstery and carpets are in dandy condition. Has 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Special $430.

HUDSON SEDAN. Late 1928 that's the last word for sparkling performance and attractive appearance. Equipped with shock absorbers, bumpers, shutter front, trunk, etc. The finish actually glistens. Has a sweet running motor. Will be sold at once for $585.

CHEVROLET PHAETON. One of the very latest Chev. sixes that was actually driven only 4,738 miles. This is positively the best open car buy in Chicago. Every detail is still brand new and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $345.

CHEVROLET COUPE. Here is an ideal car for the business man. Has exceptionally good tires and many extras. Motor was carefully checked over. A pickup at $95.

ESSEX COACH. Late model. This car was in storage for 8 mos. Today it's in exceptionally fine condition. Has shutter front, spare tire, bumpers, etc. $145.

GRAHAM-PAIGE SEDAN. 1929, with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. The owner of this car drove it exactly 11 mos., and then decided what he wanted was a Victoria, so he sacrificed this car at a low figure. His loss is your gain, as now you have an opportunity to get a practically brand new Graham-Paige at only $845.

MARMON SEDAN. 1928 str. 8. The finish, upholstery, and tires are in the original new condition and the motor runs very smoothly. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, wire wheels, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $595.

OLDSMOBILE COACH. We recommend this as one of our best buys. The motor runs smoothly and quietly and the appearance is attractive. Has trunk, 5 good tires, bumpers, etc. $275.

STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT. 1929 str. 8 sedan that was carefully checked over by expert mechanics and now it carries a 30 day free service guarantee. Lacquered a handsome color. The upholstery has not a worn spot and the equipment includes shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Sold for over $2,000 a short time ago. Now $1,195.

STUDEBAKER BROUGHAM. Recent str. 8 five pass. 4 dr. model, lacquered a beautiful grey. It's equipped with fender wells, wire wheels, trunk, shock absorbers, and many valuable extras. This car is the last word for sparkling performance and classy appearance. Now $850.

PACKARD '29 EIGHT 7 PASS. SEDAN.
It has never been our good fortune to have a car as new as this in our used car stock. It's a 1929 Str. 8 seven pass. Sedan, on the long wheelbase. As a matter of fact this car was owned by a wealthy manufacturer who has just left for a two year stay in South America. He traded this in on an open model, although it has unusually low mileage and is like new in every respect. This Packard represents an expenditure of almost $5,000, but we were fortunate in obtaining it at a very favorable figure. So we marked it at $2,350 for quick sale. It is very fully equipped. Liberal terms. PIERCE-ARROW, 2545 S. Michigan-av.
